We have received a pamphlet entitled "The Rogue River Valley Southern Oregon." It was printed at the Ashland "Tidings" office. It gives Ashland an extended notice, but two and one half lines is all it takes to describe Jacksonville. If the pamphlet is any criterion, it won't be long before Ashland will be all of Oregon, for as it now is Ashland is Rogue river valley, Rogue river valley Southern Oregon almost the entire state—"Plaindealer."

The Salem "Daily Tribune" died this week after an existence of four weeks and one day. The "Statesman" says its proprietor got about $1,000 worth of experience in that time. Education costs something in this country, even when taken in small doses, but it does not usually cost as much as in this case, although it has been known to run up to $50,000 or $75,000 in a single year in this particular branch of study.

Governor Moody has appointed Hon. L. B. Stearns, the present County Judge, additional Judge of the Circuit Court of Malheur county. Judge Stearns will be assigned to what will be known as Department No. 2, and will have principally the criminal portion of the business, although both departments will have concurrent jurisdiction in both civil and criminal cases. Judge Stearns is a well read lawyer of keen perception and righteous judgment. A better selection could not have been made. He will enter upon the discharge of his new office at once.

An appreciative audience was addressed by Father Besson in the Baptist church last Sunday in behalf of the most liberal and enlightened methods for education and especially for a respectful treatment of those of different views he spoke of the pulpit, school, and the press as being the chief instruction and against editorial carrels as being harmful to all who read them. The Rev. W. Hammer made a strong speech in which he endorsed all that the first speaker had said and in conclusion a unanimous vote was passed that the Rev. Messrs. Brunner, Talbot and Payne should be a committee to write a notice of the meeting for each of the papers.

J. W. Strange, chief clerk of the senate, commenced last Saturday, at Salem, to recopy the senate journal for the printer. Both the senate and house journals will be recopied. This is done under authority of a concurrent resolution empowering the secretary of state to have the journals recopied. There are 2500 folios of 100 words of the senate journal. This is quite necessary, as when there is only one copy out there is no way to recover pages that might be lost while in the hands of the printer.

During the progress of the O'Neil murder trial in this place many ladies have been in constant attendance on the Circuit Court. The presence of ladies in court rooms is eminently right and proper as it tends to suppress the nauseating details of divorcements and murder trials, and in consequence an advance step towards the elevation of humanity. Several ladies who have had an opportunity to observe the strenuous duties entailed by civil and political rights view the suffrage question from a different stand point, from which it appears when only considering the right of suffrage. For this reason a careful consideration of the complex and responsible duty of Jury service should be made by every woman in the land so that they may be fully prepared for the momentous responsibilities that await them when they shall have become possessed of the much desired right of suffrage.

THE NEW BRIDGE.—David Linn, A. S. Jacobs and M. L. McCall were appointed viewers to locate and estimate the cost of a bridge across Rogue river at the February term of Commissioner's Court. At the March term just closed they reported in favor of building it just above Bybee's Ferry, where a good site for a bridge can be obtained, but their final report on costs etc, will not be submitted until the April term. A good substantial bridge should be built across that stream at the point mentioned, costing not less than $10,000 to $15,000 and the Commissioners granting it will always be remembered by the residents of Jackson county living on the other side.

THE CARE OF CHILDREN.—BOSTON, MASS.—A leading medical journal thinks it is about time mothers should know how seriously the health of children is imperiled by the use of preparations containing morphia and opium, and given for the cure of colds and coughs. The chemist of the Brooklyn Board of Health, Otto Grothe, Ph.D., a graduate of the University of Kiel, Germany, certifies officially that recently a harmless and yet effective article for such complaints has come to his notice. He refers to the newly discovered Red Star Cough Cure, which he found perfectly reliable.

EDDY-SLOVER WEDDING.—On last Wednesday our fellow townsman A. F. Eddy and Miss Mary E., eldest daughter of Rev. J. A. Slover were married at the Hall of the Champions of Honor of which society the contracting parties were honored members. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion with evergreens, and about the cardinal principals of the order, Temperance, Fidelity, Unity, Justice and Mercy, that appeared in large letters around the room, were entwined the choicest floral offerings of springtime. In front of the canopy seat of the W. C. was an evergreen arch from which depended the wedding bell and on either side the letters E & S. tastefully interwoven in evergreens. At the appointed hour the hall was well filled with friends and invited guests and while Mrs. Bolton played a wedding march, the bride and groom, preceded by their attendants, Mr. J. C. Whipp and Miss Katie Miller entered and took their places beneath the wedding bell. The ceremony which was performed by Rev. A. M. Russell of Ashland was entirely new, exacting from each equal and joint obligations, and in the impressive prayer that followed the same blessing was invoked on each in their co-existent state of matrimony. The bride was tastefully attired in a dress of cream colored nans velvet trimmed in spanish lace with wreath of orange blossoms and bridal veil. The bridesmaid wore a dress of white satin with cream colored satin ribbon, tastefully trimmed with satin ribbon and spanish lace of the same shade. The gentlemen wore the conventional suits of black. After the happy pair had received the hearty congratulations of relatives, companions and friends, all repaired to the dining room of the Slover House where an elegant repast was in waiting. The remainder of the evening was spent at the hall, and in the parlor of the Slover House in pleasant, social intercourse. Many handsome and useful presents were received by Mr. and Mrs. Eddy. Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, Mr. Eddy's employers, testifying their appreciation and esteem of him by sending the list.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Fisher, cook stove and appliances; L. L. and N. A. Jacobs, J. C. Whipp, Wm. Linn, G. O. Neil, Omar Cantrall, N. F. Steadman, parlor stove; Mr. and Mrs. L. R.
