

SON SENTINEL

JACKSONVILLE SATURDAY, JULY 4, 1885.

That Extra Session.

The Democratic work of intimidating Gov. Moody to keep him from calling an extra session of the legislature is still going on. But they will hardly succeed in their endeavor to obscure the governor's vision to such a degree by their selfish prattle, that it will render him unable to see through such motives as lurk behind their outward actions. There are many defects in a number of the acts passed by the last legislature, which makes it almost imperative on our executive to reconvene the legislature, outside of the necessity of electing a United States Senator, which now is almost a secondary consideration, and the governor will hardly abstain from doing that which would eventually prove a great advantage to the State and its inhabitants. The people are very much interested in having the controversies settled which are already arising from the defects in the liquor license law and to remedy the defects in our election and assessment laws, as well as others. The remedy of the defects in these laws will prove of sufficient benefit alone to counter balance all expense of an extra session. We have sufficient confidence in Gov. Moody to warrant us in the assertion that an extra session will come and that too, before a great many days, notwithstanding the Democratic cry of economy, which they have only of late years been taught in this State by the Republicans. Did ever any one hear a Democratic paper say ought against the extravagant Grover and Chadwick administration? Now, however, they expect to gain a point for their party, hence they commence to prate on economy, but their insincerity is too apparent to admit of any doubt. No reliance can be placed in pretensions which are so often violated. "Plaindealer."

Parties below are using poison to exterminate grasshoppers, which would be equally beneficial on crickets, which occasionally infest sections of this county, and also for locusts, etc. The method of poisoning is to take from 45 to 50 lbs of bran, 18 lbs of powdered arsenic, 12 lbs of common sugar, or one gallon of molasses, as may be preferred, and adding water to dissolve the sugar, thoroughly mix the preparation. The bran and arsenic are first mixed dry. This soft mixture is made into soft balls about size of walnut, and placed under trees or vines, or elsewhere, and the grasshoppers flock to the preparation, attracted by the smell. It is believed honey would be good for this mixture in place of sugar or molasses for bugs and winged insects that infest fruit trees, usually like sweet things. This preparation is said to cost not more than 25 cents an acre, and has proven very successful where tried, but it won't do to have any chickens or domestic animals on the premises thus baited, or they will suffer with the grasshoppers and other pests. "Yreka Journal."

The commissioner of the general land office has declined to accede to the request of the Oregon and California railway company for the issue of patents on 325,000 acres of land already selected by the company, and to allow selections to be made from a million acres more, under the lapsed land grant to that company in the State of Oregon. The grant expired in 1834, and bills declaring forfeiture of the grant were before congress at the last session. The commissioner says that until the matter of enforcing forfeiture has been declared by congress or the courts it is his opinion that he should take no steps which would place beyond the power of the legislative branch to protect public rights in the premises.

This little incident is enough to depopulate Iowa and send the people to Oregon: "The most extraordinary effect of one of the recent Iowa tornadoes was the blowing away of a 3 year old child to such a distance from its home that its parents have not yet been traced. The poor little thing was found in a field dying. It appeared to have been blown out of bed, for it was almost naked, and no doubt the house from which it came was completely destroyed by the storm. The presumption, of course, is that it was carried a considerable distance by the wind, as if it had belonged in the neighborhood it would have been identified, even if its relatives had all been killed."

HIDES WANTED—The undersigned will pay the highest cash price for bear skins and all other kinds of furs, deer skins, etc. Call around before selling. THOS. J. KENNEY.

Fruit Growers' Meeting.

HELD AT JACKSONVILLE JUNE 27, 1885.

House called to order by Vice President G. F. Ponnaker. The roll was called, and the minutes of the two previous meetings read and approved. On motion it was resolved that hop culture be considered one of the interests of the fruit growers association. A communication from C. W. Clark on hop culture was read by the secretary. The question of locating headquarters of the fruit growers association was then taken up; Gold Hill and Jacksonville were placed in nomination. Jacksonville receiving one more vote than Gold Hill was therefore designated as the future headquarters of the association. On motion of R. F. Maury the association resolved to hold its annual meeting on the 8th of October 1885, commencing at one o'clock P. M. C. C. Bekman moved that the association hold a horticultural exhibition at their annual meeting in October next lasting one or two days according to the discretion of the permanent officers of the association, carried. The chair was empowered to make arrangements for the exhibition. On motion of Martin Peterson the association invited all persons interested in fruit and hop culture, to preserve such fruits as could not be exhibited in order that as many kinds could be exhibited as possible. On motion of W. M. Colvig, it was ordered that the secretary of this association, be allowed twenty dollars per annum, for his services and all expenses, while in the employ of the association. On motion it was ordered that the secretary be paid what money is now on hand, (twenty-nine dollars) to remunerate him for money expended, and services rendered up to this time. A communication from an experienced orchardist on pruning was read before the association. On motion of Martin Peterson the meeting adjourned. J. H. GRIFFIS, Sec.

The Vidette says: Now that John H. Mitchell has returned to Oregon to reside, he stands as good a chance as anybody to receive the nomination of the Republican party at the next meeting of the Legislature (special or regular), for U. S. Senator. In case he should receive the nomination, would the Oregonian advise Republican candidates to go for the caucus nominee, as it did last Winter, or would it advise the other way, as it did in 1882?

St. Louis "Post Dispatch" (Dem.) The best that Democracy in Missouri was strong enough to elect a Comanche Indian, or a yellow dog was wholly disproved by the narrow majority at the last election. Democracy in Missouri is on its trial and the Marmalade administration has only to repeat the mistake of the Citizen administration to be the last Democratic administration in the State.
