The town was so full of visitors this week that it would be useless to try to name them, and for that reason we simply invite them all to come again without mentioning the names of all that we see on our streets.

Ex-President Arthur is off on his annual fishing expedition in Canada, care and fancy free, while his successor is cooped up in Washington wearily fishing for men, and bringing up a rank sucker every once in a while.

Three professional sprinters, said to be Gibson, Lewis and Ryan, were in town several days this week trying to make a match with our local foot-racer, Henry Mensor. No conclusion had been reached at last accounts.

"B. b." Jacobi strayed from his home at Gold Hill this week and paid his former residence at Jacksonville a visit the other day. The dog is as fat as usual. This is one personal that our cotem. failed to note.

John Bolt of Applegate was in town Thursday. He does not deny the deer story published several weeks since, but thinks the boys ought to have kept quiet about the matter, and he promises to get even before long.

The M. D's. had a lively run in Jacksonville for about three hours on the night of the 4th but as it was their first active service this summer they went complain and the rest of the community ought to feel satisfied.

Abland, Medford and Eagle Point celebrated the glorious 4th but as we have received no report from either place we cannot give particulars. We learn that each had a fair attendance and all passed off in fine order.

On Tuesday last the thermometer in front of the Table Rock saloon registered 114 and at the same time at E. C. Brooks' drug store it marked 102 in the shade. No one stirred round more than was necessary on that day.

A wing dam is being put in on Applegate near the Matney place by Jacob Klippel, Wm. Deneff and Co. and they expect to make a big strike this summer. All interested are hard-working men and deserve every cent they make.

James McDonough of Willow Springs has located on a ranch near Aiken Bros' sawmill on Rogue River, where he will engage extensively in stockraising and farming; his sons John and Martin McDonough will take charge of it.

Wm. Bybee proposes making a fine summer resort at his sulphur springs on Evans creek and is making preparations to build a house there. Gus Delpey and wife are in charge at present having purchased a complete outfit here last week.

U. S. Revenue Collector Wm. A. Owen, took official charge of his office this week, and has established headquarters in the building in McCully's block—formerly occupied by Mrs. Chambers. Call at the Captain's office and settle up.

J. C. Whipp has taken orders for a half year work, and will receive a fine addition to his stock of marble in a few days. When you are in Jacksonville at his marble works and examine some of the fine specimens of his workmanship.

A sum of money was found by Capt. Caton of the Criterion saloon on Monday last, and after advertising it at the Postoffice store, he found an owner in quick order the owner describing it in full. Cap. is more honest than some people would have been under the same circumstances.

The Commissioners of Klamath county, Oregon, have closed a contract with a San Francisco Bridge Co., to build a fine iron bridge across Link river, at Linkville, for the sum of $6,725. The span is 332 feet, and the price to be paid is cheap, resulting from competition with two other companies. The work is to be commenced immediately, so as to have a safe bridge before winter.

We acknowledge a pleasant call Thursday from L. R. Field, train dispatcher for the O. & C. R. R. and O. K. Frank, the general agent for the O. & C. R. R. at Medford. Mr. Field was examining the service in this section and taking notes of the location of different points on the route.

There is some thought of sending the immigration car over the railway lines in Oregon, as a convenient way in which to gather up specimens. Dates for each of the chief railway towns in the country could be made and the contributions sent along in prime shape.

In the work of fixing up the little girls for the triumphal car for the 4th and the general arrangement of that feature of the procession, Mrs. K. Kubli deserves special credit as she did the work nearly all alone and made it the finest we have ever seen in Jacksonville.

Gen. T. G. Reames is at Linkville assisting in taking stock in the company's storehouse. He will shortly close out business here, and E. R. Reames will retire from the firm. The Gen'l will possibly give his attention to his large mercantile and stock interests in Klamath county.

Arrangements have been made with the O. & C. R. R. that all who attend the laying of the corner stone of the new building for the state university at Eugene on the 28th inst., will be returned for one-fifth fare by securing a certificate from the committee of arrangements.

The Town Trustees this week passed a new ordinance regulating the disposal of the water with which our fire cisterns are filled. On Thursday night they also made up the deficiency of $7.87 in the Fourth of July bills and appropriated $25 to the Silver Cornet Band for their services on that day.

County Clerk Parke has just completed a transcript of the deeds of this county amounting to about 16,000 instruments of writing. He and his assistants have been engaged on the work for one year and has now put things in better shape than it has been before. He is making an efficient official.

The Fourth of July Committee has made a settlement with all parties who furnished anything for that occasion, coming out $7.87 behind, which the town authorities kindly donated to make up the deficiency. With the large sum of money expended the Finance Committee deserve credit for their excellent management.

The Board of Directors of the Portland Mechanics' Pavilion have decided to hold the next fair commencing Thursday, October 8th, and continue until 24th. The Grand Army of the Republic was granted the privilege of using the building from September 14th to 19th inclusive. Aaron S. Whiting was elected Superintendent.

George Hull, Lewis Plymale and Gus Pape went out shooting yesterday with pocket pistols and the cartridges were a little too small so the boys drove them down with sticks. It was fine fun until one of them exploded and hit Lon on the lower eye lid. The boys got a good scare, and will probably not go out shooting for a day or two. Dr. Aiken thinks he can save the sight of the eye but it's terribly bruised.

The conundrum is, where do small boys get pocket pistols and cartridges. Perhaps it would be well for parents to enquire in to the matter and discover, if possible, the "true inwardness" of the shooting business before some serious harm befalls their children. It is not only culpable but criminal for any one to furnish children such articles, and they ought to be shown up in their true light.

Mrs. A. S. Daniway indulges in her editorial correspondent in a lengthy onslaught on the old town of Jacksonville. For the sake of the "forty or five" friends that she has here it had been well that she had spared us this abutment of chagrin and sarcasm as she was treated courteously, and had a fair hearing on her pet theme of Woman Suffrage, in the "discouraged" old town that she has made the theme of her "song."

Our esteemed fellow townman Prof. J. W. Merritt has accepted an invitation to deliver the oration at the laying of the corner stone of the State University, the ceremonies to be conducted by the Masonic Fraternity of this State. Prof. Merritt is a gentleman of fine mental attainments, and rare oratorical and elocutionary abilities, and we can assure all those who will have the pleasure of hearing him a rare intellectual treat.

Abigail Scott Daniway, while on a visit to Jacksonville some time since, was presented with a basket of eggs, one at a time, which she did not seem to appreciate. She is now trying to get even by publishing in her paper, the New Northwest, that Jacksonville is a discouraged town, etc., and in last week's issue goes for Jacksonville hot and heavy. That little city is too well known abroad to be injured by the false statements of Mrs. Daniway—"Plaintdealer."

On the evening of the 4th about one-third of our citizens who attended the celebration were attacked with violent retching and purging which lasted in some cases several hours. The physicians were kept busy for a while, but fortunately no serious results followed. The cause has been variously attributed to the different lead drinks and ice cream that they had partaken of that day, but as we notice like occurrences chronicled at different places in the state, we are led to think that it resulted from natural causes.

Reserved seats for Bobby McGinley's show can be had at J. R. Little's without extra charge for night.

The Fourth.

The celebration of the one hundred and ninth anniversary of American Independence that took place in Jacksonville was the grandest and most successful that was ever held in this county. The day was ushered in by the firing of anvils and at the earliest peep of dawn the town was astir with people. Before 8 o'clock the crowd began to assemble from all parts of the county until the streets were fairly packed. At 10 o'clock the procession was formed at the Town Hall under the direction of grand marshals Foudray and Cronmiller, in the following order: The Silver Cornet Band in handsome uniform and their splendid new band wagon, drawn by four fine horses, decorated with the national colors, then came the carriage, with the Chaplain, Orator and Reader, and the Glee Club, then the grand triumphal car containing the little girls, dressed in white, with the sashes and red rosettes, representing the states and territories, with Miss Minnie Bybee as the goddess of liberty, and Misses Maggie Shipley, Lora Smith and Mollie Miller as red, white and blue, and little Myrtle Neitz representing Jacksonville and little Mable Prim as America. Mr. and Mrs. Washington were charmingly represented by little Harry Miller and Daisy Biber, and army and navy by Fred Pape and Johnnie Miller. The car was handsomely decorated with the national colors, making it the most unique and attractive feature of the procession. Jacksonville Fire Co. No. 1 in uniform with their engine tastefully decorated with red, white and blue, came next, followed by a miniature fire company of little boys in uniform with the hose cart. The artillery fully manned with annunciations came next followed by a large line of citizens on horseback and in carriages. The procession marched through the principal streets, the band saluting the scene with stirring and patriotic music. At the court house square a multitude was already in waiting. The speakers stand occupied the alcove on the west side of the court house, and was hand somely canopied with evergreens and decorated with flowers. The programme was announced by president Linn, and the exercises introduced by music by the band, followed by a patriotic song by the glee club, composed of the following ladies and gentlemen: Misses Kate Hoffman, Cora and Maggie Linn, Sophie and Sophina Ish, Jennie Moore, Belle Caton, and Messrs Brooks, Boyer and Eddy, with Miss Carrie Beckman as organist. An appropriate and impressive prayer was offered by Rev. A. R. Bickenbach, and the Declaration of Independence was read by Wm. Cardwell, the clear full tone of his voice, reaching the outmost circle of the vast assemblage. The occupants of the liberty car then sang "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean," making the welkin ring as their glad voices re-echoed the patriotic strains. The oration by Gen. E. L. Applegate was one of that gentleman's finest efforts; it abounded, in patriotic and earnest thought, beautifully portrayed in graceful and fluent language, in which the speaker carried down the history of America's possibilities and achievements from the dark struggle of the colonies, to the grandeur and magnificence of the present day, with peace and prosperity in all our borders and plenty smiling on our land, and the stars and stripes, emblems of America's freedom, commanding respect as they are floating to the breeze on the waters of the world. The oration was the patriotic effort of classical genius, and should appear in print, as it is well worthy a permanent place in the literature of the day. After music by the glee club dinner was announced and the guests from the country invited to take the precedence while the people of Jacksonville assisted the dinner committee to serve them; the tables which would accommodate several hundred were loaded with the delicacies of the season, together with the most substantial edibles and tea and coffee, and were reset until the large assemblage had been served. The dinner committee with Mrs. J. N. T. Miller as chairman, certainly deserve great credit for the success of their undertaking, as it is estimated that fully 2,500 persons were served. Before the dinner was completed the baby show was announced from the stand, and the judges selected were Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Furry and Mrs. Bellinger. The divertive contestants were brought forward and a dozen dimpled darlings smiled up into the face of the committee mutely appealing in their baby innocence for the prize; never had a committee a harder duty than this to perform but after due deliberation they awarded the prize for the prettiest girl baby to Mrs. Frank Smith of Jackson creek and the prettiest girl baby to Mrs. James Riley of Butte Creek. The prizes were each a beautiful gold lined silver cup handsomely engraved. The ancient order of Kallithumpians, in procession headed by the Chinese Band, then appeared upon the scene and drove up and took possession of the grand stand, and for two hours entertained the people with burlesque song and witticism. Many of our prominent citizens grotesquely represented by them while others were hit by the keen shafts of their good natured ridicule. The whole performance was under the direction of grand marshal Crosby who could not disguise himself with paint and powder from the quick eyes of his friends, and it is needless to say that it was the best burlesque ever witnessed in Jacksonville. The fireworks and ball in the evening entertained the large crowd and the entire occasion was distinguished by the most perfect order and good feeling, making it the grandest celebration ever held in Jacksonville, and our citizens, one and all, may well feel proud of its success.
