

OREGON SENTINEL.

JACKSONVILLE: SATURDAY, AUGUST 1, 1885.

Jacksonville.

IT'S BUSINESS OUT-LOOK AND FUTURE PROSPECTS.

It has come to be almost the constant business of some of the less favored towns of this section which aspire to county seats and commercial importance to represent that Jacksonville and it's business as a commercial center are declining.

In order to disabuse the minds of such as have been misled by these statements, which, thus far have not been noticed by our press or people, and leave the public to judge for themselves we will submit, in this article, a candid and unvarnished statement of our leading business interests and our surroundings and show that the prejudices thus sought to be created against us have had but one purpose and that purpose has been to build up, by endeavoring to kick down and acknowledge superior. Those who have been engaged in this small and disreputable business have yet to learn that cities are neither built nor deserted through petty prejudices; but built to facilitate trade and commerce and deserted when they do not answer these purposes. It will be shown that at no time in the history of our town have it's prospects been brighter than at the present. Jacksonville was built up by the discovery of gold on Jackson creek in 1851-2. From that time 'til this it has been the acknowledged center of business for the whole of Southern Oregon; and we shall show by its most favorable and happy surroundings that it is destined to remain such, and to grow in influence and importance in proportion as its natural resources and advantages exceed and excel any other town or section. It should not be forgotten that Jacksonville is situated within six miles of the center of the largest and richest grain growing body of land in the county; and by far the larger body of this land lies between Jacksonville and the center, so that the steam flouring mill located here, and the only one in the country, can be reached by an easy haul of not over five or six miles. The steam mill at this place is therefore the nearest milling point for the whole of this large body of land which is conceded to be the finest, as it is the largest, in the valley. This showing is certainly a good one and better still because it is true, and because it places us within as easy reach of any and all agricultural advantages as could be enjoyed by any other place, even with like milling facilities, except the center of this district which has at this time no milling privileges. Jacksonville has an exhaustless mine of wealth alone in her surrounding foot hills, which, in time, and a very short time, will be one of the greatest sources of revenue in the valley. It has been shown by actual test that our rich and fertile hills, extending into the valley are especially adapted, in this locality, to the successful culture of the various fruits: while grapes grown upon these lands produce in abundance and of the best quality. The manufacture of wine from grapes grown in the immediate vicinity of Jacksonville is destined, in the near future to be one of the material and most profitable industries of the country. The completion of the railroad through the valley has rendered it necessary to grow and manufacture something that will bear shipping. The constant drain occasioned by imports will compel a change in farming and a change from heavier to lighter and more valuable freights. This drain must be met and compensated for by such products and manufactures as can be shipped in small bulk and at a profit. Fruit and wine, such as can be manufactured here, can be exported, at a good profit, and from no point more largely or expeditiously than from this. In the matter of wine, the most profitable of all the manufactures for shipping, and which will shortly be made a specialty here, no point will pretend that it can compete with Jacksonville, for the reason that the soil here produces a grape far superior to any grown in the county.

President Cleveland's Proclamation.

Immediately upon the announcement of the death of General Grant, President Cleveland issued the following address in memory of the great hero, warrior and statesman: "The President of the United States has just received the sad tidings of the death of that illustrious citizen and ex-President of the United States General Ulysses S. Grant, at Mt. McGregor in the State of New York, to which place he had lately been removed in endeavors to prolong his life. In making this announcement to the people of the United States, the President is impressed with the magnitude of the public loss of a great military leader, who was in the hour of victory magnanimous, amid disaster serene and self sustained; who, in every station, whether as a soldier or Chief-Magistrate, twice called to power by his fellow-countrymen, trod unswervingly the pathway of duty, undeterred by doubt, single-minded, and straight-forward. The entire country has witnessed with deep emotion his prolonged and patient struggle with the painful disease, and has watched by his couch of suffering with tearful sympathy. The destined end has come at last, and his spirit has returned to the Creator who sent it forth. The great heart of the nation that followed him when alive, with love and pride, bows now in sorrow above him dead, tenderly mindful of his virtues, of his great patriotic services, and of the loss occasioned by his death. In testimony of the respect to the memory of General Grant, it is ordered that the Executive Mansion and the several departments in Washington, be draped in mourning for a period of thirty days, and that all public business shall, on the day of the funeral, be suspended, and the Secretaries of War and of the Navy will cause orders to be issued for appropriate military and naval honors to be rendered on that day. In witness whereof, I hereunto have set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done in the city of Washington, this twenty-third day of July A. D., one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five, and independence of the United States one hundred and tenth." (Signed) GROVER CLEVELAND, By the President, T. F. Bayard, Secretary of State.

Fruit Growers' Association

In accordance with instructions given at the last meeting of the Fruit Growers' Association, the president has appointed the following gentlemen as members of the committee on arrangements for the exhibition to be given in October next: G. F. Pennebaker, A. H. Carson, C. W. Clarke, R. F. Maury and Thos. Curry. Committee on finance, C. C. Beekman, A. L. Johnson, S. B. Galey, H. B. Miller and Ole Everson. A special meeting of the association is called to meet in the town hall at Jacksonville, August 28th, at 10 o'clock A. M. The members of the above committee are requested to be present if possible, in order that they may confer with each other and make arrangements for a creditable display at the exhibition. An invitation is extended to all to give their opinions on horticulture subjects, and to furnish specimens of all kinds of vegetation that may be of interest, and present them in time for the exhibition. J. HENRY GRIFFIS, Secty.

Syrup of Figs. Nature's own true Laxative. Pleasant to the Palate, acceptable to the Stomach, harmless in its nature, painless in its action. Sample bottle free, and large bottles for sale by Merritt & Robinson, Jacksonville.

For an actual test of the quartz leads lying about Jacksonville and known to contain gold that our yet undeveloped mineral resources will prove to be of more lasting benefit to the town and country than the placers have been. It is well known that there are 10 or 15 gold bearing ledges within 5 or 6 miles of Jacksonville and should they prove to contain gold in paying quantities, as it is believed they will, the future of Jacksonville is fixed beyond any question. So firmly of the opinion are our people that these ledges will pay, they have sent for a test mill called the "Dyer Cannon Ball Quartz Mill" patented in 1882 and which is said to be one of the best ever invented. It is expected the mill will be in operation in a short time when the fact will be demonstrated whether these ledges will pay or not. But whether they pay or not the fact cannot be disputed that the gold dust annually coming into the hands of our business men notwithstanding the general business depression, will serve to explain, in a great measure their present financial ease and independence as compared with the threatening stringency that seems to exist elsewhere in the county. We hope none of our neighbors will take these facts to heart but accept them gracefully as any effort to rub them out will only develop the proof.
