At Rest.

At 8:45 o'clock this morning Wm. Hoffman Esq., one of Southern Oregon's most honored Pioneers departed this life after a short illness, aged 84 years, 2 months and 7 days. Mr. Hoffman has been in failing health for two years past and had retired from business about a year since although he continued his active duties in the church and sabbath school until attacked with his last fatal illness. He was born in the city of Baltimore, Maryland, Sept. 7th, 1801, where he lived until 1814 and where he received both an English and German education, his parents having been of German descent. In 1814 he removed with a sister and brother-in-law to Boone county, Maryland, and began his business life as clerk in a mercantile establishment, being then but 13 years of age. Here he realized the great advantage of his German education, as almost the entire population were of German descent and generally spoke in that language. In 1816 he removed to Middletown, Maryland, and in partnership with a cousin, began merchandising on his own responsibility. In 1817 he was converted to the Christian reformed church by the rite of confirmation. In 1820 he removed to Urbana, Ohio, and in 1821 to Cincinnati, where he became business manager of a large mercantile business, in which his brother-in-law was engaged, and in which he gave entire satisfaction by his prompt and conscientious discharge of duty that he was taken into full partnership in the firm and remained until 1824. At the earnest solicitation of relatives in Maryland he returned to his native state in that year, and again engaged in merchandising. Here he was elected one of the trustees of the German reformed church being then but 23 years of age, and here he began his labors in the Sabbath school and prayer meeting which he continued with untiring zeal and devotion until stricken down with his last fatal illness. In 1832 his father died and two years later his mother, and being no longer drawn by the tender ties of home life, he again moved in 1835, and settled in Attica, Fountain county, Indiana. In 1836 he again visited Maryland and was married September 22nd that year to his estimable wife Caroline B. Shaffer who still survives him. They began their married life in Attica, and in 1840 he was elected recorder of Fountain county for a six year's term, and was re-elected in 1846, serving the county for 12 years. In 1841, having removed to Covington, the county seat, he and his wife united with the new School Presbyterian church, of which he then became a ruling elder. In 1853, Mrs. Hoffman being a sufferer from asthma, they decided to remove to the Pacific Coast for the benefit of her health, and with their two children, in company with Dr. McKinnon of Portland, they made the six months journey across the plains, arriving in Southern Oregon in October of that year. Here he engaged in farming for two years. In 1855 he was elected county auditor under the territorial government, and held the office until state organization, when he was elected county clerk, and was continued in the office by re-election until 1866. In that year he was appointed a notary public, and held the position until he retired from business. He was also a U. S. Commissioner by appointment of Judge Deady, and the agent of several different life insurance companies, and also had agency. In 1865 he engaged with Hon. Henry Klippie in the hardware business and continued it for 5 years. He was a member of the Presbyterian church of Jacksonville, and during his entire life he was the leading spirit of the church and Sunday school work, having been superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday school since its organization, and before that superintendent of the Union Sunday school. He was a member of the Pioneer society of Southern Oregon and had served it faithfully both as president and secretary, and although in poor health he attended the annual re-union in Ashland this year. The life work of a good and useful man is finished, and the earthly habitation is exchanged for the robes of righteousness that await times faithful laborers on the shores of Eternity. Just as the joyous sunbeams of the bright autumn morning were gliding the mountain tops his spirit took its flight forever, lighting up the dark passage across the mystic river, and wafted back to us over the turbulent waters comes the glad voice of the unseen angels, as heaven reaches the joyful strains, "well done good and faithful servant, enter thou into the joy of the Lord." He leaves a wife and six daughters, five of whom are married, and a host of friends to mourn his loss. He was attended in his last hours by his family every member being present, and we extend to them our sincere sympathy in their hour of bereavement, trusting that the magnitude of their loss may be the measure of their consolation, for he leaves behind him the good will of the entire community and not a heart but is saddened by the loss of the meritorious reaper who has this day garnered a full ripen sheaf, and left us only the memory of a pure and upright life, and we feel that the world is the better for his living in it though the home altar is desolate and the voice of the devout christian forever silent in the dreamless sleep of death. Rest his soul in peace.

Archbishop Gross of Portland held several meetings in the Catholic Church here this week and at no time was the Church larger enough to hold all that wanted to hear him. He is an eloquent and convincing speaker and we look for a large audience to greet him at the lecture to be delivered in the Court House next Monday night.

This is one of the curious things floating about. Take a piece of paper, and upon it put in figures of your age in years. Multiply it by two; then add to the result obtained the figures 3768; add two, and divide by two. Subtract from the result obtained the number of your year on earth, and see if you do not obtain figures that you will not be likely to forget.

QUARTZ MILL.—L. D. Brown, proprietor of the St. Charles Hotel at Portland, is with us again and with certain considerations, which are very reasonable, declares his intention to put up a ten stamp mill here commencing the latest machinery invent and up to this time. The mill that Mr. Brown proposes putting up, for the time will be a custom mill, ready to crush any rock brought there, thus giving an opportunity to test all the numerous lodes in this vicinity. The well-known reputation of Mr. Brown as a mill doer in Oregon, and his willingness to do the proper proportion of the amount invested to start it up, ought to convince everyone that there is no brag about it and our citizens should all join in and make it a success. There are plenty of paying quartz lodes in this section and the working of some of them would make better times than we now enjoy.

CLOSE CALL.—J. R. Johnson and John X. Miller have been in charge of Wm. Byrnes' sheep in Klamath county during the summer and returned with the band on Wednesday last. When coming through the Dead Indian country they encountered a snow storm, where they were delayed several days in three feet of snow. All together they were in snow eight days with 1,900 head of sheep and when it is related that only eleven head were lost on the trip some may doubt it. Such is the fact however a warm rain coming to their rescue just in the right time.
