

OREGON SENTINEL

JACKSONVILLE:
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1885.

The question of the right of the people of a state to prohibit the sale of liquor within its borders, has been taken to the Supreme court of the United States, by the Anti Prohibitionists of Georgia, and is causing much excitement in the State.

The New York "Sun" omitted its customary batch of slime at Ex-President Hayes when the latter sent a note of sympathy to Mrs. Hendricks. But the Democratic committee in charge at the funeral obsequies gave Mr. Hayes the post of honor in the ceremonies, showing that respectable Democrats thus chided the "Sun."

A newspaper advertisement is a never tiring worker in the interest of its employer. When the bill distributor has disappeared from the streets and the bills are trampled into pulp, the advertisement is performing its silent mission in the family circles. It appeals to a constituency three or four times larger than the actual sale of the paper, for there are few newspapers that do not pass from hand to hand among three or four persons with every issue.

Jay Gould, who has been active in Wall street, New York, announces that with the close of the present year he will retire from the exciting field of speculation. He thinks he has earned a rest. He states that he will retain his interest in the three companies which he holds in the highest esteem—the Missouri Pacific and the Manhattan Railroad Companies and the Western Union Telegraph Company—and will hereafter devote his whole attention to these properties.

In Senate caucus assembled the Republicans have determined to ratify all nominations promptly where nothing but political reasons exist; but to give persons who were removed from offices coming under the civil service rules an opportunity to defend themselves if they so desire. If the President is right in declaring his intentions of faithfully executing this law the Senate is certainly right in seeing that he does so. The proper way to test any law is to thoroughly execute it.

The "Oregonian" believes the Registry law unconstitutional, on account of the constitution accurately defining who shall be allowed to vote. If it should prove to be so it would be a good thing as it is not needed unless it is in the city of Portland. It will cost Lane county $2,000, at the very lowest and will not benefit her a dollar nor in any way hinder fraud, for we do not believe that there are ten citizens in the county who would have any desire to vote illegally nor a single one who would attempt it.—Register.

The following is a specimen of the reporter's ingenuity in manufacturing a sensational and untrueful item about highwaymen on Sixtyfour Mountain, for the Portland Sunday "Mercury":

The other day he wanted to make a raise, and so went out on a highway to stop a stage and "hold up" the passengers. He was fortunate in finding a stage, for he had [as more than got into position] behind a rock, then two well loaded coaches came rolling along. With a "sharp click, click, and cry of 'halt' and get down off that box!" the vehicle stopped, the driver got down on the ground and the passengers began to alight like a drove of frightened sheep. In a minute the road agent had 'em all up in a line, and they obeyed first rate until he told them to empty their pockets, when there was a look of astonishment on the faces of all, and no effort made to disgorge. Then the agent began to take matters into his own hands and investigate their pockets, when to his disgust he found he had run up against a brace of Nebraska editors, who hadn't seen a dollar for six months. They all had round trip tickets, but outside of that, their valuables were as thin as festival soup. One fellow had an imitation pair of shears hanging from an ornate watch chain, another had an unrecipited grocery bill, while others had receipts for making paste that wouldn't sour. To say that road agent was mad, won't half express it. He just filled the air with sulphur, and next time he tackles a stage he will read the papers and get posted on who is traveling over the line.

That grand old humorist who is now dead but not forgotten, Josh Billings, once truly said: "Frogs have two natures, ground and water. I never knew a frog to hurt anyone. They are as free from sin as an oyster, and will not hurt a man who pays his honest debts and pays for his country paper."

Postal Telegraph

The friends of a postal telegraph for the United States are becoming more numerous. A dispatch to the Portland "News" says that the New York "Mail and Express" published a strong endorsement by Cyrus W. Field of Edmund's bill for the government to control the telegraph. He says: "In my opinion the time has come when the government should purchase the telegraph lines of the country. A law should be passed by Congress making all the purchases, so every company will be bound to the same principle. Each telegraph company should select an arbitrator, and the government another. If they disagree, then they should choose a third, who will be a man thoroughly experienced and expert at the business. The arbitrators should have power to examine the reports and accounts, and arrive at the actual net profits."

Senator Edmund has introduced a bill into the present congress to provide for the establishment of a postal telegraph. Such a thing is only a question of the future, and the congress now in session can gain a point to its credit by not leaving the work for some future congress. The tendency of the age in which we now live is to accelerate everything, and we keep running faster away from the old ideas and usages. The telegraph is a public carrier of messages, the same as the mail carrier, and it should be made a part, or auxiliary, of the same. The progress and needs of the age demand it.

A Valuable Suggestion.

Would it not be about the proper thing for Congress to pass a law condemning all tramps and vagrants to service in the United States army for a period of three years? We, says the "Albany Bulletin," think it would. It would be better for the tramps, and relieve the country of a terrible nuisance. Several states make tramping a crime and affix various penalties thereto. But a sweeping law of Congress sending all tramps into the army, would rid the country of these wretched vagabonds and relieve society of their petty thefts and worthless presence. The morale of the army might not approximate to the highest standard with these fellows for companions-in-arms, but the difficulty could be overcome by forming a tramp regiment, or division, and when there was any serious fighting to be done shove them to the front and make them fight or die. This kind of usage would make men of them, a reformatory school as it were, and either kill or cure tramping disease. By all means let congress pass such a law and rid the country of these graceless scamps.

John O. Welsh, who came down from Delta yesterday, says the Redding "Free Press" of a late date, informs us that tunnel 8 is completed, and that the Burleigh drills have been moved to tunnel 9, that the road is graded almost to Portuguese flat, with the exception of one cut, which it will take a week longer to finish. Track laying is accomplished at the rate of half a mile a day, and reach Slate creek on the 12th. John says that the grade has been raised by surveyor Hood, and that the road will run a mile east of the present survey, and east of Sisson's. The wagon roads are in a horrible condition. It is reported that the railroad company will soon establish a temporary terminus at Slate creek, which will enable the trains to run about 8 miles above Delta, thereby saving much hard work in teaming and staging over a bad portion of wagon road during the winter season.

The Popular Approval.

Of the now famous Syrup of Figs as the most efficacious and agreeable preparation ever offered to the world as a cure for Habitual Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion and kindred ills, has been won by the wise plan pursued by the California Fig Syrup Company. Knowing that any remedy truly beneficial in its effects on the system, and at the same time pleasant to the taste, will meet with a rapid sale, the Company, through its agents Merritt & Robinson gives away a sample bottle free of charge. Try it and judge for yourself. Large bottle fifty cents or one dollar.

On account of gradually increasing trade Menor Bros. have marked their goods down to such low figures that you cannot help but buy.

PYEMIA

Is the most virulent form of blood-poisoning. Less speedily fatal, but not less certain, so, is the vitiation of the blood of which the first symptoms are Pimples, Sties, Boils, and Cutaneous Eruptions. When the taint of Scrofula gives warning of its presence by such indications, no time should be lost in using AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, the only perfect and reliable medicine for the purification of the blood.

SCROFULA

Is a foul corruption in the blood that rots out all the machinery of life. Nothing will eradicate it from the system and prevent its transmission to offspring but AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. This preparation is also the only one that will cleanse the blood of Mercantile poison and the taint of Contagious Diseases. Impure blood is productive of
