JACKSONVILLE, OREGON, SEPTEMBER 18, 1886

FROM B. P. DOWELL'S AND OTHERS PE-TITION ASKING FOR PAY FOR THE DEPREDATIONS OF THE INDIANS.

IV. John, the chief of the Shasta and sub chief of the Rogue river Indians, and his son Adam, deserve a passing notice in this petition.

John and Adam were both native of Shasta valley, California.

Early in the spring of 1852 B. Dowell formed the acquaintance of John in Yreks. As he entered the town he met John with nine other Indians coming out of Yreka. Three of the Indians were drunk, and one of John bought a rope from our attorney to tie this boisterous, drunken Indian, so his companions could take him out and our attorney was tavorably im pressed with his features and general deameanor. He always thought his features height and shape resembled Gen. Andrew Jackson.

The Indians bought and sold whis-

John was not present at the time this Tame rock treaty was first signed by the head chiefs, Joe No. gate creek, but was followed into the men, and with the general's and superintendent Palmer's promises to feed ciothe him and his warriors, John signed the treaty, and his people went upon the Table roca Indian reservation to live, and, according to his story, in place of living he stayed there until be and his band nearly starved. He always, when a protext offered was on the war path. After the war was over and after he had been on the new reservation in Northern Oregon. he tried to stir up sedition and get the Indians again to go on the war path For this off nse Superintendent J. W Change In Management Nesmith (late senator) had him and his son, Adam, arrested by the mili tary and bent to A'cstraz, California.

On the steamer between Portland and San Francisco John and his son rebelled at the idea of their imprisonment, and they made a desperate fight to cap'ure the steamer, or for freedon . Adam was shot in the leg, and they were finally subdued and imprisoned of Alcatraz. Adam's leg was cut off. and be has worn a cork leg ever since After the Republicans came into pow er and William Rector was appointed superintendent, he petioned Mr. Rec tor to allow him to come home to die among his people. His request was granted. Soon after his return to the reservation General Palmer and the writer of this petition were walking a ong the road on the reservation and we met Tyee John. He cordially shook hands with the writer and said in plain English: "How do you do Mr. Dowell?" But be only nodded his head to the late superintendent, His manner and style was so cool that the writer of this article inquired. 'Jh John, don't you remember General Palmer!" John vindicatively replied, "Nika has cumtux Palmer." Palmer wake close tum tum hias clun a nawht wake pot lack hivou icters, wake pot lach hiyou muc muc sia Logue Liber;" meaning the superintendent was a bad man, that he had willfully lied to the Indians at Rogue river, to get them on the reservation, by falsely promising them blanets, horses and farming implements and plenty of as good food to eat as whites.

The writer earnestly and truthfully e resented the great Indian Tyer, that Gen. Palmer was a good and truthful ma , and that it was not Palmer, but
