During the exhibition of the John L. Sullivan combination at Los Angeles there was a pious interlude. A set to was in progress when Ben Hogan; "a reformed pugilist," and of late engaged in "revival work," stepped upon the stage and addressed the spectators in relation to their spiritual welfare. He was given a respect, ful hearing, and his moving address closed amid loud cheering. The slogging was then resumed the spiritual exhortation having in no wise diminished interest in the muscular performance. The incident suggests the idea that preaching and slogging might be advantageously combined on such occasions. In this way the clergy man would see something of inter est and have a chance to reach hundreds who seldom or never at: tend church. And the result at Los Angeles indicates that the slogging interests would not be injuriously effected by association with preaching.

A Valuable Medical Treatise.

The edition for 1857 of the sterling Medical Annual, known as Hostetter's Aimanac, is now ready, and may be obtained, free of cost, of druggists and general country dealer in all parts of the United States, Mexico, and indeed in every civilized portion of the Western Hemisphere. This Almanac has been issued regularly at the commencement of every year for over one-fifth of a century. It combines, with the soundest practical advice for the preservation and restoration of health, a large amount of interesting and amusing light reading, and the calendar, astronomical calculations, chronological items, &c., are prepared with great care, and will be found entirely accurate. The issue of Hostetter's Almanac for 1857 will probably be the largest edition of a medical work ever published it any country. The proprietors, Messra, Hostetter & Co., Pitabourgh, Pa., on receipt of a two cent stamp, will forward a copy by mail to any person who cannot procure one in his neighborhood.
