SENTINEL $2 00 per year.

McMinnville to have a new school house and a new Court House. The Lake County Examiner says there are nineteen candidates in Lake county for Sheriff.

The dedication of the Masonic temple at Pendleton, will occur about the first of next month. The Milton editor worked out his four dollar road tax with a pick and shovel. There is "sand" for you.

The snow on the mountains between Ochoco and Bridge creeks has about all disappeared, and travel will begin soon. The people of Antelope have contributed nearly $3,000 to build a road from that place down Antelope creek to Cross Keys.

Dr. Lane has caused every one of the inmates of the asylum who has not been inoculated within five years to be vaccinated. A O.U.W. membership in this jurisdiction is as follows: Oregon, 2491; Washington Territory, 443; British Columbia, 415; total 3349.

The Home Press says there is no Chinaman at Centerville afflicted with leprosy as reported. The rumor was spread by a few careless boys. The farmers are busy sowing and seeding their farms. With an ordinary season, Wasco county will produce more grain this year than ever before. -Times-Mountain.

Mr. James Chewcuth who has been operating a quick-ster mine in Southern Oregon for some time, using three rotors with very good success, has ordered three new rotors of the capacity of a ton or more each. Hermann has introduced a bill to pension Wisconsin 77, by a full blooded Native Indian. It was she who found Colonel Meade's body after the massacre in the Lava Beds.

The Western Times Telegraph company has just finished stretching a copper wire between Eugene and Portland. About the middle of March work will begin on a copper wire between Portland and Albany.

Steamers from San Francisco to Portland leave now every three days. This increase of service was compelled from the fact 75,000 tons of freight have accumulated at Portland for shipment to San Francisco.

The masonic temple, at Eugene City, one of the handsomest buildings of the kind west of the Cascade mountains, was dedicated on Feb. 29th. A large number of masons and others were present and the occasion was highly enjoyed by all.

George S. Downing of Salem, has been appointed Superintendent of the penitentiary by Governor Penney in place of R. Clow. Mr. Downing is a gentleman of the old school, a man of integrity and no doubt will make an efficient Superintendent.

Ontario, Malheur county, is making a great effort for the county seat at the coming June election; says an exchange. The citizens have raised a subsidy of over $5,000 to be used in building the necessary county buildings, and a subscription of nearly $200 as a campaign fund.

A young man named Warner was imprisoned in the jail at Portland last week without any charges being made against him; it is charged by authority of the boy's father on account of his leaving his real estate office and working for another agent. Chief of Police Parrish was fined $100 on account of the affair.

A hunter near Canyon City, a short time since shot a cougar and captured her young ones, small kittens. He had a litter of young hounds at home and he placed the two young cougars among them, and they are thriving well. They lie around in front of the fire and play with each other just like two ordinary kittens.

A burglar entered the residence of John W. Williams in Baker City, a few nights ago through a bedroom window, and helped himself to all the cold victuals that could be found, setting the table and partaking of his meal in kindly style. Before leaving the house he wrote a note returning thanks to the family for the excellent meal.

A few nights ago, says the Harney Valley Items, some miscreant entered the stable at DeVine's buccaro ranch and stole two 450 saddles, several pairs of spurs, fine bridles, etc., in all valued at about $150. The saddles belonged to John Merrill and Thomas Baker. Upon the information reaching Burns, Deputy Sheriff Robinson immediately obtained a search warrant and started to look up the missing property. A slight clue has been obtained, and we hope the thieves will be corralled and landed where they belong - the penitentiary.

An excess of animal food and a partial closing of the pores of the skin, during the winter months, cause the system to become filled with impurities. These can be removed and the blood purified and invigorated by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Price $1.

St. Louis Republican (Dem.): Next to Blaine, Senator Sherman is intellectually the strongest among the prominent Republicans. He represents Republicanism even better than Blaine.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Rep.): Col. Bill Morrison would like to be nominated for vice-president. In fact, he would like almost any excuse for avoiding Uncle Jehu Baker in the next race for congress in his district.

Minneapolis Tribune: The telegraph business is that of a common carrier, and it should be brought under government supervision, but there is a dearth of sound arguments for the assumption of this business by the government itself.

Milwaukee Sentinel: While the Atlanta Constitution and other democratic journals are applauding Mr. Dickinson for "clearing out the few remaining Republicans in his department," they forget that a bad postal service is a very poor recommendation for Mr. Cleveland's administration.

New York Tribune: But Mr. Cleveland also knows that fraud, terrorism and crime prevented the election of members who favor protection from many southern districts. The same great national crime by which he was elected - that and nothing else - prevents the election by an overwhelming majority of protectionists to every congress.

Brooklyn Eagle (Dem.): No man better understands the precedents and duties politically attaching to democratic governors than David B. Hill, or will more scrupulously regard them. Hence the Eagle's recent statement: "It requires but little prophecy to say that Grover Cleveland's name will be presented for renomination by Governor David B. Hill."

New York Mail and Express: There is a growing unanimity of Republican conviction that the party has reached a crisis in its history and destiny, when the national convention should be a deliberative and representative body, containing the ablest leaders who can be induced to serve as delegates, and utterly unamenable to the control of local politicians.

New York World (Dem.): Judge Gresham has qualities and a record that would make him a strong candidate before the people, especially if a popular Eastern man like Gen. Hawley or Senator Hiscock should be associated with him on the ticket. His rugged honesty and sturdy antagonism to monopolies would count for much before the people.

Buffalo Express: It was a happy idea to call the national convention of the democratic and prohibition parties to meet on the same day. And no doubt the gathering at St. Louis and the assemblage in Indianapolis will exchange congratulations and ratifications by telegraph.

Boston Journal: A gentleman from Indiana writes: "Would Judge Gresham carry a large vote in Massachusetts? Yes, and he would carry every New England state on the tariff issue. Gen. Gresham would make an unexceptionable candidate for the presidency."

New York Herald (Dem.): As for Gresham-general judge, statesman, reticent, shrewd, honest, with a mighty good record-look out for him. In the background? Yes; but that is a good position to occupy at a certain stage of the game. He will bear looking at.

Washington Critic: The party who started the report that Mr. Cleveland tends to withdraw from the presidential canvass if congress fails to follow out his line of policy laid down in his tariff message doesn't know Mr. Cleveland.

Fergus Falls Journal: Judging from the tone of remarks of prominent men and the newspapers generally, we should say that if a Minnesota delegation was to be elected to-day it would be for Gresham for president.

Springfield Republican: Indiana has some sound presidential timber. Walter Q. Gresham and Benjamin Harrison are in the front rank, and one of them may come in handy when the convention meets.

Cleveland Plaindealer (Dem.): While the other Republican candidates are planting their presidential hopes in hotels, Blaine has to put his out in the cold, frosty air to keep it from growing too large.

The Chicago Tribune rests from its labors long enough to reveal the real name of the next democratic candidate for the Presidency: Cleveland, Vo right, McDonald, BaNadall, Higgins, St. John.

In the interest of his party Senator Vest, of Missouri, should be muzzled. He is altogether too spontaneous with his vocal organs. He seems still imbued with the idea that one Southerner during the war must have disabled at least five Yankees. That was a brave fellow, but he would be a mistake. He enlisted the army of Lee, which, as he hurriedly claims, "had but 8,000 left at Appomattox that splendid force which had faced the world in arms and which had been battered and beaten back by overwhelming numbers."

Fortran rot. The official reports show that from the 29th day of March, 1865, to April 9th, there were captured 46,495 men of Lee's army, and that in addition to these 25,416 prisoners were surrendered and paroled April 9 at Appomattox.

The senator takes occasion to attack the Grand Army of the Republic as a political organization and a corps of men engaged in inventing legislation to take more money out of the treasury. The remainder of the speech was of a similar vituperative character, and recalls the bullying and belligerence of the typical Southerner in the days before the war. Cleveland's free trade message and Ve's insults directed at every union soldier will make excellent campaign reading. Republicans should see that their circulation is universal.

GOOD FOR INHALES. In the United States senate on Tuesday, Ingalls, president of that body, called Senator Platt to the chair and proceeded to dress down in a very thorough manner. Senator Vest, from Missouri, who recently made himself obnoxious to the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, Senator Ingalls has a very clear head and a sarcastic tongue, and he did up the job that fell to him in his line of duty in very fine style. Vest had asked where all this pension business is going to end, and Ingalls answered this question as follows:

"I will tell him and every senator on that the democratic side of the chamber, whether he likes it or not, what we intend to do. It is going to stop when arrears of pensions are paid; when the limitation is removed and every soldier on the rolls, is paid from the day of his disability; and when every surviving soldier of the army is put on the rolls for service only. That is when it is going to stop, and if you don't like it make the most of it."

Last of the Buffaloes. "It was but four years ago," said W. S. Barrows of Mandan, D. T., "that I bought 10,000 buffalo horns, and to-day it is impossible to obtain one pair for love or money. According to the stories of hunters and trappers who have been engaged in their occupation for years, one small herd of buffalo exists at this time as the representative of the countless thousands that swarmed on the western prairies, and they have sought protection in the Yellowstone Park. There are about thirty in the herd, and many of the tourists through the park last summer counted them during their travels.

Even these are likely to become exterminated unless the government takes vigorous measures for their security, as their whereabouts are known to a few daring spirits, who will take desperate chances to kill them, if they could be decoyed near the boundary line of the park where detection would be difficult. The experiences of Taxidermist W. T. Hornaday of the National Museum in quest of specimens of buffalo for that institution, have already been given at length, and he had orders, besides, from European museums for some of these animals.

After working industriously for two seasons, and traversing all the country north and west of Minnesota to the Canada line, he succeeded in finding two or three animals, which have been stuffed and mounted for the museum at Washington, and unless the United States Government decides to pick out a few of its only herd as a present to some European museum, the foreign orders never will be filled."

In spite of the warning lately given that the disfiguring bustle must go, a new variety of that article has just been patented by a Kansas man and of course is coming into use, although it has not been introduced in Yreka as yet. It has a blow-off and a safety-valve, and when the wearer sits down the air escapes up her spine, loosens her corset strings and blows her bangs into the most fashionable position. When she stands up the action tightens the strings, expands the bustle, whistles to her dog, sticks a pin into her drowsy escort, and they move along placidly.

The Chicago Tribune rests from its labors long enough to reveal the real name of the next democratic candidate for the Presidency: Cleveland, Vo right, McDonald, BaNadall, Higgins, St. John.

Ex-Sheriff Patrick Connelly uses the San Francisco Examiner for $100,000 a libel, for implicating him in opium smuggling.

Wisconsin will elect state officers, legislature and congressmen November 6th.

Washington will hold a general election on November 6th when a delegate, legislators and the various county officers will be elected.

Things have come to such a serious point that George W. Childs is obliged to get up in the middle of the night to decline the Presidential nomination.

A Repealer for the Condemned. Wretched men and women long condemned to suffer the tortures of dyspepsia, are filled with new hope after a few doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This lodging food blossoms into the fruition of certainty, if the bitters is persisted in. It brings a reprieve to all dyspepsias who seek its relief. Flatulence, heartburn, sinking at the pit of the stomach between meals, the nervous tremors and insomnia of which chronic indigestion is the patent, beneficent of stomachs who can wonder that in so many instances it weakens graceful elegance in those who, benefited by it, speak voluntarily in its behalf. It requires a graphic pen to describe the torment of dyspepsia, but in many of the testimonials received by the proprietors of the bitters, these are portrayed with vivid truthfulness. Constipation, biliousness, muscular debility, neuralgic fevers and rheumatism are relieved by it.

Bismarck as an orator is now compared to Cromwell.

All the states will elect presidential electors Tuesday, November 6th. The electors then chosen will meet at their respective state capitols Wednesday, December 6th, and cast their ballots for president and vice president of the United States.
