LAFAYETTE

March 27, 1883.
The long, dry spell, so unusual for Oregon, in the winter, has ended, and now the earth is refreshed with warm and copious showers.

The heavy frosts of the past winter that were supposed to have "cooked" the wild oats, seem to have opened the ground for the lower strata to come to the surface. Farmers who have examined, assert that the surface oats were all killed, and that many of the present growth have sprouted at a depth of eight inches, and even more.

Claud Ferguson took a day's vacation from school and came home on a visit one day last week.

J. C. Conper, of McMinnville, was in town looking about as usual.

C. H. Messinger, Sheridan's tin man, was here begging the Judge to postpone court, or postpone him. The Judge postponed Charley.

George Bredwell and wife, of Amity, came down to see the capital of Yamhill, the other day.

The two prisoners that escaped from the jail, here, on the night of the 18th were captured by Sheriff Collard as they were going to Portland, the other side of the Taylor bridge.

"Oleomargarine" under the name of California butter, has made its appearance right here in this place, in this land of good pasture and cows. Yes, to the shame of Oregon farming, has this "bull butter" gained a foothold where the real article should be so plenty that no bogus truck could ever find room. But it is here and selling at 37 1/2 cents per pound, while real butter goes begging at 30 cents. But then the bogus article looks just like good butter and tastes a great deal better than most of the home-made. Place them side by side on the table, and any one not previously informed will take the imitation and reject the real article every time. Mr. Carpenter, of the Essex House, tried his boarders with it, and when all had pronounced it excellent butter, he told them what it really was.

Court commended yesterday with a pretty full docket, and it is doubtful if the whole can be got through with this week.

Contrary to general expectation, Mr. Blackburn, of Victoria, B. C., is here to prosecute Dr. Murphy, for the crime of adultery with his (Blackburn's) wife.

DAYTON.

March 26, 1883.

Band out serenading last week.

Judge B. F. Dowell, of Jacksonville, spent Sunday here.

Judge Townsend, of the "Register," was in town, Saturday.

A delegation of the G. A. R. assisted at a muster, here, last Saturday evening.

The Dayton flouring mills have let the contract for the piling for an extensive warehouse, which they will build this season.

Hon. O. P. Mason delivered an interesting course of scientific lectures on Astronomy, Evolution and Lost Continents, the first of the week.

The Webfoot M. E. Sunday School have appointed committees to arrange for a May-Day Pic-Nic, to which all neighboring schools are invited.

The Easter concert by the Sunday School at Webfoot was a pleasant entertainment. The exercises opened with an anthem by Mrs. Shipley, Miss Wolf and Messrs. Stephens and Winter. The aged Dr. Farnsworth gave an interesting address on "Christ's Resurrection." The music "One of the Sweet Old Chapters," by Miss Wolf and Mr. Winter, "Something Still to Do," by Mrs. Wolf and Mr. Winter, "The Old Sexton," by Mr. Winter, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," by Mr. Stephens, and "Some Good to Do," by the Misses Covert, was excellent in all its parts. "No other Substitute for Christianity," a select reading by Miss Mary Jones, was well rendered. Recitations and declamations helped to make out the long programme and keep up the interest to the close. We noticed nothing at the concert different from concerts in the city, except that every woman brought her baby, and every man his dog—if he had one; if not, some one else brought two.

NORTH YAMHILL.

March 26, 1883.

Mr. Licens, Wm. Wirts and Chas. Morris, all of the Grove, are in town, but intend to return to-morrow.

Rev. H. C. Morgan, wife and others of this place have been attending the meetings at Dayton, the past week, but returned to-day.

Mr. Barney and Swanson are at work on Ball & Co.'s new saw mill, near St. Joe.

The farmers cannot grumble now about rain—unless they have too much to suit them.

Mr. Nedery returned last week from a trip in Southern Oregon, and left us to-day for a trip east of the mountains.

Uncle Aaron Payne is very low. He is 93 years old, and it will be hard for a man of his age to recover.

Mr. T. M. Laughlin has put a new sidewalk through the lane running north from the postoffice—something that has been long needed.

Born—to the wife of Chas. Kuykendall, a fine girl. Charley says he has other girls, but none that can come up to this one.

Elder Ross, of Hillsboro, staid over Sunday with his daughter, Mrs. Thos. Buckingham.

James Smith and wife and Miss Minnie Laughlin, of the Grove, are in town visiting their brother, Mr. T. M. Laughlin.

Dr. Hammer Schmidt, Wm. Lewis, Daniel Busby and Chas. Salfisky are improving their lots by putting a new fence around them.

The neck-tie party given last Friday evening by the L. O. of G. T. was well attended, and everything went off smoothly, and all who attended were well satisfied. The net proceeds were about $15.

J. R. Sawyer's team became frightened by some means at D. P. Trullinger's grist mill one day last week, and run down to the foot of the Castle hill, doing no damage to themselves or the hack to which they were attached, but they jumped into the back end of Wm. Ball's buggy, throwing him out on one side and John Green out on the other, but doing them no bodily injury. Lucky for them that they escaped so easily. But Mr. Sawyer acted the gentleman in the matter.

TRAVELER.

March 27, 1883.

Equinoctial storm.

Butter scarce in this section.

"Old lady Cary" of Independence, was down visiting her daughter, Mrs. S. A. McKune, Saturday and Sunday.

Where are our city officials and marshals? We would like to call your attention to those hogs that are running loose in town.

F. A. Cook can be found at his agricultural business at any time on the corner opposite Rollins and Hale's store.

Several of our lady teachers of this place expect to attend the Teacher's Institute at Independence, during the week.

We learn that Miss Julia Jacobs of this place was married to Henry Rubles of Eola last Wednesday.

Have you seen McCarter & Alderman's display of agricultural implements in their new hall?

H. B. Tingle is doing a good business in the livery line and intends giving his stable a new coat of paint.

R. W. Lane is doing a rushing business in the mercantile line. He is receiving a supply of goods of every description every day from SauFrancisco and New York.

R. W. Phillips sowed 420 acres of grain during the fine weather with ten teams. Mr. Phillips seems to be going into the farming business extensively. He says he has purchased 200 acres of Daniel Putnam's farm joining his on the west, paying $8,000 for it. Mr. Phillips is going to be the boss farmer of this county yet.

A. S.

March 26, 1883.

It is raining and everybody pleased.

R. Gant and J. K. Conner go courting this week.

Born March 23d to the wife of J. W. Sparks a son. John grins now all over his face like a woman with new teeth.

Star Southmayd moved last week up to Gopher Valley on S. Potter's place and a Mr. Harris moved where he moved from on M. V. Ensley's place.

A tramp stopped at a house one day last week when the folks were away from the house except a little girl and she being afraid of the rude looking stranger, to prevent him from coming into the house put the dogs after him, they taking hold of him, and when he got loose made a hasty retreat.

One day last week while Willard Buell, a boy thirteen years old was harrowing for Kirk Conner with four horses they got away from him and made things quite lively for awhile; the field being clear and they running in a circle were stopped without doing much damage.

Sunday, while a train of cars loaded with ties was nearing Ballston going up to Sheridan, some of the boys wanting to take a ride flagged the train and had it to stop; by some means or other in switching three of the cars were ditched and considerable damage done to others. The conductor offered a reward of ten dollars to know the parties; but who knew?

BELLEVUE.

March 26, 1883.

The drought is played out. Oregon weather has again come to the rescue. Wild oats and French pink will flourish once more.

Those who feared a drought are disappointed and are rejoicing with gladness to see the Oregon mist again.

J. C. Fowler has taken a relapse and is bed fast again with inflammatory rheumatism.

Three of our citizens are rustivating at Lafayette this week as jurors. S. Stevens, P. Barnedregt and B. Antrim are the lucky ones.

Mr. M. B. Hedrick has a surplus of seed wheat. Persons wishing any can be accommodated by calling soon as he talks of shipping it to Salem shortly.

Mr. Parker of McMinnville, poked his smiling phiz into our sanctum the other day. He was accompanied by Mr. Hoberg Jr. Always welcome friends; call again.

L. C. Forest is preparing to re-shingle his store. Wm. Fowler is making them and is a first class shingle maker. Parties wanting any shingles should call and see his work.

I understand that Mr. John Crawford lost one of his children last week but did not learn the cause of its death.

Mr. Davis has a singing school at the church for the benefit of the young folks and for improvement of the Sabbath School.

The horse disease has mostly disappeared from this neighborhood. Mr. Galloway saved his with prompt remedies.

Mr. Kirkwood and A. P. Magness are getting their respective hop orchards in shape for spring. They are looking for good prices again.

LOCAL.

March 19, 1883.

Dr. Jessup was up home yesterday.

Wild flowers are making their appearance.

Most of the farmers have their wheat resown.

Some are putting in their garden seeds, but I think it is pretty early yet. We are liable to have some pretty rough weather yet this spring.

A great many have been putting out young orchards this pretty spell; it is a good time as the ground is in fine fix.

Born March 11th, to the wife of Noah Heater, a fine son, and also on the 14th to the wife of Alfred Reese a son. I tell you we will have boys to tear out this brush by and by.

Edwards & Hobson are putting up a new addition to their store.

The delegates from this place to the S. S. Convention at McMinnville report having a good time and very much revived in the S. S. work.

The Band of Hope met yesterday, and organized. Their next meeting will be held on the 23d of April at 2 p. m.

Still there are some sick horses in this part of the county, and it is queer that it holds on so long especially when it is such fine weather.

LATER, March 26 1883.

A nice old fashioned Oregon shower to-day.

E. Blair of Dayton was down on a visit yesterday.

G. W. Dimmick of Hubbard station visited the Good Templar's Lodge last Saturday evening and on Sunday lectured on "Temperance," which was good.

Misses Samantha and Laura Winters are visiting at McMinnville.

Mrs. Benjamin Heater has gone to Portland with her youngest child to have his eyes doctored.

J. R. Hunt and N. L. Wiley started for Lafayette this morning; of course they went for the purpose of doing some courting.

Mrs. Henry Austin and family who have been east of the mountains for a few years have returned to Webfoot again. Mr. A. will return as soon as he can get his business settled up.

W. S. and C. T. Tooze have returned from a visit at Salem.

There will be a "Mothers'" meeting held here next Sabbath at 3 p. m. to be conducted by Rev. Mary Edwards.

The dedication of the Evangelical Church situated on Chehalum mountain will take place next Sabbath at 11 a. m.

Miss Maranda Hadley closed her school at this place last Friday and as far as I can hear gave good satisfaction.

Grandma Clark is quite poorly at present, caused principally by a bad cold.

Most everyone is rejoicing to see a nice shower, and by the fresh appearance of the grass and grain it seems to say that it rejoices too.

Most of the flowers were killed about here during the freeze, but it seems that the daisies suffered the worst of any for there are but very few left.
