CARLTON.

April 3, 1883.

Read the REPORTER.
Who said dry season?
The farmers are anxiously waiting for the ground to dry, so as to finish their seeding.
Carlton needs a boot and shoe maker; uncle Jimmy has retired. Bring on your last and awl.

The citizens of Carlton are petitioning for a new depot building. It is something much needed and Carlton is deserving of it.

Jake has traded horses; has now a 2:15 nag and thinks he is now able to get away with that girl at Dayton.—Success to you, J. B.

The regular passenger trains pass at this place under the new time card at 12:20. Won't some energetic man start a lunch stand for the benefit of hungry passengers?

Mr. E. L. Peckham, of the firm of Peckham & Ogden, spent a few days with us last week. He expects to move his family to Carlton about May 1st. Come along, Ed; Harry needs you.

M. A. Rounds returned last Saturday from Eastern Oregon, where he has been stopping for some time past. He reports times lively in the "bunch grass" country, and expects to return to that part of the State, soon.

The new local passenger train—running from McMinnville to Portland—passed through our city Monday morning at 6:15 bound for Portland, and at 7:33 p. m. for McMinnville, with but few passengers. Carlton was represented by a passenger on its first trip. This train has been put on for the accommodation of the people and I hope will be profitable to the company.

Our school closed last Saturday evening with literary exercises. The programme was well selected and very interesting. The "Cuts boarding school," by Miss Minnie Perceus, was one of the gems of the evening. Mr. K. Kelsey read a very enjoyable piece in prose. As a school the exercises were a grand success, showing the ability of Prof. Hendrix as a teacher in elocution as well as a teacher of primary studies. The people of Carlton can do no better than to secure the Prof. to teach our fall and winter school.

Carlton has made a number of improvements within the past sixty days, and there is more to follow. L. Fouts intends building a dwelling house on his land just east of the depot; F. M. Roberts has contracted for the lumber for a two-story dwelling which he intends building this fall.—We are glad to note these improvements, and hope they will continue. There is not a town in the county that has a nicer location for a large city than Carlton. CALAMITY.

LAFAYETTE.

April 3, 1883.

Court still continues to grind, and people continue to come and go, some on legal war intent, others with no intent at all. But the latter were very scarce.

Among the visitors of last week we noticed G. W. Snyder, once the boss of the REPORTER, George Myers, of Wamato, David Ramsey, of Newberg, and the irrepressible A. V. R. (and I don't know how many more letters) Snyder and Warren, present proprietors of the REPORTER.

J. T. Hembree and Frank Large went off on a prospecting tour to hunt a better place than Yamhill. But after going almost to the extreme of Uncle Sam's farm, they returned better pleased with the Willamette valley than ever before.

J. H. Clark, former proprietor of the Vox Populi saloon, has located at Riddle, Douglas county, where his family will join him about the 1st of next month.

George Hulery and wife have been spending several days here with his brother.

Frank Large will move to Portland the last of the week. Frank wants to be a metropolitan for a while.

A. R. Eastman had the misfortune to cut the end of his thumb so nearly off that but a small shred was left to heal.

April 1st—"all fools' day"—was observed here to some extent and tricks of various kinds were played upon unsuspecting victims. The landlord's trick was to supply his candlesticks with candles made from potatoes, and then laugh to hear them swear at the wick that wouldn't burn.

The Grand Jury returned four true bills and were discharged last Saturday. Of the long list of cases on the docket, a few went through lightly, namely, a larger number were kicked out somehow, and a goodly share remain as a nucleus for the next term. This term will end to-morrow. I would try and give a more minute detail of the court business, only I suppose you will get it all from another and better source.

R. S. James, of Amity, was down Saturday on business.

Notwithstanding the scarcity of wheat, our grist mill keeps on its pulverizing process pretty nearly all the time. And you may be sure we all feel very grateful to know that we are certain of our bread, even if we have to eat it without butter, or only "bull butter," for which we have to thank California, and send her the money she needs, but of no use to us. NAT.

AMITY.

April 3d 1883.

All fools' day last Sunday.
Dr. E. E. Goucher returned home from Montana yesterday.

The south bound train having changed time arrives at Amity at half past one instead of half past twelve.

Mark Hayden, a blacksmith at this place intend moving his family here soon.

Remember the Band of Hope will meet next Sunday at three o'clock in the Baptist Church.

Levi Leland lectured on "Temperance" to crowded houses last Friday and Sunday evenings at this place.

Hurrah! Hurrah! The citizens of Amity are going to celebrate the 4th of July with a grand old fashioned barbecue.

Mrs. Thomas Levens was quite ill for some time, keeping her bed most of the time.

John Sanders, living near Amity, had several relatives arrive at this place from some portion of the east last Tuesday. We learn that they came for the purpose of locating near here.

Wm. Buffum has purchased the S. M. Hubbard property and Henry Edwards bought the corner lot adjoining on the south and intends erecting a residence this summer. Mother Kumor says that Henry expects to take in a partner ere long in the way of a house keeper. A. S.

WILLAMINA.

April 2, 1883.

Our Sunday School was well attended yesterday.

This is the time of year to put "earmuffs" on your fruit trees.

Mrs. Mary Brisbane, of this place, is visiting friends and relatives at North Yamhill, and that is why Austin whistles so loud.

Several relatives of Wm. Goodrich, near this place came on a visit from the East, arrived last Saturday.

A Lodge of Good Templars was organized here last Tuesday evening with twenty-two members. Following is a list of officers installed for the ensuing term: W. C. T. Perry Morgan, W. V. T. Mrs. Langdon; R. S. Wm. Goodrich; Asst. Sec., Mrs. Goodrich; F. S., James Millsaps; P. W. C. T. also Lodge Deputy, R. M. Gilbert; Marshal, Austin Brisbane; D. M., Mrs. Jennie Millsaps; Treas., Susie Millsaps; R. S. W. C., Jennie Kearney; L. S. W. C., Tinnie Millsaps; I. G., Minnie Kearney; O. G., Charles Morgan; Chaplain, Wisdom Millsaps.

Spring is slowly coming on, and our fair ones are anxiously awaiting the new fashion. They want to know whether the spring bonnet will be built of four straws and one ribbon or three straws and four roses. A man always looks through his pockets four times before handing his coat to his wife to have a button sewed on, and even then he is filled with a nameless fear until the job is completed.

A recent scientific authority says that an acre of land contains six tons of worms. Science is a great thing; yet it will be extremely difficult to convince us that the above statement is true, for when we wanted "worms for bait" we dug up about half an acre of the back lot and only found three insignificant angle worms for a whole day's fishing.

We learn from parties living near Grand Ronde that a Mr. Kuykendall lost three head of work cattle, last week. It is supposed they died from the effects of eating a poisonous herb.

Our boys returned from court the latter part of the week, looking as if they had seen hard times in Lafayette.

The wheat which was sown in this section during the fair weather, is coming up, and some fields look quite green, although the early sown will be ruined with wild oats.

Feed of all kinds is scarce, and at high prices. Hay is selling at $20 per ton; oats 65 to 75 cents per bushel. W. L. A. MINER.

NORTH YAMHILL.

April 2d 1883.

The weather looks now as if the farmers could soon go to seeding again.

Mr. Ned Hadaway of Dayton was in town last Saturday.

Wm. Burton was up from Portland and remained over Sunday with his mother and Wes.

Uncle Aaron Payne is no better; the doctor thinks it doubtful if he ever gets around again.

Prof. E. H. Anderson, of Lafayette, was in town yesterday. It seems like days of old to see Ed on our streets.

Henry McKern has returned from his visit to Eugene City.

Rev. Edmunds left to-day to join some friends in Portland, lately from the states. He will go east of the mountains in search of a place suitable for a colony, and if successful will move his family there.

Lewis Hutt while playing ball had his knee put out of place and is quite lame.

David Knight and family intend moving to the Spokane country as soon as the weather will permit.

Al, when ever you take another "Run out North" run in and see a fellow a moment.

Mrs. Noble and child from Coos Bay made her sister, Mrs. Kate Dempsey, a visit, last week. She has been away three years.

Our butcher shop has changed hands again. It will now be carried on by Wm. Lewis. William understands the business and we trust will give satisfaction.

David Steward of the Grove made a hurried trip in town last Saturday on business. He had the misfortune to break his wrist but is getting along nicely now.

Mrs. Mary Roberts, formerly of this place now living at Tacoma, is in town visiting relatives and friends. We understand she has speculated in mines over there and done well.

Quarterly meeting was held yesterday at the Hutchcroft school house.—Revs. L. T. Jones, H. C. Morgan, T. Atkinson and Sails from East Portland were in attendance.

Yesterday, a man came to town and was very much surprised to find the town so quiet, and learning it was Sunday started home to tell the news. It would be a good idea for him to get a few almanacs and study them carefully.

The "Register" correspondent from this place says this side of Tillamook.—We thank him very much for his praise of our tuba player, but as there are no bands between here and Tillamook it isn't much of a puff.

A young man, for the first time, thought he would take a young lady to the neck-tie party, and don't you think another young man coaxed that lady to go home with him. That was very wrong especially where a young man is just starting out. But young man don't give up. If at first you don't succeed, try, try again, but look out for that other fellow.

TRAVELER.

BELLEVUE.

April 2d 1883.

Bellvue has taken the base ball fever.

J. W. Sparks' boy happened to be a girl.

One extreme generally follows another, so we have it.

Somebody got their nose scratched—eh?

Mrs. Baker of Lafayette, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Wm. Galloway.

There are a couple of sons who want to get married but they are so confounded ugly the girls won't even look at them.

Miss Green, of McMinnville, has been employed to teach the Bellvue school; did not learn when it was to commence.

Relatives of Uncle Aaron Payne were visiting him last week and report him some better, but is very feeble.

Dr. Leland lectured at the school house last Tuesday evening. Mr. Leland is a good talker and makes plenty of fun for the boys. Come again.

Mr. Nathan Small's son is very sick with some lingering disease and his friends are doubtful of his recovery.

Mr. J. O. Guild has bought Nathan Small's farm and also a track of the Raleigh estate, paying something over $4,000. Mr. G. intends putting stock on his place as it is mostly hilly and better for grazing than for grain. BELLEVUE.

MIDDLETON.

March 25, 1883.

Items, scarce.

A. W. Wright is teaching a singing class.

Mrs. D. F. Wright will teach the school at this place.

F. M. Olds has gone to the Sound to work this summer.

The saw mill at this place is being repaired, and new machinery being put in.

Farmers are nearly through seeding. We have no wild oats to bother us.—Perhaps the land is too poor to grow them.

C. H. Hale closed his term of singing school at Mountain Side, last Friday night. He is the "boss" teacher, having taught nine terms this winter.

Miss Rosa Olds is engaged to teach the school in Wilson Cook's district, this summer. Miss Alice Downing will take her place as clerk in the store of Olds & Tyson.

Why can't Yamhill have a County Temperance Alliance? As a member of Newberg Lodge I am interested in the cause in Yamhill. Judging from the interest taken in the State Alliance, that Newberg will do her part in the work. Let every correspondent agitate the matter, and see if Yamhill can't have a rousing Lodge. The County Deputies ought to look after this matter. RAMBLER.
