TOWN AND COUNTY.

A Fancy Runaway.—While engaged in the pursuit of one or more items, we noticed a splendid team of horses, with a dancing devil of restlessness and equine high spirits in their eyes, standing with loosened lines by one of our magnificent dry goods stores. Then it struck us that here was what we wanted! All we had to do was to give those intelligent brutes, with the Satan in their visual organs, a hint to git! and we should have a run-away of frightful dimensions, ready made.... Whether it was our fancy started them, we can't say; but suppose it was, for with a rapidly accelerated walk, trot, and run, we saw a vision of dust and dismay flying along the streets of our usually quiet and beautiful village. O, how those horses did run!—We thought of how Ichabod Crane send through the classic shades of Sleepy Hollow, with the wild huntsman at his heels. Rosinante, Bucephalus, and other great names, swept vividly across our startled mind, with the recollection of Lightfoot, a pony "which our infancy knew," and which also ran away with us, furnished dramatic side thrills as an accompaniment to the principal tragedies to be naturally apprehended from the flight of a pair of such magnificently reckless horses, down our busy streets. While we were getting pencil and note-book in order, with a suitably lugubrious expression of countenance to do justice to the horrors of such a spectacle, a feeling of remorse that we had let our fancy go so far, seized us, and looking again, under that impulse, we discovered that the horses had n't, after all, moved from where they first stood. After which, of course we felt happy once more, and trudged on in search of another item.

Accident.—On Wednesday afternoon Arthur Charman, son of Maj. Thomas Charman of this city, while out riding his horse, was thrown. He held on to the bridle rein, and the horse, a spirited one, in its effort to get away, stepped upon the boy's groin inflicting painful wounds. He was picked up and carried to Dr. Barclay's office, where the wounds were properly dressed, and afterwards was taken to his room at the residence of his father. We are pleased to know that the injuries are not considered fatal, and that he will again be about in a few weeks.

Marriages.—We have been grumbled at for not publishing marriages enough—this is n't all our fault. Look at the list this week. Five wise pair of people, no less, have turned from the error of their ways. Among them, one is a first class elopement; another a Senator of the United States! Say; Aint we doing well? If we were at all inclined to give good advice, gratis, we would suggest to two or three rather reverend looking old Bachelors, who sometimes drop into our sanctum, that they "go and do likewise."

Furniture.—We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Messrs. Levy & Fechheimer, in to-day's paper. The harvest is now over, better times are at hand, and people will want to purchase more furniture, as well as other things, and Messrs. L. & Co.'s is a good place to get it. We took a look at their rooms, the other day, and found them stored with all kinds of articles, some very fine indeed, and recommend those wishing to purchase to also take a peep at their stock.

Hats and Caps.—The styles for fall and winter, 1867, will be introduced to-day, September 7th, at Meussdorffer & Bro's hat and cap manufactory, 72 Front street. Those gentlemen say: We wish to call special attention to the choice variety of latest novelties selected by our Mr. Meussdorffer, at Paris, London and New York, which arrived by the last steamer. Also the Sitka hat which is manufactured and sold at 72 Front street, river side, Portland, Oregon.

Rubber Clothing.—Attention is called to the advertisement of the Rubber Clothing Company of San Francisco. The rainy season is near at hand, and our readers are advised to patronize Mr. Fraser, or, if purchases cannot be made direct from the Company, then buy of such merchants as keep the Company's goods on hand. The firm is composed of reliable men, who thoroughly understand their business.

Our new Neighbors.—We own no real property up town, but we have felt a little lonesome down here on Main street, hence it is gratifying to us to see new neighbors moving in to fill up the vacancies. Our fellow craftsman, Mr. John Fleming, has now his book store well arranged across the street, and Mr. Myers, of the market late in Moss' building, has opened just under us.

Base Ball.—The boys of Tumwater club, in this city, chartered the Senator last Saturday and gave an excursion to Portland. While there they played the Young Pioneers a return game, wining the match by 12 runs. The playing is highly spoken of by all who witnessed it, some of the older devotes of the sport giving up entirely that the juveniles have saved the credit of the city.

Gone East.—Mr. Maxwell Ramsby left via Salt Lake city, on Thursday evening last, on a visit to his old friends in Indiana. He will return to Oregon next Spring, Providence permitting, when he can no doubt report himself tired enough of his stay in the hyperborean regions of the Middle and Western States. We wish him much pleasure in his travels.

Better late than never.—Bro. C. T. Locey has laid upon our table a copy of the minutes of the annual meeting of the Congregational Association held in this city last June. We see nothing in it that called for the "heaps" of abuse piled upon Bro. Knight's head and shoulders by the Albany Democrat.

In the Trenches.—Men are busy excavating for the street mains of the Water Company, and before next Saturday night one of those fine iron street hydrants will appear in front of this office. Three hydrants have been placed in position already.

City Council.—In consequence of Mayor Ralston and other members of the City Council having business with Messrs Lee & Ryland on Monday evening last, there was no meeting of the Board. It will take place on Monday evening next, however.

Will Stay.—It gives us pleasure to say that Mr. J. T. Wortley, Superintendent at the woolen factory, has permanently located in this city, having given up his proposed trip to the Atlantic States. His family is now here, at home with him.

County Court.—The County Court, Judge Matlock and Commissioners presiding, has been in session in this city this week. The usual business of the Court was transacted.

Oswego Iron.—The steamer Senator made a special trip from this city on Wednesday, bringing up a quantity of iron from the Oswego works, for shipment above.

Home Vegetables.—We never saw finer cauliflowers, green corn, or potatoes, than such as Mr. Peter M. Rinearson delivers to his customers in this city. They are grown on his own farm.

AN OREGON LETTER.

The following letter of information in regard to the resources of Oregon is from the pen of Mr. John Minto, of Marion Co., and was written at the instance of a gentleman in Salem, in answer to an eastern inquiry respecting this State. We think it well worth preserving, and hope it will be extensively circulated. We shall print a few thousand copies of it in circular form, and furnish them to all who desire to have them on hand, to be enclosed with a letter at any time, at 75 cents per 100 copies—or, we furnish them in any desired quantity, to order, at $4 per 1,000 copies, which barely covers the cost of printing. Provided, that such orders are received within 30 days:

You Ask:

I.—What kind of a country is Oregon for farming?

II.—Is the country, in its wild state, covered with forest?

III.—Are the people afflicted much with fever and ague?

IV.—How far is the Willamette in a direct line from the ocean?

V.—Do the rivers and streams abound in fish?

VI.—Is it profitable to raise sheep?

VII.—Is the Valley subject to frequent inundations?

VIII.—How expensive are partly improved farms, with buildings thereon?

ANSWERS AND REMARKS.

Oregon is pre-eminently a good country for farming. Perhaps a comparison between Oregon and Massachusetts, with regard to some products, would be the best means I could adopt to impress this upon your mind. By reference to the 8th census you will see that Oregon, with a population of 52,465, produced of wheat 822,408 bushels, and 909,204 bushels of oats. Massachusetts, with her 1,231,066 inhabitants, produced 199,786 bushels of wheat, and 1,180,075 bushels of oats. Indeed, Oregon does not fall far behind the entire New England States in the production of wheat which stands first amongst grains fit for human food. It has been remarked by many intelligent observers who have visited this coast, that Oregon possesses a remarkable fecundating power. This fertility does not lie in her soil exclusively; for richness of soil I think she will bear comparison with some of the Western States. It must be mainly owing to her mild and uniform seasons, and its existence is seen in animal as well as vegetable life. The tendency of domestic animals here is to breed too early; and the tendency of our apple, pear, and plum orchards is to early overbearing. The uniformity of the seasons, one with another, is such that, during a residence of over 23 years here, I have never known the apple-tree to fail to bear, or the wheat to yield a harvest—generally abundant for the means used to procure it. Wheat and oats are our principal crops, being most convenient, and yielding the greatest return for the labor and care they require. There are farmers in the Willamette valley who believe they can fatten pork on wheat here with less labor than they used to fatten it on corn, on rich Illinois corn lands.

Second, Oregon may properly be divided into two districts—East and West—which differ very materially as regards climate. That portion of the State lying east of the Cascade mountains, which divide it in nearly a north and south direction, is hotter and dryer in the summer, and colder and dryer in the winter, than the western portion. In extent it embraces more than half the area of the State, and consists mainly of narrow but exceedingly fertile valleys and high, dry table lands, mostly covered with a short and very nutritious bunch grass. The scarcity of timber in this region makes cattle herding and sheep raising the chief pursuits, aside from gold and silver mining. The valleys would supply breadstuffs for four times the population that is now there, and more than three-fourths of the country is yet unoccupied even for the purposes of grazing. Toward the eastern boundary of the State the land assumes a barren character, where artemisia, or wild sage, is the prevailing growth.

WESTERN OREGON

Is divided into three principal valleys—the Willamette, the Umpqua, and the Rogue river. In their "wild state" each contain a large proportion of prairie land, covered with a variety of grasses and clovers. Of these valleys the Willamette is by far the most extensive, and is the largest compact body of good farming land on the Pacific slope. It is estimated to contain 3,000,000 acres of arable land, so interspersed with belts of timber, and streams of living water, as to make it difficult to conceive of a place better fitted by nature for the use of civilized man.

Third, There is very little fever and ague here; what there is, is so confined to a few localities, that it is not counted among the ills of life here.

Fourth, The Willamette river has its sources in the Cascade, Calapooia and Coast ranges of mountains. The 1st bounds it on the east, the 2d on the south separating it from the Umpqua valley and the Coast range—which is connected with the Cascade range by the Calapooia, stretching across the head of the valley, and bounds it on the west, separating it from the coast line, with which its course is nearly parallel from south and north, at an average distance of about 70 miles. About midway of its course of one hundred and 40 miles, the river tends to the west, and at Corvallis it is but 40 miles from the waters of Yaquina Bay, to which place there is now a good wagon road. On the west side of the Coast range the climate is again modified by the influence of the ocean, the dews fall more copiously, and rain is more frequent, consequently grass keeps green late into the season; circumstances all indicate that this will be the dairy region of Oregon—and experience at those points where settlements are already formed in this region, confirm the facts so indicated. At some of these points—as Tillamook bay, Yaquina, Alsea, and Coos bays, there are thriving settlements. The country generally is covered with forests of larch, spruce, hemlock, cedar, red, yellow, and white fir, of such dimensions as it is difficult for a resident of the Atlantic seaboard to conceive of, and hazardous to any man's character for veracity to describe. The forest lands of this State can scarcely be said to be touched yet, for purposes of cultivation.

Fifth, There is not a great variety of fish in the rivers and streams of Oregon. We have all the varieties of the trout family, however, at the head of which is the Salmon. Salmon of excellent quality enter the Columbia river, and run up into most of its tributaries. The falls of the Willamette, (nearly 40 feet perpendicular, at Oregon City,) intercept their further progress up that river, and at that point there is excellent fishing. Sturgeon are caught in the Columbia, and there is also a kind of chub which is said to be of fine quality. Little attention is yet paid to any kind of fish except salmon and oysters which latter are cultivated at Yaquina bay.

Sixth, Sheep raising is profitable here as compared with other branches of farming. Wool raising is being adopted as a pursuit by many of our citizens. The wool produced in western Oregon is found to be of a very superior quality, and the extensive grazing lands of eastern Oregon, and the market for mutton furnished by the mining camps, is inducing many to adopt sheep husbandry there. It is now one of the most important interests in the State, and together with the manufacture of woolen goods, is destined to become more and more important.

Seventh, Such a thing as freshets during the summer season is not known in Oregon—with the exception of the regular rise in the Columbia, which is caused by the melting of snow in the far interior. These waters reach the lower Columbia from the middle to the end of June, and occasionally do some damage. The bottom lands are not extensive, however, and the water usually subsides in time for those who farm these lands to raise crops upon them. In 23 years I have never seen the waters of Willamette, or its tributaries, discolored in the least by a summer rain. Between the middle of June and the middle of October it does not often rain so as to lay the dust, and a thunder shower is a rare occurrence in Oregon. From about the middle of October it commences to rain at intervals, which shorten as winter approaches. By the middle of December the wet weather channels are usually full of water; a great overflow is not common. We had high floods in November 1844, in December 1861, and one not so high in 1850. The difference between the summer and winter flow of water is well defined, and is easily guarded against.

Eighth, The price of partly improved farms vary considerably, according to locality, quality, etc. Land can be bought within a circle of five miles around Salem at $10 to $100 per acre; within ten miles, at $5 to $25. Eight to ten dollars per acre will buy good lands within convenient distances of towns. Excellent opened timbered lands, with improvements, in some instances can be bought within ten miles of Oregon City, at from $5 to $10 per acre. Sheep ranges in Umpqua valley can be had for $2 to $5 per acre. These are gold prices, and lands can be purchased of the State at $2 to $10 in currency; or taken up under the homestead or pre-emption laws, and cost in manner nothing.

In conclusion, I would say there is room in Oregon for tens of thousands more of industrious people. We are a much mixed up community, coming as we do from every State in the Union, and from nearly every State in Europe; but Christian missionaries were the pioneers of civilization here. The influence of their example and teachings have not been lost. As a proof of this I will close by a comparison between Oregon and other new States, as a law abiding and order loving community. Previous to the breaking out of the great rebellion the materials for the State census had all been collected. These statistics give the number of deaths by murder in the State of Texas for the year ending June 1st, 1860, as 65, and the number of executions, one. In Oregon for the same period the deaths by murder were 2, and the executions 3. John Minto.

The Markets.—On Saturday last Messrs. McCraken, Merrill & Co., of Portland, issued the following circular to their correspondents:

There has been a marked improvement in trade generally since our last, and especially in Oregon produce. Hams still continue in good demand and the supply light. Bacon sides have been in request at advanced rates—the stock has been much reduced within the past fortnight by parties buying to hold and orders from the interior. Flour has been shipped to San Francisco as fast as received, and is bringing fair rates. Our markets could with difficulty furnish sufficient to supply orders from Victoria per last Fideliter. The prospects for the coming year continue fair, and we think there will be a market for our surplus flour and wheat at about present rates.

Dried fruits have fallen off a little, probably in view of a large incoming crop. Green fruits are exceedingly abundant, and hardly pay expense of packing and freight to this place.

Flour—No change in price—ranging from $4 00 to $5 00 per barrel.

Wheat—We understand the mills are offering 50c. delivered in gunnies on river bank—but little offering here, as the harvest season still continues.

Oats—Continue scarce, and readily command 40 and 45c.

Bacon—Sides, 12 and 12½c; hams, 20 and 22; shoulders, 8 and 9c.

Lard—In tins, 10½c. and 11c. Stock on hand light, with fair demand. Kegs, 10c.

Butter—Packed solid, 10 and 12c. In brine, choice, 20 and 25c. Isthmus, 25 and 30c.

Eggs—In good demand—22c. to 25c.

Dried Fruits—Apples, 10 to 12¼c. Peaches, 12½c. and 15c. Plums, none.

Sugar—Island, 12½ to 14c; San Francisco C. 15c; Crushed, in bbls, 16½c; half bbls., 17c.

Syrup—Heavy Golden, best brands, 85c; Island, in bbls., 35c.

Rice—Hawaiian, 10 c; China, No. 1, 7½c.

Coffee—Java, 27c; Rio, but little in market, 21c; Costa Rica, 21½c.

Fish—Salmon, bbls, $10; half bbls, $5 50; Mackerel, $14; kits, 3 50; Codfish, 10c.

Salt—Carmen Island 100 lb. sks, 27 50; Dairy 50 lb. sks, $32 50; best Bay, 100 lb. sks, $25; 10 lb. sks, 18c; 5 lb. sks, 10c; 3 lb. sks, 8c.

Sitka Linament.—This new preparation, said to be such a specific for rhumatism, is for sale at the store of Maj. Thomas Charman, in this city.

Not a Cousin.—John G. says the "camel" traveling with Lee & Ryland is no relative of his—not even collaterally related.

New Wagon shop.—Mr. A. J. Marshall has opened a new shop in this city for the repair and manufacture of all kinds of vehicles.

The Railroad.—The country is alive with excitement on account of the railroad, which will soon be commenced at Portland, to run to California. An immense travel will throng this road, bringing thousands of persons to Barman's City of Paris store, in order to purchase of that firm their clothing.

Smuggling.—When a good article that comes under the head of import dues is sold for less than duties, it is surmisable that it has been brought into the country surrepticiously. David Cole of Salem did not smuggle his stock, but he can sell stoves, etc., cheaper than any other man in Oregon. He does do it—and intends to keep on doing it.

Wait a few Days.—Those ladies who wish to purchase truly good, cheap and handsome Dress Patterns, should wait until Kohn & Fishel receive their new stock by the steamer now due. To those gentlemen who come here strangers, we would say: Do not be deceived by clap-trap advertisements, but go to Kohn & Fishel's either for fashionable or durable clothing—you will there get an honest, square bargain. Remember: New stock of goods early next week.

MARRIED—At the residence of the bride's parents, on Butte Creek, August 29th, by Rev. G. C. Roe, Mr. C. C. Garrett and Miss R. J. Ross, all of Clackamas county.

At the County Auditor's office, Vancouver, W. T., Sept. 2d, by Jos. Brant, J. P., Mr. C. H. Holdredge and Miss M. J. Roop, of this county.

At Eugene City, August 26th, by Rev. J. McCormick, Mr. S. G. Benson, son of Rev. Dr. Benson, of Portland, and Miss Ida Currey, of Eugene

At the residence of the bride's father, near Oregon City, September 4th, by Rev. W. I. Cosper, Mr. J. H. Brown and Miss Elizabeth McCubbin.

At Trinity Church, Portland, at 8 o'clock in the evening of the 4th inst., by Rev. Wm. Stoy, Hon. George H. Williams and Mrs. Kate A. George.

Of this event the Oregonian says: The church was filled to overflowing to witness the distinguished nuptials. The bride was dressed richly and beautifully. The bridal party retired to the residence of Recorder Hoffman, who gave them and their numerous friends a handsome and cordial reception. We add our blessing and good wishes.

DIED.—At the residence of Judge S. S. White, in this county, on Tuesday morning, Sept. 3d, 1867, Harriet A., wife of W H. Rockfellow, aged 27 years.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!
A Pure and Powerful Tonic,
Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.
PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.
Prevents Fever and Ague and Billious Remittent Fevers; fortifies the system against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water; invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels;
Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.
REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.
Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, genial, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant; but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants, with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aprient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits, and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.

As a Genuine Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay, and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and inocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day. SOLD EVERYWHERE.

Essence of Jamaica Ginger.

THIS Valuable preparation, containing in a highly concentrated form all the properties of the Jamaica Ginger, has become one of the most popular domestic remedies for all diseases of the stomach and digestive organs.
As a tonic it will be found invaluable to all persons recovering from debility, whether produced by fever or otherwise, for whilst it imparts to the system all the glow and vigor that can be produced by wine or brandy, it entirely free from the reactionary effects follow the use of spirits of any kind.
It is also an excellent remedy for females who suffer from difficult menstruation, giving almost immediate relief to the spasms that so frequently accompany that period.
It gives immediate relief to nausea, caused by sea-sickness, etc. It is also valuable as an external application for Gout, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc. REDINGTON & CO.

Agents for the Pacific Coast.

WHY WILL YOU DELAY?
We are sorry that there are persons who suffer on day by day month after month, and year by year, when friends and neighbors have been cured of the same malady that afflicts them. Now, it has been proved by substantial evidence that SCOVILL'S BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP will cure the worst case of scrofula, Canker, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, etc.; yet still there are those who neglect this sure and valuable remedy. To such we say, try the syrup and be convinced.
REDINGTON & Co., Agents,
416 and 418 Front street,
San Francisco.

GRAEFENBERG
UTERINE CATHOLICON.
If faithfully used according to directions will cure every case of Diabetes, and greatly mitigate the troublesome effects caused by a relaxation of the outlet of the bladder. It is a most successful remedy for gravel and other diseases of the kidneys and bladder, and for Female diseases is unequalled.
The Catholicon uniformly cures Prolapsus Uteri, Whites, all irregularities of the Monthly period, suppression, incontinence of Urine, Bloating, and Dropsical swellings, and all diseases of pregnancy. The specific action of this medicine is imminent and certain, upon the Uterine and abdominal muscles and ligaments—restoring them to as healthy a state as those of childhood and youth, so that patients who have used the Graefenberg Company's Uterine Catholicon, cannot sufficiently express their gratitude for the relief afforded.

STOP THAT COUGHING
SOME OF YOU CAN'T, AND WE PITY you. You have tried every remedy but the ONE destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supersede all similar preparations. It is not surprising you should be reluctant to try something else after the many experiments you have made of trashy compounds foisted on the public as a certain cure; but
NEWELL'S
Pulmonary Syrup
is really the VERY BEST remedy ever compounded for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis and Consumption. Thousands of people in California and Oregon have been already benefitted by the surprising curative powers of
Pulmonary Syrup
and with one accord give it their unqualified approbation. We now address ourselves to all who are unacquainted with this, the greatest Panacea of the age for the healing of all diseases of the Throat and Lungs, assuring you that has cured thousands and it will cure YOU if you try it.
NEWELL'S
Pulmonary Syrup
This invaluable medicine is pleasant to the taste, soothing, healing and strengthening in its effects; entirely free from all poisonous or deleterious drugs, and perfectly harmless under all circumstances.
Certificates from many prominent citizens of San Francisco accompany every bottle of
NEWELL'S
Pulmonary Syrup
