LETTER FROM BUTTE CREEK. BUTTE CREEK. OREGON, 1

April 7th, 1868. The Union Club of Marquam precinct effected a permanent organization on Saturday, the 4th inst. by electing M. Patterson, President, A. Marquam, Vice President. I. W. Garrett, Secretary, Frank Cooper, Assistant Secretary and Thomas James, Treasurer.

After the organization was effected, Gov. Gibbs was introduced to the large audience of ladies and gentlemen who had assembled to hear him, and delivered a speech which was replete with good sense. stubborn facts, and sound logic; completely vindicating the Union party from the charges preferred against it, and showing up, in a masterly manner, the treacherous character, treasonable history, and ignominious future of the democratic party After the Governor concluded his speech Wm. Mr. Reed is a man of some talent, but he has a very treacherous memory; and judg ng from his speech he has been erjoying a kind of Rip Van Winkle sleep pears to remember, with some degree of party during the seventy years that he says it had control of the nation, but he avers that he had forgotten the existence of such a man as Jo. Jane, and he seems to know nothing more of James Buchanan than that he is a fossilized old fogy, who at some remote period was President of the United States.

There is one chapter in the history of the Democratic party which has escaped h's observation, and he can only remember it as it existed in the early days of its pride and power, when such men as Jeferson, and Jackson and Benton gave it a dignity luster which it will never again njoy. Such modern Democratic stars as ames Buchanan, Jeff. Davis, John B. Floyd, Wirz, Winder, Wilkes Booth, and Andrew Johnson have risen and set while Mr Reed slept.
