Take it easy; done with fretting; Meet your neighbor with a smile, From the rising sun to setting, Live the PRESENT all the while, Take it easy; every vow Make it reference to now.

Take it easy; what is hidden. Or is wrong, or seemeth so, Leave it as a thing forbidden, Out of which a curse may grow, Take it easy; never pry Into what will cause a sigh.

Take it easy; daily turning To the monitor within; On its altar, always burning, Keep an incense free from sin, Take it easy; never fear, While you keep a conscience clear.

Take it easy ; ever leaning To the side of truth and right, Happiness from virtue gleaning. Peace of mind and wisdom bright, Take it easy; for at best Life is but a sorry jest.

AGRICULTURAL. Notice to our Readers.

ceaders of THE WEEKLY ENTERPRISE, to send to the Editor of this paper informa tion on subjects connected with farming gardening, and rural economy. FARM ITEMS. Moss, Esq.

-Last year 2,733 bales of cotton were raised in Southern Illinois.

-By all accounts we have not had so cold a Spring for years. Although a cold Spring is dreaded in May, it is eagerly sought in August. -In Algeria, Africa, and near the towns where Marius mused and Cato practiced phlebotoms, land of first quality can be had from $1 00 to $1 25 an acre. -At Lyons, France, the veterinary College has been broken up by the Government because the young horse students refused to pray for the Emperor. -Gov. Wise gives pressing invitations to Northern farmers to come to Virginia with their money and strong arms to buy cheap land, to add to the wealth of the State, and to keep down the negroes. -The Ohio Reform Farm, near Lancaster, has 1,170 acres. There are over 900 boys, mostly criminals, who behave well, who are engaged in growing small ofruits, and their returns last year after having all they wanted to eat, exceeded 7,000

-Wool growers are still unable to decide whether it is best to wash their wool. In Central Illinois the buyers are so unjust that the sheep men have built a factory, and they sell cloth instead of wool.

- The English wonder why foreign manufacturers do not copy the designs of agricultural implements made by British artizans. Americans are not likely to do this so long as with their own designs they carry away prizes from the English and all

-To fry chickens cut them up and let them lie in water and salt twenty minutes, tered by Andrew Johnson, call loudly for drain and season with salt and pepper; prepare six eggs well beaten, and five crackers, rolled fine, stir well together, roll

-The Canadians have more wheat than they can use. Coal oil is so cheap they have closed the wells. Silver money is a drug, and yet times never were so hard. for immigrants will not come in, and old are in a similar condition, the only remedy is to get married.

-There is, with many persons, a preju--dice against white on the legs or faces of horses. Some one has called attention to the fact that Lexington, the most thoroughbred stallien, and Dexter, the fastest trot-

-About 600,000 pounds of cheese were made in McHenry county, Ill., in these were run over six months, and most of them not over four. They used up 5,-000,000 pounds of milk in the manufacture of this cheese. Previous to 1866 there was not a factory in the country.

. The Urbana (Ohio) Citizen says that prisonment by any foreign power for acts a farmer of that county has made a discovery of great value to sheep growers. He duty of the Government to interfere in his has used with great success coal-tar for behalf. maggots in sheep. During the past season several of his sheep were badly injured, and when other remedies failed to remove the maggots from the wounds, he applied the coal-tar, which effected a speedy cure. -A correspondent says that sheep generally become breachy through carelessness. He has kept sheep for twenty years | ten. The widows and orphans of the galor more on land fenced almost entirely with stone walls, and finds no difficulty in keeping them orderly. He selects those that have not learned to jump; has all gates and bars so they can not be pushed a liberal and just policy. or rubbed down. As a rule, the flock should be looked after once a day at pathy with all oppressed people wh least, and the fances examined. When sheep have enough to eat they seldom learn to jump. He finds that fifty southdown ewes, well kept, will generally raise seventy-five lambs. The past year he had one hundred and ten from seventy-two. Some of the ewes were quite foung. After they are two years old they are very apt to produce twins, so that in some flocks twins seem to be the rule, and single one the exception.

-A gentleman who has tried the plan successfully for five years, communicates the annexed method of preventing horses from chafing under the collar. He says he gets a piece of leather and has what he terms a false collar made, which is simply a piece of leather cut in such a shape as to lie, singly, between the shoulders of the ple. thorse and the collar. This fends off all the driction, as the collar slips and moves on the leather, and not on the shoulders of the horse. Chaffing is caused by friction, hence, you see, the thing is entirely plausible. Some put pads or sheep-skins under the collar; these do as much hurt as good for they augment the heat. A single piece of leather, like that composing the outside of a coliar, without any lining or stuffing, is better than anything else.

-Catching rats is often difficult, as the old rats are proverbially cunning. Laying around poison is not alone dangerous. but objectionable for the reason that the rats may die at inaccessible spots and contaminate the atmosphere with the well known detestable odor. A better plan has been adopted by one of our correspondents, by which he takes advantage of the cunning habits of the rats. He covers the floor near the rat hole with a thin layer of caustic potash; when the rats walk on this it makes their feet sore; these they lick with their tongues; it makes their mouths sore, and the result is that they shun this locality not alone, but appear to tell all the neighboring rats about it, and eventually the house is entirely abandoned by them, notwithstanding the neighborhood may be teeming with rats.

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

ADOPTED BY THE NATIONAL UNION CONVENTION AT CHICAGO. Resolved, 1st. That we congratulate the country on the assured success of the Re construction Policy of Congress as evidenced by the adoption in a majority of States lately in rebellion, of Constitutions securing equal, civil and political rights to all, and we regard it as the duty of the government to sustain these Constitutions, and prevent the people of such States from being remitted to a state of anarchy or military rule.

2d. The guarantee by Congress of equal suffrage to all loyal men in the South, was demanded by every consideration of public safety, gratitude and justice and must be maintained; while the question of suffrage in all loyal States properly belongs to the people of those States. 3d. We denounce all forms of repudi ation as a natural crime, and national honor requires the payment of the public indebtedness in the utmost good faith to our creditors at home and abroad, not only according to the letter, but spirit of the laws under which it was contracted.

4th. It is due to the labor of the nation that taxation should be equalized and reduced as rapidly as the national faith will 5th The national debt, contracted as it had been for preservation of the Union for all time to come, should be extended over a fair period, and it is our duty to reduce the rate of interest thereon whenever it can honestly be done. 6th. That the best policy to diminish our burden of debt is so to improve our credit that capitalists will seek to lend money at lower rates of interest than we now pay and must continue to pay so long as repudiation, partial or total, open or covert, is threatened or suspected. 7th. The Government of the United States should be administered with the strictest economy. The corruptions which have been so shamefully nursed and fos
