

THE WISHING CAP.

If fairy tales were true, And fortunes were by hap, I'd tell you what I'd do, If I had a wishing cap. I'd make each maid a wife, Who'd give both heart and hand; And all domestic strife I'd banish from the land. So arm that wrought or plough'd Should ever toil in vain; The great should not be proud, The small should not complain. The friendship of a friend Should last through good and ill; And, constant to the end, Should guide the wand'er still. All rulers should be just, And people should be wise, And swords and spears should rust, For lack of enemies. The triumphs of our time Should bless the poorest lot, And misery and crime Should die—and he be forgot.

THE TWELVE BEST

The Horticultural Society at Cambridge, Mass., has decided on the list given below as the best pears for family use. The members of this society are so favorably known as successful growers of the delicious pear, say the Philadelphia Press, as to inspire confidence in the minds of those about to cultivate, therefore, the list will be examined with interest. 1. Doyenne d'Eté, ripen from 1st to 20th of August. 2. Kestler, ripe from 15th August to September 1st. 3. Bartlett, ripe from 1st to 30th September. 4. Belle Lorraine, ripe from September 10th to October 1st. 5. Louise Bonne de Jersey, ripe from 20th September, to October 10th. 6. Sheldon, ripe from Oct. 1st to 30th. 7. Seckel, ripe from Oct. 8th to 25th. 8. Duchesse d'Angoulême, ripe from October 20th to November 25th. 9. Beurré d'Anjou, ripe from November 5th to December. 10. Lawrence, ripe from November 15, to December 15th. 11. Hovey's (Dana's) ripe from December 1st to January. 12. LaCave, ripe from January 1st to February. The locality of course has very much to do with the full maturity of fruit. It is not expected that pears of any kind would ripen upon the trees in the Middle, Eastern or Western States, after October 15th, but here in Oregon the same could be gathered in the winter as well as in the fall, ordinarily. Mr. Hunsaker, of this city, has a variety of pears, excellent for cooking, which he believes usually ripens about the time of the Christmas holidays, on the trees or packed in the usual way.

A teacher asked a bright little girl "what country was opposite on the globe." "Don't know, sir," was the reply. "Well, now," pursued the teacher, "if I were to bore a hole through the earth, and you were to go in at this end, where would you come out?" "At the other end, sir," replied the pupil, with an air of triumph. TOBACCO IN FRANCE.

The great International Exhibition has given rise to voluminous reports, among which is one relating to the consumption of tobacco in France. From its pages we gather the fact that the people of that country take annually 7,609 tons of snuff, equal in amount to a colonnade of thirty columns, each as large as the Napoleon column in the Place Vendôme; and they smoke 18,441 tons of tobacco, which would, when compressed, be sufficient to form an arch as large as the Arc de Triomphe, at the end of the Champs Elysees, with its foundation. Besides this, the French people smoke annually 28 tons of furtious cigars, or nearly enough to reach from Paris to Bayonne; 63 tons of cigars at three sous each, which would reach from Paris to St. Petersburg; 178 tons of two sous cigars, which would reach from Paris to Teheran; and lastly, poor things! 2,734 tons of one sou cigars, which, laid end to end, would go round the world. The statistician who amused himself with this bit of figuring takes the returns of 1864 as his basis, and thus loses 20 or 30 per cent, on his totals, as compared with those of later years.

A GENTLEMAN AT ANNAPOLIS

fenced in a cove near the mouth of the Severn river, and commenced the cultivation of crabs on a large scale. He has put in about 4,000, and feeds them on coarse fish and any kind of refuse meat. A squad of them will attack a catfish, devour it in one night, and pick the bones as clean as a pack of wolves would pick a deer. The soft crab is only the hard crab with its coat or shell off. Before shedding his shell he is worth only half a cent in market; without it he is worth a dime. He sheds his shell but once a year, and then remains a soft crab but a few hours, when a new shell is again formed. But few soft crabs are seen, owing to the difficulty of finding and capturing them in the "nick of time." This difficulty it is proposed to obviate by the herding process, where the stock can be examined every day, and as a crab is found with his coat off, he is captured as a soft crab and marketed accordingly. The location of the crab pasture is at a point where the tide regularly ebbs and flows, giving the crabs a plentiful supply of their natural element.
