Our Business Prospects.

At the close of the season, there is a heavy stock of goods in the hands of the merchants, and it is to be seen in the city, and in the country, that the fall season is not so successful as the fall season of the year 1887. The fall season of the year 1887 was a very successful one, and the merchants are now looking for a similar success in the fall of 1888. Robbing of Immigrants.

We learned from a friend, who has relatives that crossed the plains this season that the immigrant road is infested with robbers at various points on the route from the summit of the Rocky Mountains to the Cascade Mountains in Oregon, and they have pressed the immigrants into the mountains, and in several instances drove off their horses and cattle. Several robberies were committed as near as Barlow's gate. Two horses belonging to a man named Wagon were stolen at the latter place, and the owner was compelled to abandon his wagon in consequence of the robbery and alone.

The Blue Mountains were full of robbers, and the immigrants were driven into the mountains, and in several instances drove off their horses and cattle. Several robberies were committed as near as Barlow's gate.
