☞It would seem from the European advices that the difficulty respecting the Hungarian Kossta, who has occupied so much of newspaper attention of late, is in a fair way to be disposed of. The substance of the information received is that the American Government has consented to the liberation of Kossta, on condition that he shall be immediately put on board a United States vessel and sent directly to this country. It was known previously that Mr Marsh had proposed such an arrangement to Baron Bruck, and it is said that the American government has given its consent, in part because it relieves the French Consul-General from his unpleasant engagements to keep Kossta an engine must soon be had removed as to save the city of Smyrna and the Shipping in the harbor from destruction. The American Government has, however, it is said expressly reserved its rights, should he ever return to Turkish territory and also considers him as a subject of America so long as he shall not be divested of his allegiance in a regular and legal way.

☞There is some talk now of a change in the name of Salem, Oregon, because there are so many places in the States of the same name. The name Multnomah meets with considerable favor, and the Statesman urges the adoption of that name, and says the town bearing that name, laid out by Hugh Burns Esq., on the opposite side of the river from the place where our readers buildings and inhabitants reside enough to entitle it to that euphonious appellation. We think it not very good policy to have two towns in Oregon bearing the same name, under any circumstances; it would be more objectionable than the inconvenience of the present one. Mr Burns assures us that he will oppose any such move—that he is not willing to be robbed of the name, even if it were the name of his farm. No person has a right to suppose there will not some day spring up a town on the surveyed portion of Multnomah. Mr. Burns suggests the adoption of the old Indian name for Salem.

The river has been running quite full and a greater portion of the time the bars have not been wide to make their way through Rock Island. During the time specified, the weather has been comparatively warm. This will have a tendency to keep the waters up, by the melting of the snow in the mountains. OREGON CITY COLLEGE

The Trustees of this Institution are happy to announce that after a long delay they have secured a teacher for it in Mr. D Post who has had more than ten-fifty years experience in teaching in Hartford and New York City, will commence his first term on Monday Nov 21st. Of Mr Posts qualifications the Trustees will not speak but submit the following two testimonials from among many. From T. L. Wright, Principal of the Hartford Grammar School.

An Extract of a Letter from T. L. Wright, Esq

Mr Post gave while associated with me in the Hartford Grammar School not only to myself, but to the numerous patrons of the school, the highest degree of satisfaction, while in both mental and moral the peculiar combination, respect and affection of the pupils. It gave me great pleasure to say of Mr Post that he was a most decidedly laborious, thorough and faithful Teacher, giving his whole mind and all his energies to his work, and consequently wonderfully interesting his Pupils, and accelerating their progress in knowledge.

From Dr Elliot of New York City

Several years since while preparing for Yale College I enjoyed the tuition of Mr J D Post. I have always looked back upon the period of my life with gratitude to him, and satisfaction to myself, for his instructions so rapidly imparted in the path to knowledge. The success of those who have been his pupils, has in numerous instances shown that we did not overrate his teachings. But Mr Poste abilities as a teacher are not his only qualifications. By extensive reading and experience, he is competent to afford important aid in almost any sphere, where learning, experience and discussions are required.

TERMS—Primary pupils $6 per term of 11 weeks. Common English Branches $8 per term of 11 weeks. Higher English including Philosophy also, Latin and Greek $10. For Drawing, French, &c, there will be an extra charge. A small incidental charge for fuel.
