

Oregon Spectator.

Subscription information and rates for the Oregon Spectator.

Inducements to Subscribers. We offer the following inducements to subscribers...

Signs of Life. It is no longer denied that the great, glorious, varied, harmonious, patriotic and unimpeachable Democratic Party is about to...

The Whigs on the contrary held their Convention on the 1st of Oct. at Bryans and nominated their candidates and asserted their principles with an unanimity unexpected and unusual.

The democratic press of Oregon seem to consider it a matter of duty to give our District Judges weekly pills, for performing their simple duties as judges.

The democratic press of Oregon seem to consider it a matter of duty to give our District Judges weekly pills, for performing their simple duties as judges.

We were told in the last Times that Judge Gray had won golden opinions from all who have been in attendance at his term.

Mr. Morrison has advertised that he has received from the referee the $2,000 staked upon the fight.

It is somewhat doubtful that the girl Ellen Wilson, committed suicide at Columbus, Ohio, as was apprehended.

The outstanding funded debt of the U. S. amounts to $68,484,897. This includes the five millions promised to Texas, not yet issued, as well as $5,000,000 of like debt, already issued.

A young lawyer of Harrisburg seriously objected to the Pacific Railroad on the grounds that it would cost too much to keep it in repair, as "the Indians would be continually tearing up the track."

Meeting of the Legislature. Reported for the Oregon Spectator.

The Legislature met and organized on Tuesday. There were 23 members of the Oregon House and a large majority of the lower House also.

Below I give you a report of the proceedings up to Wednesday afternoon. (Mr. Clavin is a new member, came time last spring I believe.)

The officers of the Council and House of Representatives are as follows. Their given names I have not yet been able to learn.

- Council. Dr. Ralph Wilson—President. Garrett—Chief Clerk. Neal—Recording Clerk. Wood—Ass't Clerk. DeLoach—Sergeant at Arms. House of Representatives. E. C. Bishop—Speaker. John (C) McCracken—Clerk. C. P. Crandall—Recording Clerk. G. H. Boyd—Ass't Clerk. Geo. S. Russell—Sergeant at Arms. Hummer—Door Keeper.

We are informed by Mr. Torrison that the Democrat News, the Salt Lake Organ, and that in the Statesman. No return is assigned for that paper standing first in the good opinion of the Democrats.

The respectable women in the States, where the late meetings have been held, seem to have no sympathy for the struggle of the "strong minded women," who have taken upon themselves the responsibility of correcting the supposed errors of the age.

The claim that she is entitled to education, is more pretentious than reality. We admit that the course of female education is too often frivolous and superficial, but this is the fault of the fathers, not of the mothers of the land.

The Olney Post Master. Mr. John Bickel, of Johnsons, Lebanon Co. Penn., is the oldest post master in the U. S., in point of official relation.

Mr. Morrison has advertised that he has received from the referee the $2,000 staked upon the fight.

It is somewhat doubtful that the girl Ellen Wilson, committed suicide at Columbus, Ohio, as was apprehended.

The outstanding funded debt of the U. S. amounts to $68,484,897. This includes the five millions promised to Texas, not yet issued, as well as $5,000,000 of like debt, already issued.

A young lawyer of Harrisburg seriously objected to the Pacific Railroad on the grounds that it would cost too much to keep it in repair, as "the Indians would be continually tearing up the track."

For the Oregon Spectator.

Mr. Bennett—Dear Sir—I notice in your paper of last week, certain remarks of a man that came here being called the Whiteman, Phils, on the evening of Thursday the 10th.

The writer of this whiteman the name; and I assure you it was one calculated to stir the blood with anger and fear. Being near the head of the Falls of the Whiteman Falls Co., where the water begins to fall before it takes its final leap to the boiling chasm below, I was with I first supposed to be a man on a log, drifting rapidly down the stream; but very soon made it out to be no Indian canoe paddled directly down the rugged descent.

Several persons from above, coming his previous direction, as he drifted toward the falls, had followed down the road, and were urging him to desist from his mad career.

Two things Mr. Clay well understood, one was human nature, the other was the influence of women. That was his third virtue, and one of them was that of the Democratic husband.

News came to town this evening that the detachment by U. S. Dragoons, ordered out of Capt. Smith, commander of Ft. Lane, to recover some stolen property, had had a skirmish with the Indians in the vicinity of Deer Creek, 2 soldiers killed and five wounded; no Indian killed, or at least no known; recovered 25 head of cattle and some number of horses and mules, 200 lbs. of powder, half barrel of caps, large quantity of lead &c.

Mr. Bennett—Dear Sir—I notice in your paper of last week, certain remarks of a man that came here being called the Whiteman, Phils, on the evening of Thursday the 10th.

The writer of this whiteman the name; and I assure you it was one calculated to stir the blood with anger and fear. Being near the head of the Falls of the Whiteman Falls Co., where the water begins to fall before it takes its final leap to the boiling chasm below, I was with I first supposed to be a man on a log, drifting rapidly down the stream; but very soon made it out to be no Indian canoe paddled directly down the rugged descent.

Several persons from above, coming his previous direction, as he drifted toward the falls, had followed down the road, and were urging him to desist from his mad career.

Two things Mr. Clay well understood, one was human nature, the other was the influence of women. That was his third virtue, and one of them was that of the Democratic husband.

News came to town this evening that the detachment by U. S. Dragoons, ordered out of Capt. Smith, commander of Ft. Lane, to recover some stolen property, had had a skirmish with the Indians in the vicinity of Deer Creek, 2 soldiers killed and five wounded; no Indian killed, or at least no known; recovered 25 head of cattle and some number of horses and mules, 200 lbs. of powder, half barrel of caps, large quantity of lead &c.

The English Press.

Our Liverpool Correspondent furnishes the following observations in reference to the temperance and non-resistance movements in the war question, given by the London press.

It is the fashion in England to depreciate the press of the U. S., and to catch in the reporter's responsibility of the diversity and date-printed chaos which supply the small proportion of Englishmen who can read with what little information they possess respecting passing events.

The British press is far inferior in enterprise and spirit to that of N. Y. To get a document of three or four columns by telegraph is a feat beyond their conception, and yet it is common enough here.

Two things Mr. Clay well understood, one was human nature, the other was the influence of women. That was his third virtue, and one of them was that of the Democratic husband.

News came to town this evening that the detachment by U. S. Dragoons, ordered out of Capt. Smith, commander of Ft. Lane, to recover some stolen property, had had a skirmish with the Indians in the vicinity of Deer Creek, 2 soldiers killed and five wounded; no Indian killed, or at least no known; recovered 25 head of cattle and some number of horses and mules, 200 lbs. of powder, half barrel of caps, large quantity of lead &c.

Mr. Bennett—Dear Sir—I notice in your paper of last week, certain remarks of a man that came here being called the Whiteman, Phils, on the evening of Thursday the 10th.

The writer of this whiteman the name; and I assure you it was one calculated to stir the blood with anger and fear. Being near the head of the Falls of the Whiteman Falls Co., where the water begins to fall before it takes its final leap to the boiling chasm below, I was with I first supposed to be a man on a log, drifting rapidly down the stream; but very soon made it out to be no Indian canoe paddled directly down the rugged descent.

Several persons from above, coming his previous direction, as he drifted toward the falls, had followed down the road, and were urging him to desist from his mad career.

Two things Mr. Clay well understood, one was human nature, the other was the influence of women. That was his third virtue, and one of them was that of the Democratic husband.

News came to town this evening that the detachment by U. S. Dragoons, ordered out of Capt. Smith, commander of Ft. Lane, to recover some stolen property, had had a skirmish with the Indians in the vicinity of Deer Creek, 2 soldiers killed and five wounded; no Indian killed, or at least no known; recovered 25 head of cattle and some number of horses and mules, 200 lbs. of powder, half barrel of caps, large quantity of lead &c.

How known.

The writer of this whiteman the name; and I assure you it was one calculated to stir the blood with anger and fear. Being near the head of the Falls of the Whiteman Falls Co., where the water begins to fall before it takes its final leap to the boiling chasm below, I was with I first supposed to be a man on a log, drifting rapidly down the stream; but very soon made it out to be no Indian canoe paddled directly down the rugged descent.

Several persons from above, coming his previous direction, as he drifted toward the falls, had followed down the road, and were urging him to desist from his mad career.

Two things Mr. Clay well understood, one was human nature, the other was the influence of women. That was his third virtue, and one of them was that of the Democratic husband.

News came to town this evening that the detachment by U. S. Dragoons, ordered out of Capt. Smith, commander of Ft. Lane, to recover some stolen property, had had a skirmish with the Indians in the vicinity of Deer Creek, 2 soldiers killed and five wounded; no Indian killed, or at least no known; recovered 25 head of cattle and some number of horses and mules, 200 lbs. of powder, half barrel of caps, large quantity of lead &c.

Mr. Bennett—Dear Sir—I notice in your paper of last week, certain remarks of a man that came here being called the Whiteman, Phils, on the evening of Thursday the 10th.

The writer of this whiteman the name; and I assure you it was one calculated to stir the blood with anger and fear. Being near the head of the Falls of the Whiteman Falls Co., where the water begins to fall before it takes its final leap to the boiling chasm below, I was with I first supposed to be a man on a log, drifting rapidly down the stream; but very soon made it out to be no Indian canoe paddled directly down the rugged descent.

Several persons from above, coming his previous direction, as he drifted toward the falls, had followed down the road, and were urging him to desist from his mad career.

Two things Mr. Clay well understood, one was human nature, the other was the influence of women. That was his third virtue, and one of them was that of the Democratic husband.

News came to town this evening that the detachment by U. S. Dragoons, ordered out of Capt. Smith, commander of Ft. Lane, to recover some stolen property, had had a skirmish with the Indians in the vicinity of Deer Creek, 2 soldiers killed and five wounded; no Indian killed, or at least no known; recovered 25 head of cattle and some number of horses and mules, 200 lbs. of powder, half barrel of caps, large quantity of lead &c.

Mr. Bennett—Dear Sir—I notice in your paper of last week, certain remarks of a man that came here being called the Whiteman, Phils, on the evening of Thursday the 10th.

How known.

The writer of this whiteman the name; and I assure you it was one calculated to stir the blood with anger and fear. Being near the head of the Falls of the Whiteman Falls Co., where the water begins to fall before it takes its final leap to the boiling chasm below, I was with I first supposed to be a man on a log, drifting rapidly down the stream; but very soon made it out to be no Indian canoe paddled directly down the rugged descent.

Several persons from above, coming his previous direction, as he drifted toward the falls, had followed down the road, and were urging him to desist from his mad career.

Two things Mr. Clay well understood, one was human nature, the other was the influence of women. That was his third virtue, and one of them was that of the Democratic husband.

News came to town this evening that the detachment by U. S. Dragoons, ordered out of Capt. Smith, commander of Ft. Lane, to recover some stolen property, had had a skirmish with the Indians in the vicinity of Deer Creek, 2 soldiers killed and five wounded; no Indian killed, or at least no known; recovered 25 head of cattle and some number of horses and mules, 200 lbs. of powder, half barrel of caps, large quantity of lead &c.

Mr. Bennett—Dear Sir—I notice in your paper of last week, certain remarks of a man that came here being called the Whiteman, Phils, on the evening of Thursday the 10th.

The writer of this whiteman the name; and I assure you it was one calculated to stir the blood with anger and fear. Being near the head of the Falls of the Whiteman Falls Co., where the water begins to fall before it takes its final leap to the boiling chasm below, I was with I first supposed to be a man on a log, drifting rapidly down the stream; but very soon made it out to be no Indian canoe paddled directly down the rugged descent.

Several persons from above, coming his previous direction, as he drifted toward the falls, had followed down the road, and were urging him to desist from his mad career.

Two things Mr. Clay well understood, one was human nature, the other was the influence of women. That was his third virtue, and one of them was that of the Democratic husband.

News came to town this evening that the detachment by U. S. Dragoons, ordered out of Capt. Smith, commander of Ft. Lane, to recover some stolen property, had had a skirmish with the Indians in the vicinity of Deer Creek, 2 soldiers killed and five wounded; no Indian killed, or at least no known; recovered 25 head of cattle and some number of horses and mules, 200 lbs. of powder, half barrel of caps, large quantity of lead &c.

Mr. Bennett—Dear Sir—I notice in your paper of last week, certain remarks of a man that came here being called the Whiteman, Phils, on the evening of Thursday the 10th.