"sents them to view" can one look on with an eye of cool and careless observation?

No! not if there is that communion of hearts that there should be. Not if that sigh "God bless you" is occasionally borne on the "wings of the wind" to gladden the mind of the distant though kindred spirit. Not while there is ONE spark left of the generous genuine pearls of humanity. Not while the soft tones of the prattling infant son or daughter can find a tender spot on your memory! and on the other hand, not as long as there remains in our view the recollection of the weak voice of that dying mother, as she gently, yet earnestly, pronounced her blessing on her darling boy!

Wanderer! have you relatives in "the old home?" give them a thought now and then. Though the proud snow-capped Sierras between may prove that in California or Oregon you are separated by almost insurmountable barriers; or thousands of miles of ocean wave may separate your new home in Australia from your native land, yet your thoughts by day, and pleasant dreams by night can act as rivulets called Joy and CONTENTMENT, which help to form the pure waters of the river of HAPPINESS!

The question from our lips is simultaneous with the event of the answer, "Yes, we do miss him." They will, fellow traveler, now and then drop a silent tear to the memory of those who are far away; no doubt of it—never fear. They cannot forget us if they would, even.

Oh, would that everybody could, in the language of a certain distinguished author, render their days of sunshine "most beautiful by associating with them the sunshine [not the clouds, eclipses nor moonshine] of former years." What a life of harmony would be the lot of some people! What a vast amount of follies would be overlooked. How many indiscretions would be forgot of; and what an endless train of pleasing reflections would be the consequence. But enough! Those who please will enjoy this of which we have spoken, if their feelings are reciprocated in the proper localities; and the days of present sunshine must suffice for those who are not in the lucky enjoyment of the many blessings which flow from every parental hearth where true religion exists, or where civilization has extended its [illegible] in the heart, and caused it to be open to every good word and work.

Ocean Steamers.

The P. M. Steamship "Columbia" is running between San Francisco and Oregon, making semi-monthly trips. The Peytona and America are making trips occasionally! Now, what in the name of common sense do Oregonians want to patronize these three steamers "time about" for; and thus break into all regular arrangements! Why do they not patronize one ship and in that way pay her to make regular trips. This arrangement of having two or three steamers is nothing but a curse! What benefit is it? Fare is no lower! Freights are no lower! We never know when to look for the arrival of any of them! If the Columbia has the mail contract, why not let her have the work to do also? and then hold out some inducements to her to make trips within her regular dates. Or, if the Peytona and America are bound to run here, all hazards, let us give one of the three our entire support, and let the other two run for fun! Depend upon it they would not bother us long. Either ship is good enough for the trade; they are all very good vessels. But in our own private opinion the "Columbia," having the oldest right, [illegible] as we pay the same high rates to each, should be entitled to the entire patronage. Where is the reason in having steamships running now and then, or whenever they can raise only enough passengers and freight to pay expenses? Every body knows that one can do all the business, and that very conveniently. We do hope we shall soon have some better regularity with regard to our communication with California; and if we can form any opinion from what folks tell us, a great majority of the people here would prefer to have one regular steamer, and no more!

☞ We are informed that miners are making good wages in the Santiam mines. Hurrah for the Willamette Valley!

☞ According to the latest news we can gather there is really to be quite an immigration to our territory this summer. The late St. Joseph and St. Louis (Mo.) papers speak of immense droves of cattle and large numbers of people, as crossing the river for their long journey westward. They say that most of the families are bound for Oregon. Let them come; there is yet plenty of room.

☞ The man who was lying at the point of death has got down to the butt-end. Who can tell when he will recover?

☞ Steamship Peytona is hourly expected by some—but we have no idea she'll come yet for a week or two.

☞ The weather [illegible]

☞ Let those who wish to celebrate the 4th at the Mollala Garden remember that on the arrival of the steamer Fenix at Barlow's Landing, Tuesday morning next, horses and carriages will be in readiness to convey visitors to the celebration grounds.

THE KNOW-NOTHINGS.—The Harrisburg Herald states that at the municipal election in Lancaster City, Pennsylvania, on Tuesday, two gentlemen who were not known as candidates were elected School Directors by about 600 majority over two regularly nominated candidates on the Union ticket. The defeated candidates are Catholics, and received only about 70 out of 700 votes polled. The successful candidates were astonished at this unexpected result, and cannot account for it. Like the rest of the community, they "know nothing" about it.

☞ It has been suggested that if the 15,000 idiots whose claim Pierce disregards could vote for him, his votes would have been withheld.

It fools don't vote for him, who will?

CONGRESS AND POLYGAMY.—The entire day, Thursday, was spent by the H. of Representatives upon the bill to establish the office of Surv'r General, and granting donations to actual settlers in Utah, and debating, whether a man having more than one wife, should be entitled to a pre-emption to 160 acres of land.

The bill was subsequently reported unfavorably upon.—Chicago Jour.

That's good, keep them down! A man that has more than one wife has property enough to trouble his mind, without having any land. We say let polygamists have no land! And let them be entitled to none of the rights and privileges of American citizens.

Birds and Flowers.

Who say that we shall not hear the songs of the spring birds amid the blooming flowers of these summer days? Barnum and the N. Y. Horticultural Society say we shall. True, the flowers will be in boxes and the birds in cages, but they will sing, and the flowers will give their sweet aroma to the city air. True, it will not be like the meadow lark, or the twitter of bobolink in the field, or the thrush in the thorn bush, but it will be the song of birds, and we shall see and feel the influence of the beauty of the flowers.

There is one long good, something refining in the very name of an exhibition of "singing birds and flowers"—something in the beauty that will do good to [illegible] one of the schools of civilization. If a woman loves flowers she has one good trait in her heart. Teach a child to love flowers and you will give that child a good heart. Take your children to look at the birds and flowers, and you will not only give them pleasure but do them good. What if they should say "Oh mother, I wish I could let the poor little birds out of their cages; I do not like to see them in slavery?"

Ahah! there is a chord touched there! Let it vibrate. Half the world are slaves. Some to their fellow men; some to their money-bags; some to their fashionable neighbors; many to their base appetites, all to sin. Some are shut up in cages like the birds; but they do not sing, they curse—they were not taught in their youth to pity the caged birds and they never loved flowers.—N. Y. Trib.

A STONY HEARTED VILLAIN.—John O'Sullivan, the brutal [illegible] who kicked his wife to death, at Fort Hamilton last autumn, was sentenced yesterday to Sing Sing, for 21 years. At the close of the Judge's remarks, Sullivan said, with a sneering laugh, "You might as well give a sentence for [illegible]" And in this opinion we think the public will [illegible] concur. These low, besotted fellows seem to have no more sensibility than a catfish. Hammering stone at Sing Sing is quite too good for them. To clean sewers, with a chain and ball at their heels, would be a more appropriate punishment for them.—N. Y. Mirror.

NO ACCOUNTING FOR TASTE.—A discussion upon the Constitution of the United States, recently [illegible] between Fred Douglas and Miss Lucy Stone, the former sustaining and the latter denouncing it. It was thought the darkey rather "took" her on that occasion, but it is tho't Lucy will never stop trying until she "gets" him.—Iowa State Gaz.

SHE'S THE SORT.—As an evidence of what the girls can do if they have the mind, a Cincinnati paper states that three years ago a poor orphan girl applied and was admitted to set type for that paper. She worked two years, during which time she earned $800, and availing herself of the facilities which the printing office afforded, acquired a good education. She is now an associate editress of a popular paper, and is engaged to be married to one of the smartest lawyers in Ohio. Such a girl is bound to shine and eclipse tens of thousands who are educated in the lap of luxury, and taught all the "accomplishments" of a boarding school. Such a wife will be a jewel to her husband, and ornament to society, and an honor to her sex and her country.—Chicago Jour.

From Washington.

The correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune writes as follows:

The President's veto of the bill appropriating lands for the benefit of Insane Asylums, seems to have disheartened the friends of the Homestead bill. It is now not expected to pass at this session. The debate in the House on Polygamy has been a severe trial to the southern members. They could not help seeing that the arguments against sanctioning this crime were equally germaine to the slavery question. "Squatter sovereignty" has been pretty effectually exploded. I regret to learn that Col. Bissel of Illinois is quite sick. His absence from the House when Nebraska comes up would be seriously felt by the opponents of the bill. Mr. Cook of Iowa has been called home by a death in his family, and Judge Pringle of the Genesee District in your State is also absent from a similar cause, his daughter at the last accounts lying at the point of death. No ordinary event could detain Judge P. in such an emergency. He has been one of the most faithful and active laborers in Congress against the bill. Col. Morgan of Cayuga has just [illegible] home [illegible] the remains of a beloved child who died here. He is expected back on Monday. Mr. Sage of Troy, too, has been called to attend the funeral of his father in Oneida county, but will probably return in season. Mr. Chase, the zealous member from Otsego and Delaware when last heard from was too ill to leave his home, and may possibly be absent when the bill comes up.—He is one of the few, however, who will run risk almost everything to defeat the measure. With these and few other exceptions, the House will be full on Monday. The parties are probably nearly equally divided, although Douglas claims over 20 majority for the bill.

☞ A former Mayor of Balton are thus explains his reasons for preferring to wear stockings with holes, to have them darned:

"A hole," said he, "may be the accident of a day, and will pass upon the best gentleman, but a darn is premeditated poverty."

☞ Universal distrust has grown up among the people, even among the truest and sternest democrats, who believe that they have been duped, deceived, and cheated, and that the high places of the government are surrounded by mean, low and contemptible men.—Wash. Sen.

☞ He that hath a trade, hath an estate; and he that hath a calling hath a place of profit and honor. A ploughman on his legs is higher than a gentleman on his knees.

☞ Words are the daughters of the wind, but actions are the sons of the soul.

HOME.—There are some homes which seem to be merely the gathering places of the family where there are few or none of those gentle cords of sympathy and affection that bind with their silent influence the affections of each to the other. There is no common centre, no genial spot towards which the heart at certain seasons, and in certain moods of mind, can return in search of sympathy, and where, like the weary dove, when returned to the ark, it can find [illegible] For there are seasons when the saddened heart yearns for the gentle tones of sympathy and encouragement. And it would be strange if there were such a centre, when she whose appropriate sphere is to preside over the household, cares little for anything but fashion and show.—Orne.

☞ Next Legislature of Oregon will consist of 23 democrats and 6 whigs in the House; 7 democrats and 2 whigs in the Council. As soon as the official returns are all in, we shall publish a correct list of all the members.—Statesman.

Tax for a Fire-Engine.

At a special election of the electors of Oregon City, held on this day, in pursuance of a resolution of the City Council, passed the 6th day of June inst., there were sixty-three votes cast for the tax provided for in said resolution, and one vote against it.—Therefore the vote is declared to be in favor of the tax. OFFICIAL.

SURVEYOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, Oregon City, June 12, '54.

SIR:—In answer to your enquiry relative to a rumor which is said to prevail that I have authorized any settlement on the lands of the Hudson's Bay Company, in anticipation of the purchase, by the United States, of their possessory rights, I have the honor to inform you that it is without foundation. I have authorized no encroachment nor settlement on the lands claimed by that company, nor those of the Puget Sound Agricultural Company.

We are informed of no steps being taken by our government to avail itself of the right of purchase recognized in the 2d paragraph of the 4th article of the treaty, between the United States and Great Britain of the 15th August, 1846, and [illegible] instructions are to "guard against any act which might lead to a conflict or difficulty in title," and "in executing the public surveys to avoid any sectional or minute subdivisions of the land covered by such claims," but only to extend the township lines over them, so as necessarily to indicate in the plats of surveys their connection with the public domain of the United States.

We have, at Fort Vancouver, a military station, which, besides the land of the Hudson's Bay Company, is guarded by the 9th section of the land law of 27th September, 1850, against any settlement within one mile "of any tract or parcel of land selected for a military post."

You will observe that in the extension recently made of surveys in Washington Territory, no subdivision or sectional surveys have been made over the lands designated by your predecessor as claimed by the Hudson's Bay Company.

Very respectfully, yours,
signed C. K. GARDNER, Surveyor Gen. of Oregon.
