In phy my re he is superior to many Americans, and equal to the majority. He is five feet eight inches in height, with rather small black eyes, good teeth, long black hair, and in complexion resembles the North American Indian. The face is not, however, so strongly marked as that of the Indian, as there is a heavy greasy, lazy, contended ex-pression about it. The Esquinaux are al-good natured creatures, like Uget. They live chiefly on fish-seal, eaten raw, is then favorite dish. They have no written language-no missionaries-no governmentenring the time, (nine months,) that Cap-tain Buddington spent among them, he never witnessed any quarrelling or dissension. Happy people!
