The East Oregonian.

SATURDAY.....MARCH 31, 1877

There will be an extra session of Congress convened in June.

Salmon canning was begun on the lower Columber on the 19th of this month.

Mr. Moulson of Canada contemplates establishing a rope factory in Oregon.

Tweed will soon be released from jail, he and the city of New York having compromised their little differences.

John D. Lee, the Utah Mountain Meadows murderer of emigrants and their children, was shot by authority of law for his crimes, on Friday of last week.

A. Oakey Hall, ex-Mayor of New York and one of the great lawyers of that city, suddenly disappeared this week. His whereabouts, dead or alive, is unknown.

Calvin B. McDonald, well known in this State and formerly connected with the Salem Statesmen as editor, is reported to be an inmate of the alms-house in Sierra county, California.

One acre of alfalfa will support more sheep than twenty acres of wild pasture-the wool is of better quality, the increase is greater, the losses of lambs lighter, and the general profits greater.

The following patents have lately been issued for mining claims in Oregon: S. C. Hillis and John Long, Grant county; W. Huffman and J. A. Wilson, Jackson county. John H. Reed and James Steel, Josephine county.

Combination for their own benefit is the motto of wool-growers east of the Rocky mountains. In Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania, the woolgrowers will hereafter sell directly to manufacturers.

Out of the grand total of 2,311,544,968 acres of land in the Union, 583,456,836 are reported as timbered land. Of this amount 14,701,534 acres are in Washington Territory. The State having the least per centage of woodland as compared with the total area is Nevada—5 per cent. California is credited with 7.9, Oregon with 26.2, Washington Territory with 33.

Important orders will be issued by the Interior Department shortly, for the protection of timber on the public domain from depredations. The present system of entrusting its care and detection of depredations to local land officers will be abolished and the Department will send out specially qualified agents to detect and report to the Department of Justice for prompt punishment all persons cutting timber on public lands without authority of the Government.

A California paper says the day is not far distant when the greasy, wrinkled Merino and the native Spanish sheep will give place to the more profitable and larger-bodied Cotswold and Southdown, and instead of the large flocks now roaming and starving on the barren plains, every farmer will have a few, and the better feed and shelter which can be thus afforded will serve to produce a better quality of wool, and place it on a par with Canada and Eastern States wool.

The editor of a journal in Chicago devoted spiritual philosophy, for the purpose of refuting a statement of Dr. Forbes Winslow, of London, that ten thousand persons in the United States have gone insane on the subject of Spiritualism, addressed letters to the Superintendents of 87 asylums in the country as to the facts. He received answers from 58, and from the tables published it appears that of 23,328 insane persons now or recently in 58 institutions, 412 are reported insane from religious excitement, and 59 from excitement caused by Spiritualism.

The Pendleton Teachers' Institute.

A District Teachers' Institute, for the Fifth Judicial District, will be held in Pendleton, Umatilla county, on the 19th, 20th and 21st of April next, which all the teachers of the district are expected to attend, and to which all friends of education are most cordially invited. Hon. J. C. Arnold of Pendleton, Umatilla county, Hon. M. H. Abbott of Dalles, Wasco county and Hon. L. J. Weston Lodge No. 65 A. F. & A. M., on the death of a worthy brother, adopted the following among other resolutions:

WHEREAS, It has pleased our Supreme Grand Master to remove our worthy brother, ALEXANDER KIRK, a member of this Lodge, from his sphere of usefulness here below to that better Lodge on high; therefore—

Resolved, 1. That in the decease of brother Alexander Kirk this Lodge has lost a zealous Mason and the community an honorable and useful member.

2. That in his decease we recognize the fact that our late worthy brother has truly joined in that solemn procession which is ever moving to the silent realms of shade, where each, no longer a representative, acts for himself the tragedy which closes the drama of life.

3. That the usual badge of mourning be worn by the members of this Lodge for thirty days.

4. That the Lodge be draped in mourning in memory of our deceased brother for six months.

Granite Creek Letter.

HIGHLY IMPORTANT—ITS MINES, PROSPECTS, ETC.

GRANITE CREEK, March 20, 1877.

MR. EDITOR—After a tedious trip through mud and snow we are once more at rest in a miners cabin. On the way in we visited our old stopping place Camp Carson, and were agreeably surprised to see the amount of work accomplished in the way of drifting. At this camp we made our debut as a miner and I might also add foot racer, consequently we feel a deep interest in this camp, and if our best wishes for its welfare would increase the returns of the mine, we give them cheerfully, and hope our friend Joe will meet with the success he so much merits. Leaving Camp Carson a laborious walk of nine miles brought us to the Trail Creek mine, the property of Messrs. Thompson and Gardener. These enterprising miners have added a very necessary improvement to their mine, consisting of an iron pipe which will give them double the pressure they have had heretofore. We will comment more at length on this mine some time in the future.

We had the pleasure of meeting our old friend T. B. Wells, at Bridgeport where with his family he spent the Winter. "Bent" looks well and feels happy, notwithstanding the fact that he was beaten in the race for Legislative honors last Spring and "him ten thousand miles away." The citizens of this place all enjoyed good health this Winter; appear cheerful and contented, and no doubt passed the Winter as pleasantly in infant Bridgeport as they would in the thriving and densly populated city of Pendleton.

Billie Woods, well known in your vicinity, with his family wintered on Skeddaddle hill, half mile from Bridgeport on Granite creek road.

Snow-shoeing was the amusement indulged in by those who remained here, a pastime highly indulged in by those who remained here, a past time highly enjoyed by the ladies who, in some instances, used the pine trees for stopping posts, much to the discomfiture of the tree and infinite disgust of the rider. If there is anything in the world that is really interesting and pleasant it is to come in contact with a tree when going at good speed on show-shoes. The sensation is indescribable. If the tree suffered any inconvenience from the collision it would be some satisfaction to the unfortunate rider; but it dont hurt or disturb the tree a particle—we judge by experience—think we have struck a tree under such circumstances about as hard as we care to, but generally left the tree standing. The only satisfaction one then has is to strike an attitude and "bless" the tree.

Leaving the North fork, following the the road to Independence, one will every few hundred yards pass a deserted cabin on Granite creek, a land mark of other days, when the creek from Independence to its source was almost one continuous string of sluices, where hundreds of men were toiling from morn till night for the precious metals; and, where all was excitement and life, is now quiet, deserted; nothing but the "tumble down" cabin remains, the dumb spectator of the past. When passing a deserted weather-beaten cabin one will involuntarily ask the question, I wonder who lived here? Did his claims pay? Where is he now? Each cabin has undoubtedly its history which, if written, would be interesting to the reader.

At Independence we met with our friend Luke Hughes, known to everybody, knows every one. Luke came here when Granite creek "saw its palmiest days;" has witnessed the decline of the once thriving camp; watched the mines as they were worked out and abandoned; but still he remained. Every boulder on Granite knows old Luke, and will give the "boy" a smile of recognition as he passes it by. He is as important to Granite as water to the turbine wheel; always good-natured, ever ready to extend the hand of true friendship; the truest type of a whole-souled man we ever met, and when the old boy bids Granite a farewell, not only the boys, but the very creek, will miss him.

On the 16th inst. the boys commenced dropping into town one by one until the usually quietly place assumed quite a lively aspect. When miners have a meeting they invariably indulge in something to pass away time, and as the boys here are not an exception to this rule plans were immediately devised for making the day happy and pleasant to all. The plans were carried into execution, and the day will long be remembered by those who were fortunate enough to be spectators or participants. "Stubshot" was the recognized leader of the crowd and we can safely and unhesitatingly recommend him as an accomplished leader. In figure he is commanding to a degree, and attired in a suit of linen and a time-honored straw hat to cover his cranium, he is indeed a dignified looking gent, and none would dare dispute or question any command he thinks proper to give. With a China candle as an emblem of authority "Stubshot" ordered his party to fall in line, and with a lantern carried by one of the party to light up the road, the procession marched through the city in true soldier style. They have been there before; all who watched them were satisfied of this fact. Thus they passed the day, and when the shades of evening began to fall, the party tired (they were mostly fatigued) and sleepy too, commenced gliding away one by one to find some place where to rest their weary limbs. Thus ended the gala day on Granite; and though now a thing of the past will long be remembered.

Some of the miners commenced piping on the 16th, but owing to the scarcity of snow in certain localities the season will be very short.

ELECTON OF RECORDER.

The morning of the 17th, St. Patrick's Day, the sun shown forth in all its splendor, not a cloud making its appearance in the horizon. About noon, in pursuance to notice being given, the miners assembled at A. G. Tabor's store for the purpose of electing a Recorder, and also to take action in regard to the establishment of a mail route from Pendleton, via Pilot Rock, Sheep Ranch, North Fork, Independence, Robinsonville, and thence to Canyon city, Grant county; and to consider the improvement of the road leading from this point to Birch creek. The meeting was called to order. Mr. Thompson of Trail creek officiated as chairman. Upon motion Fount Perry Jr., and T. B. Wells were nominated for Recorder, which resulted in the election of Mr. Perry.

MAIL ROUTE TO PENDLETON.

After this the attention of the meeting was directed to the importance of establishing a mail route as above stated. Petitions were circulated which resulted in about 40 signatures for the route, and 24 for a mail service at Independence. The petition for the route will be forwarded along the line to Canyon city, and as soon as the required number of signatures are obtained the papers will be forwarded to the Department.

ROAD IMPROVEMENTS.

A petition was also circulated soliciting subscriptions for the improvement of the road from Granite creek to Sheep Ranch, which resulted in raising money to the amount of $95. This sum is indeed small; but when you consider the fact that at present there is but very few interested parties here, you will readily concede that we have done well.

DIRECT COMMUNICATION.

We must and will have direct communication with some boat landing—satisfied as we are beyond all doubt that the mines here will fully verify our fondest hopes regarding them. This entire section is rich in quartz, and in quality as good as can be produced on this coast.

THE MONUMENTAL MINE, ETC.

The Monumental lode has passed into the hands of capitalists, and work will soon commence; and as soon as a mill is erected the future prosperity of this quartz field will be established beyond all doubt. This section will be to Oregon what the famous Comstock lode has been and is to Nevada. The development of the ledges here is but in its infancy, but in every instance the farther the mines have been developed the rock has not only held its own in quality but has improved. Tunneling has commenced on many of the ledges, and when the ledges are reached all feel sanguine that they will be larger and equally as good in quality as now. The development of this entire section is certain and though it may not be in the immediate future, the time will surely come when the rattle of machinery and the hum of the mining towns will disturb the quiet monotony of our mountain retreat. A quartz field cannot be developed in a day, or even a year; it is slow work and requires time for its consummation.

There are those who speak disparagingly of the mines here, men who never saw them but who are carried away by their prejudices. Any man of good sound judgment, unbiased by prejudice, who will visit this locality and inspect the rock, will readily pronounce it good and would have no hesitancy whatever in predicting a bright and prosperous future for every ledge that is now being prospected. We are not disposed to exaggerate when writing on this subject, but it is said "coming events cast their shadows before," and everything brought to light regarding our mines only serves to verify the statements we make relative to the future. If those who now own ledges here were men of means, able to purchase the improvements necessary for working a ledge successfully, it would be but a few months before the destiny of this camp would be determined beyond all shadow of doubt. As it is they are men with no capital, but a willing heart and strong arm, and can only accomplish the work necessary to give their ledges a thorough prospect, and then depend upon making some disposition of them to capitalists who can make the necessary improvements in the way of machinery, etc.

THE BEST ROUTE TO GRANITE.

The machinery, and all supplies required by this camp, must be conveyed here over the road either from Umatilla City, or from some other point via Canyon City. The road from Umatilla to Granite creek via Sheep ranch is much more direct than any other route, but of course the best road would be selected for that purpose. Thus you see the importance of taking measures for the improvement of the road leading from Umatilla via Pendleton and Birch creek to Granite. All those interested here are willing to do all in their power to effect this, but are powerless unless they receive some assistance from the outside. John Starkey has viewed out and located a road which does entirely away with the canyon and creek crossing—that has ever been such a detriment to teams passing over that portion of the road—an improvement of much importance. It will not require a great amount to build a good substantial road, and the people of Umatilla county ought to readily see the importance of a road leading through the county, and also the benefit they will derive from it.

DESCRIPTION OF THE LEDGES.

It is my intention to write a description of all the ledges here separately, giving you a detailed description of each ledge, how prospected, etc., consequently will make no farther comments at present concerning them.

COMET, ETC.

On the night of the 17th the inhabitants of Independence and vicinity enjoyed a pleasant dance at the residence of Fount Perry, which was highly appreciated by all who indulged. Mr. Jack Haggart ever ready to accomodate the boys acted in the role of first and second fiddler, caller, etc. Jack never tires when doing good or when contributing to the happiness of those around him, but good-naturedly kept them at work until 12 o'clock when the party broke well satisfied; but regretting that they must remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy. While the dance was going on a revival was in progress under the auspices of the U. B. Church, the Rev. "Stubshot" officiated. This was a complete success as far as it went, but unfortunately a point of law was questioned which interrupted the services; after which the meeting assumed the role of a debating club. After the meeting adjourned those too tired to walk home were assigned to chairs near the stove, where they passed the remainder of the night in perfect ease and tranquility. A revival must sharpen the appetites of those who take an active part; at least such would be our conclusion after witnessing the manner in which they indulged in raw, green, canned corn, which was eaten in lieu of lobsters.

THE WEATHER, ETC.

The weather is remarkably pleasant having more the appearance of early Summer than Spring. The hills in the vicinity of Independence are almost bare; something unusual in March.

All are anxiously awaiting the return of A. G. Tabor and the Monumental boys who have been to Portland for some time past on business connected with the mine.

Snow is fading rapidly away, and placer miners will soon commence operations.
