

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE REDUCED! IN ADVANCE: 1 Year... $3 00

Gen. Tom Thumb and suit have arrived in Sacramento.

Oregon farmers will realize $9,000,000 from wheat this year.

Gov. Bryan has not sailed since the battle of Fort Donaldson.

Dr. A. J. Thibado, formerly of Baker City, is now practicing at Prescott, Arizona.

John Haley's wool-clip will exceed 30,000 pounds this year—says the Boise Statesman.

Dr. L. Caldwell, a young dentist of Corvallis, was instantly killed last week by being thrown from a horse.

George J. Buys, who lately retired from the Eugene Guard, it is said, will soon start a newspaper at Colfax, W. T.

A corporation, to take charge of the salmon hatching interest, has been organized at Astoria, Shares, $50 each.

Erasmus Brooks has retired from the active management of the N. Y. Express, after a career of 41 years as editor.

NEW ORLEANS, June 9.—Twenty-nine employees of the custom house were dismissed to-day. Collector King denies the charges against the efficiency and economy of the custom house.

Capt. Flavel of Astoria has a forest pump worked by steam—and it saved his premises, valued at many thousands of dollars, from being destroyed at the late fire.

John Killworth and party, who started from Eugene two or three weeks since, with several lead of horses and near a thousand head of sheep, found, when reaching Crooked river, that they had but four hundred sheep, and two of their horses were missing.

On Sterling creek, Jackson county, parties from Portland have purchased several hundred acres of mining ground, paying therefor $25,000. A ditch 24 miles long will be constructed, which will carry three thousand inches of water. The Times guesses the cost will be from $50,000 to $75,000.

The lands belonging to the North Pacific Railroad Company, in Thurston county, W. T., have been decided by an able Judge to be liable to taxation, and also the purchased right of way for the road. How is it that the immense corporations throughout the country consider themselves exempt from taxation?

Work on the Yaquina railroad has commenced in dead earnest. One gang has established a camp a mile and a half from Corvallis, and another gang is working from Philomath towards Corvallis. Those who can't subscribe cash, subscribe work. We subscribe our best wishes.

Boona Vista, Polk county, has a whisky saloon, the license being obtained by a technicality over a remonstrance about 20 majority. The technicality was occasioned by there being no name mentioned in the remonstrance as being remonstrated against. So the people have a liquor shop in their midst against their will.

Mr. Wm. Pickett, former editor of the Kalamia Beacon, Portland Daily Journal, Evening Commercial, while under the proprietorship of M. P. Bull, and recently foreman of a paper in Portland, has issued a prospectus announcing that he will soon start a newspaper at New Tacoma, W. T., to be called the North Pacific Terminus.

New York, June 9.—The Times' Washington special, on the Rio Grande border troubles, says the Mexican minister's protest against our troops crossing into Mexico to arrest thieves and murderers, which the Mexican government will not do, is totally ignored. It was not even read at the cabinet meeting. Diaz will probably send a minister to Washington, one in accord with both countries, which are determined to suppress these raids.

A man named Isaac Fredrichsen, a Russian Finn, met with a terrible accident in the Tacoma saw-mill on Wednesday afternoon. While working near one of the saws, a belt broke, and he was struck a hard blow in the face with a piece of the leather, throwing him upon the saw. The teeth cut through his right shoulder and collar bone down close to the cavity of the chest, cutting and tearing the flesh as only a circular saw can do. Recovery is impossible.

AT LAST.—We have often wondered what became of W. A. McPherson, once State printer for Oregon. The Roseburg Plaindealer says of Mc:—

W. A. McPherson, former editor and proprietor of this journal, passed here Friday morning on his way to Washington Territory, where he has a government appointment.

A subsequent newspaper paragraph informs us that Mc. has been appointed deputy internal revenue collector for eastern Washington Territory and will take up his residence in Walla Walla.

FISH CULTURE.—Says the Astorian: We were somewhat disappointed not to see the name of Hon. Livingston Stone among the passengers by the City of Chester, due at Astoria to-day. The people here have prepared to meet him. Prof. Stone is en route from Washington to take charge of the enterprise for the artificial propagation of salmon in the waters of the Columbia. He had charge of the hatching establishment on McCloud river, in northern California, in 1872, which was very successful. In the prosecution of the work of the fish commission he also visited Oregon, and in his report embodied many important facts relative to fish in the Columbia river and its tributaries.

Narrow Gauge Railway.

THE PEOPLE MUST RELY UPON THEMSELVES.—RAILWAY FROM THE COLUMBIA TO GRAND RONDE VALLEY.

If all that had been written and published in the Oregon newspapers on the one subject of railroads, were compiled in one volume its immensity would astonish a Yankee book-worm; still to write upon and discuss railroads in Oregon is yet a positive necessity. To be left comparatively isolated and cut off from commercial centers as are the people of Eastern Oregon, Eastern Washington and Idaho, is sufficient cause for them to continue pounding upon the doors of Congress for relief, and that speedily. The experiences of the present year bids fair to open the eyes of those men in Portland who heretofore have been as ignorant of the countries thereof, as are men in the East ignorant of Oregon, and perhaps even now they are willing to admit that we are entitled to privileges already accorded to countries younger in settlement than our own, and perhaps would not oppose as they have done, efforts to connect this great inland empire with commerce of the world. But it is not our object to upbraid anyone for past delinquencies. A higher, nobler and more independent motive suggests this article; and in brief it can be stated that: the construction of a narrow gauge railroad from Umatilla, or a point near there, on the Columbia river to Grand Ronde valley in Union county or Baker city in Baker county. There is no prospect of a through line of road being constructed for some time to come; hence we must rely upon ourselves to build a road as suggested. The people of Umatilla and Union counties can grade such a road, and when that is done, the iron and rolling stock can be easily procured on unexceptionable terms. Now for the facts. A company of enterprising, energetic men has already been formed, who will undertake to aggregate individual resources, and commence the great work. At the present time efforts are being made to negotiate with the Oregon Steam Navigation Company to lay the iron and furnish the rolling stock. If this company should look favorably upon this enterprise and lend its aid to the same, we can safely say that grading on the line of the proposed road will be commenced before Fall. The company formed propose to adopt the Helms route, thereby saving great expense in preliminary surveys, etc. It is our intention to keep fully posted on the progress of this enterprise, and from time to time inform our readers thereof.

Some of the wheat on the Applegate is six feet high and heavily headed.

Five acres near the State Fair Grounds sold for $1,000 to a man from California.

Hood river farmers promise an immense amount of delicious peaches this year.

Large droves of sheep are being confiantly driven through Ashland to Lake county.

A band of Kentucky jacks were recently driven into Lakeview and were sold like hot cakes.

Dutch Flat, in Wasco county, is said to be nearly all taken up under the Desert Land law.

A two-year old Percheron colt the property of John Savage, of Salem, weighs 3,300 pounds.

Jackson county has let the contract for keeping the county hospital for one year, paying therefor $1,980.

The enterprising people of Roseburg are talking of putting up an oil mill for the manufacture of lincseed oil from flax seed.

At one time on Saturday there were 240 fishing boats on the bay at Astoria, and the question arises, what kind of a chance has a fish got?

Willis McLean and Hugh Clark, two boys living on Spencer creek, Lane county, killed a cougar the other day which measured eight feet in length.

Mr. James Wimer of Lafayette, cut a fir sapling near town the other day which measured 50 feet in length and 1 1/2 inches in diameter at the root.

Immigrants are settling on the Applegate in Southern Oregon by droves. Some buying farms, some pre-empting, some homesteading and some renting.

Captain La Follet, of Dalles, is urging the people to call a convention prior to city elections, irrespective of party, and this select the best men for officers.

Norris Humphrey, of Eugene city, was washing a buggy in the river the other day when it floated from him and sank. All last accounts that vehicle was among the things that are not.

In the necrology of the Oregon Pioneer Association as reported in the "Transactions" just printed, we observe the names of J. C. Avery, Joseph Cox, and George Abernathy, but miss that of Ralph Wilcox.

The Greatest Race Horse in the World.

Ten Brock by his last achievement has fairly won the crown and is justly entitled to be called the "King of the Turf." His last great race was run at Louisville, Ky., on May 28th. The telegraph speaks of it as follows: "Ten Brock ran against the fastest two-mile time to-day in presence of the largest number ever assembled on the course of the Louisville Jockey Club. St. Louis and New York were his first companions in the race, the former in the first mile and the latter in the second. It was feared that the King of the Turf could not equal McWhirter's time of yesterday, even though he beat True Blue's. Walker, his jockey, rode the King for all there is in him, and the result was to make Ten Brock's record the grandest any horse ever achieved. He made the distance in 3:27 1/2, five seconds quicker than McWhirter yesterday. The scene at the close of the race was one of extraordinary delight and wild enthusiasm." This gives Ten Brock the fastest one-mile, two-mile, three-mile and four-mile record of any horse in the world. His one mile record is 1:29 1/2; two mile, 3:27 1/2; three-mile, 5:25 1/2; four-mile, 7:15 1/2. He has up to this time run twenty races and has won fourteen times. He is now five years old. His sire is Phatton, dam Fanny Holton, she by the great Lexington, from whom all the greatest American race horses have descended. He is a bay, large and of immense power and has never been sick a day. He is always ready to start and to run, there is not a blemish upon his legs, and he possesses an iron constitution, able to endure like a camel. For many of the facts above given we are indebted to Mr. John Earley of this city who is personally acquainted with Mr. Harper, the owner of Ten Brock.—Boise Statesman.

GRASSHOPPERS IN MINNESOTA.

The following is extracted from a letter written by J. J. Mooney of Yellow Medicine county, Minnesota, to his brother now in this place: "The grasshoppers are very plentiful now, and are still hatching. Some fields have been entirely eaten out by them. They are in nearly all the fields close to the bluffs; but are not so bad on the prairie; there is a supposition, however, that they are not yet hatched out on the prairie, and may be as many as near the bluffs. About twelve acres of our grain have been destroyed by them, and unless some providential interference they will take all we have. They are now in every field but the small field of our uncle, and eat everything clean as they go. Let us know, in your next, if there is plenty of Government lands in Oregon; about the big rains; how far you are from Portland; at what time wheat is sowed; what is the price of rail road land; and if you can get a newspaper, printed there, send me a copy. This is a dull hopeless country at this time. I am teaching school at $22 per month. This has been the finest Spring that ever I saw in Minnesota; the trees all look green; the crops would be excellent only for the grasshoppers; and we have had rain almost daily for the last ten days."

DOWN WITH NATIONAL BANKS.

The following telegram gives an idea of how the rich men's currency (national bank notes) are at war with the government currency (greenbacks), and how the former said rich men would if they could destroy the entire greenback circulation:

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Receipts of National Bank notes for redemption for the week ending to-day is $7,664,000 over $400,000 in excess of any week since the agency was organized.

A National bank of large circulation, has three times within the last few weeks gone through the following operations with the treasury: It has delivered its circulation one day and received its bond, and the next it has presented its bond and asked to increase its circulation. The Secretary has been obliged each time to cancel 80 per cent of the amount of greenbacks. The operations were on a very considerable scale, 1,000,000 in bonds each time. The attempts has been made to induce other banks in such attempt, to make legal tender scarce.

W. B. Morris, the very efficient Superintendent of the N. W. S. Company, residing at Boise city, has been very rich, rich up to death, but the last Statesman informs us that the prospects for his ultimate recovery are good. We hope so, as the Company and all those with whom he comes in business contact, can illly dispense with so good a business man.

Times at Silver city are improving, says the Winnemucca Silver State.

Mr. Tierman, a gentleman of large experience in quartz mining, now in Oregon, will probably visit Granite creek. He estimates the value of the Monumental mine, from its present developments, at $500,000.
