Big Steve is building a saloon capable of supplying all the wants of the thirsty for all time to come.

News of the Indian outbreak has been received and judgment rendered. To think that men, women and children should be killed at this time is very discouraging to the Peace Commission.

LETTER FROM KANSAS.

We are in receipt of a letter from Kansas under date of June 20, as follows:

M. P. BELL, Esq.—Dear Sir: I wish to learn something concerning your town and surrounding country. Your population, etc., and the likelihood of getting employment; and hereby request you to send me a specimen copy of the EAST OREGONIAN.

In answer to the above inquiries we briefly state that Pendleton is the county seat of Umatilla county; contains a population of over 400, and aggregates within its confines the stores, shops, saloons, etc., that are to be usually found in a small, but enterprising town.

IMPORTANT ARTICLE.

The following article we copy in full from the Idaho Statesman of June 30, without comment at this time:

Rev. T. Mesplie, who was for thirty years laboring as a Catholic missionary among the various Indian tribes inhabiting Oregon, Washington and Idaho, and who is now stationed at Fort Boise where he has served for several years as Chaplain in the U. S. army, gives the following intelligence with regard to his knowledge of Indian matters:

In October, 1875, he was at the Umatilla agency, whither he had been invited to meet the Chiefs on that Reservation. There was a council held there at that time, at which about fifty Indians were present, including the principal Chiefs of the Umatilla, Cayuse and Walla Walla.

At the Council the Indians were very nearly unanimous in the wish to cede the Umatilla Reservation to the Government and to be allowed to go into the Walla Walla valley where they had been invited to come and live by Chief Joseph.

Some two months ago, Howlish Wampo, one of the Chiefs who had been present at the Council, and who is the principal Chief of the Umatilla, passed through Boise on his way to meet a party of his tribe who had been in the U. S. service under General Crook in the Snake country.

Five weeks later Howlish Wampo again passed through Boise on his return home, and he had much to say of the war which had broken out, he thought, before he could reach home, as he had not runners from the Nez Perces who had come to confer with the Bannocks and other tribes in this region.

Of the probable strength and disposition of the various tribes, the Father says that the Nez Perces number in all about 1,000. Of this number about 150 will remain friendly or inactive, adhering to the teachings received from the whites.

THE INDIAN WAR.

LATEST.—From the Watchman this the latest news is taken: Gen. Howard drove Looking-glass' band into the arms of Col. Whipple, who killed many bucks, the women and children rading into the river where they were drowned.

Another report says Joseph flanked Gen. Howard and killed 10 soldiers and 2 volunteers.

Baird reports that the Clearwater Indians under Looking Glass, had turned loose and plundered George Dempster's place, between the middle and south forks of Clearwater, and driven off all the stock of the settlers.

Gen. Howard was notified and said that he would send a detachment of regulars to scour the country in that direction of which the volunteers were in the fight on White Bend saw an Indian who went out on one of the friendly with Col. Perry.

They are a troupe consisting of two ladies and two gentlemen. As the performance commences the company set forward and deliver some beautiful song; and they sing in a manner that cannot fail to delight the hearts of the most extravagant skeptics.

Gen. Howard sent a dispatch to Portland, under date of June 30, as follows: "I have sent a detachment of cavalry to make a reconnaissance in scouting if any Indian families, stock and goods are crossing Snake river into the Walla Walla valley or that region."

Gov. Davis telegraphed to the headquarters of the Division of the Pacific that 200 Flat Head Indians had disappeared from the Bitter Root valley, and had probably joined Chief Joseph's band of warriors.

FROM LANE COUNTY.

GOTTAGE GROVE, LANE COUNTY, June 24, 1877.—EDITOR E. O.—Being absent from home for some time together with other hindrances, I have not written to you or some time. Times financially are about as usual.

There is quite an emigration this Spring and Summer from California; they report an almost entire failure of crops in many places in that State this season.

Next Saturday we have a meeting of the stockholders of the Cottage Grove Warehouse Co., preparatory to receiving grain at the coming harvest.

be ready to treat with them and grant full immunity and pardon for the massacres they have perpetrated, as a condition of surrender. Such of them as may want to quit now know too that they can easily come round to the reservation by the back door, enter unrecognized, and never be identified.

From the Capital.

SALEM, OR., June 22, 1877. EDITOR E. O.—The past two weeks have been such lively times that we have utterly failed to make our weekly report to the EAST OREGONIAN.

They are a troupe consisting of two ladies and two gentlemen. As the performance commences the company set forward and deliver some beautiful song; and they sing in a manner that cannot fail to delight the hearts of the most extravagant skeptics.
