For the Traveler.

LOCAL AND OTHER INTELLIGENCE.

MARRIAGE LICENSES—Issued in Umatilla county for the year 1876:

- T. H. Foster to Lucinda Reinhardt. S. C. Hardisty to C. K. Kersey. M. F. White to Mollie V. Bailey.

RARA AVIS—It may seem strange to some, but nevertheless it is true, that the editor of this, a country journal, is the owner of two turkeys, male and female; also sometimes.

OBITUARY—There are several men in this town who know that they owe us. If they would come forward and pay their little bills it would relieve the proprietor of the embarrassment common to the half-paid, half-appreciated country publisher.

AGED—We published an item a couple of weeks ago that D. C. (commonly called Cayuse) Reynolds had been arrested, captured by the Indians and hung.

LARGE ESTATE—John Wilson died in this county leaving a wife and 12 children. Mr. W. made a will by which Mahala Wilson, his wife, was to have the use and benefit of all the property during her life.

THE PARTNERSHIP heretofore existing between E. S. McCormack and J. H. Stevens, Jr., in the publication of the Mountain Sentinel has been dissolved.

There are there new divorce suits now on the docket and one old one.

We are informed that a tailor from Walla Walla will soon open a shop in Pendleton.

Today p. m. transpired the 2-year old race. Somebody will get hurt financially.

This week a license to marry was issued to Benj. Riechard and Cora C. J. Crofoot—Weston.

Bentley's planing mill is running on orders to its full capacity. Wheat at Bentley smiles.

Charley Storm is embellishing his residence. Shortly it will present a whitened appearance.

Prof. Antrim this week learned 20 persons how to break and train, (and to cure all diseases of) horses.

"Eastern Oregon Wool" is quoted in its very best of papers, the San Francisco Examiner, at 27¢/30¢.

W. J. Snodgrass of Oro Dell, Union county, passed through Pendleton this week en route to Umatilla and return.

Stock sheep of average quality, we are informed by owners, are worth in this county, $2@2.50; mutton sheep, $1.75@2.00.

An ox team consisting of five yoke, is now engaged hauling pine and fir wood from the mountains. Five dollars a cord is asked.

The Union county Fair begins on the 24th day of September and will continue six days. This will excel all other Fairs heretofore held in that county.

Our cabbages, cucumbers and roasting ears mostly come from the north-east portion of our county, (from the Walla Walla valley) instead of from Happy Canyon as heretofore.

Tom Merry is making arrangements to publish a new paper at Astoria. Astoria is a lively, merry town. Bro. Ireland publishes a good paper there, and Tom will make it merry for him and all Astorians.

The new tail race to Byers' flouring mill has been nearly completed that this week he turned water into it. It is a grand thing for the mill, as the waters of the Umatilla will have to be very high to interrupt the continuous grinding of flour.

GRASSHOPPERS—From the Idaho Statesman we learn that the grasshoppers are in myriads destroying everything green to the east of Boise city. At any moment they are liable to pay us a visit. If they do not make their appearance this year they probably will next.

An old citizen J. D. Crawford, who came to Oregon in 1847, and brother of Medorum Crawford, was found dead near his farm in Marion county. He was a practical printer, his first work being on the Oregon Free Press, a weekly newspaper this published in Oregon city.

PLANO—Our fellow townsman, Charles H. Seeley, received a few days since direct from Portland, a brand new Grand Square Sherman & Hyde piano, one of those noble instruments that cost $350. Charley says (and he knows that it is one of the finest toned instruments he ever played upon.

NEW HORSES—The following complete new horses, the creation of which was begun this week: Thomas Milarkey, residence, G. D. Richardson, residence, Wagoner, show shop; Millard F. White, residence; Rev. Davies, residence; Mrs. Anna M. Halsey, business house.

CRAZY MAILS—The tri-weekly Idaho Statesman, of August 2, was received here after a trip to the Dalles in a thorough sack. The Salem daily Record of August 1 and 2 was received by us on Wednesday the 8th of August, the issue of the 2d never having been received by us. Now what's the matter? Where is postal agent Steel?

The nest-treary Indians who have been on North Fork of John Day river, says the Grant County Times, for some weeks past, moved last week to the Malheur Indian Agency to pay a visit to the Snakes. The Indians number about 100, having with them something over 2,000 ponies. They go to trade, gamble and horse race.

ARRIVED—By this time editor Abbot has probably arrived at La Grande with his printing press heretofore in use in printing the Dalles Tribune, he having passed Butter creek a week ago. We wish Bro. Abbot success in the field he has chosen, which however is not a new one to him, having published a paper in La Grande several years ago.

LARGE ESTATE—John Wilson died in this county leaving a wife and 12 children. Mr. W. made a will by which Mahala Wilson, his wife, was to have the use and benefit of all the property during her life. The property consisted then of 650 head of cattle, 80 head of horses, 318 acres of land in Lina county and one town lot in Perlia, 100 acres of land in Benton county, and one lot in Corvallis. The value placed on the entire is $90,500. Mahala, wife of Bev. G. W. Adams, brought suit at the last term of our Circuit Court, praying that a division of the property among the heirs might be made, on the ground that the property was going to waste. A compromise of the suit was effected, by which each of the heirs were to receive 50 head of cattle and 5 head of horses each, and each of the heirs 20 acres alike in the real estate. All excess of cattle and horses over and above those stipulated to be given to the heirs to be held in full right by the widow, Mrs. Mahala Wilson. This compromise is, by stipulation on file, to be carried into effect on the 29th day of August; then will be settled probably a decidedly estate of greater value than that of any other man dying in this young county.

NEW COMER.—Among the many new comers to this part of Oregon we must refer to Mr. G. D. Richardson, from the State of Maine. He arrived here with a family of twelve persons on Sunday last. There is not being a vacant house in town J. H. Turner gave him the use of his residence until Mr. R. could erect one. Before breakfast on Monday he bought a lot; before dinner he ordered lumber, before supper some lumber was on the ground; and on Tuesday night a portion of the frame work had reached itself heavenward, and he will to-day move into the house. Such is the kind of man that is required to make a town or country prosper. It is unnecessary to add Mr. Richardson became a subscriber to the EAST OREGONIAN—live men like him cannot do without it. Among the 12 persons mentioned in this paragraph five of them are adults, one being a carpenter, another a farmer, another a stone and brick mason, one a blacksmith, and the remaining one a harness-maker; each of whom will settle in this place and vicinity permanently.

But a small portion of Eastern Oregon wool has as yet been sold. It is being held by consignees principally in San Francisco, the prices not being satisfactory either to the consignees or consignors. No doubt the figures now presented by honest journals will be increased several cents per pound ere the lapse of two or three months. In San Francisco "Eastern Oregon" wool is quoted at 27¢/30¢ cent, while the Oregonian of last Tuesday gives the quotations as 25¢/27 cents for extra choice, and 22¢/25 cents for common to good; inferior 19¢/20¢.

The Portland Commercial, contrary to actual sales at 22¢/23¢ cents, in its issue of August 2 quotes "Eastern Oregon" wool at 18¢/20¢ cents. The Commercial must watch the market more closely and give the correct figures for which our wool is selling, or we will be forced to crucify its quotations by statements of facts. The advice will also apply to the Oregonian. We are "keeping the cases" on both journals.

WINE.—W. A. Cow, residing in this county on the Walla Walla river, manufactured last year over 400 gallons of white wine, besides large quantities of other kinds. We sampled some of the white wine, aged one year, and we pronounce it superior to any imported to these parts from California. This year Mr. C. will manufacture upwards of 500 gallons. If more attention were paid to this industry it would be but a short time before the California wines would be driven from this country—at least it would only be used by those saloon keepers whose habit it has been to buy inferior, cheap liquors from cheap wholesale houses in Portland. The wine referred to is good enough for every man to keep in his house for medicinal purposes.

OUR TAXES.—Our county court has received from the State authorities a circular of which the following is a copy: The tax to be levied for the year 1877 (and annually thereafter) for the current expenses of the State, is four mills on the dollar on all taxable property within the State. The tax to be levied for the year 1877 (and annually thereafter) is necessary for all taxable property within the State, for the purpose of paying the outstanding Warrants, (except Swamp Land Warrants) of the State, is three mills on the dollar, making a total of seven mills.

The tax last year was 6 1/2 mills. The county tax will be levied by the county court at its September term, which probably will be the same as last year, 10 mills—making a total of 23 mills.

KILLED A GRIZZLY.—Yesterday a week ago a man by the name of Franklin, a sheep-bender for Jacob Stouder, killed a young grizzly bear near Camas prairie. The animal was after live mutton sheep, and just as the full moon shone brightly upon the monster, a mangle rifle ball sent from an ordinary shot gun proved fatal. The bear was young, the gross weight being 700 pounds. His hind foot lengthwise measured 10 inches. Mr. Stouder has seen the track of a grizzly in the same section of country which measured 16 inches in length and about 12 in width, and that grizzly is yet alive.

A writer in the Portland Evening Telegram says the "Umatilla girls have the largest ankles [for any girls in the State], and stand getting into their shoes." Now we would like to know how this writer comes to be so well posted as to the size of our girls' ankles? He certainly has not measured them, for the girls wouldn't allow such a thing; and our girls dresses are just as long as any city belles! Then how did that writer find out so much?

THE RAILROAD—Last week we published an item locating the railroad engineering party on Butter creek. We supposed our authority was good, but it was not. The party are working on the north side of the Umatilla river, running merely a preliminary survey. The ultimate location of the line is not yet known to any person, but will in a short time be determined upon.

DROWNED.—A few days since the body of Bart Miller was found in the Umatilla river about three miles from the Warm Springs. T. T. Llesalle, J. P. of Weston, was notified and proceeded to hold an inquest on the body. The verdict was that he was drowned. He was on his way from Grand Ronde valley to the Agency saw-mill, in quest of work.

WASHINGTON, August 7.—After the session of the cabinet to-day, President Hayes issued a general order prohibiting the sale of arms of ammunition to Indians and revoking all licenses to trade with them in such articles. Military commandants are charged with the duty of assisting in the execution of this order.

W. H. Higby, who is under indictment by the U. S. grand jury for the crime of perjury before the Grove Commission, was arrested a few days ago at Empire city and lodged in jail. U. S. deputy marshal Burns is on his way to Empire city to bring the prisoner to Portland.

Mrs. Geo. A. LaDow is now visiting Dr. LaDow in Astoria.

Wheat is worth $1.20 in Portland.

One of the Lewis brothers, who gave an exhibition here last spring, was killed a few days ago in Michigan, by being hit on the head by the falling of a center pole of an exhibition tent.

If Bart Miller had known that his father cost this county $128.10, he would if possible have postponed dying until he found himself in some cheaper neighborhood.

Congressman Dick Williams will nominate the young man as a candidate for appointment to the West Point military academy, who passes the best examination before a committee of gentlemen chosen by himself.

The opinion of Judge McArthur in the case of McLaughlin vs. Fay, Umatilla county, a chronic case of years standing, covers 100 pages of legal cap. His Honor thought after accomplishing this laborious task that he was entitled to a rest, hence he shouldered gun and rod and started for the country.

THE EAST OREGONIAN.

This paper is published in really one of the best counties of the State, and which yet contains much valuable public land. The paper can be made a valuable auxiliary to the more speedy growth and settlement of the county, provided a generous support is accorded it by those who have positive interest in the welfare of this portion of the State.

ADVERTISING.

To those doing business in the country the necessity, or rather benefit of advertising, ought to be apparent. Let our country paper make a good showing of business men; let it reflect the business of the country, and then those abroad can form a correct idea of what we are and what we are doing; besides the advertiser will get his money back indirectly fourfold.

JOB PRINTING. The EAST OREGONIAN job office can turn out as good plain business and social cards as any office in the State; having a fast Fuggles card press in good order and condition, card printing is made a SPECIALTY.
