Extracts taken from the articles of incorporation:

Know all men by these presents, That we the undersigned, Henry Villard, James H. Fry, A. H. Holmes and Christian Brown, W. B. Starbuck and Charles E. Brotherton, all of the City and State of New York, and H. W. Corbett, C. H. Lewis, J. N. Dolph, Paul Schulze and H. Thielens, all of Portland, do associate ourselves together as a corporation under the general incorporation laws of the State of Oregon, and do hereby adopt the following articles of incorporation:

The name of the corporation shall be the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company.

The business of this corporation shall be, to construct and equip the following railroad and telegraph lines:

A line along the North side of the Columbia river, between Portland and Umatilla.

A line from Umatilla across the Blue mountains, through the Grand Ronde Valley in a southeasterly direction to a point on the east State line of Oregon toward Boise City.

A line from Umatilla to Wallula, in Washington Territory.

A line from Wallula, Washington Territory, by way of Weston southward to the point of intersection with the line in Oregon county described.

From Wallula, W. T., in a northeasterly direction by Dayton to the Snake river.

From a point on Snake river in the Washington Territory near the mouth of the Poudre river in a northeasterly direction to the head waters of the Spokane river.

And to maintain and operate such railroad and telegraph line and branches, carry freight and passengers and receive tolls for the same.

To build purchase and own, and run steamships between the ports of Portland, Astoria, Victoria, Sitka, San Francisco, or any other ports in the North Pacific Ocean, and steamships in the Columbia, Willamette and Snake Rivers, and also to build, purchase and own docks, piers, warehouses, locks, ferry boats, stages and other means of transportation in connection with the railroad, steamships and steamboats.

The principal office of the company shall be at Portland.

Capital stock of the corporation shall be $6,000,000.

The stock shall be divided into 60,000 shares, of $100 each.

Three Directors shall form a quorum of the Board of Directors, whatever may be their number.

H. W. Corbett, J. N. Dolph and C. E. Brotherton, or any two of them, are hereby appointed to open stock books, receive subscription and organize the company.

(SIGNED.) Henry Villard, James H. Fry, A. H. Holmes, Christian Brown, W. B. Starbuck, Chas. E. Brotherton, H. W. Corbett, C. H. Lewis, J. N. Dolph, Paul Schulze, H. Thielens.

The Oregon Railway and Navigation Company have elected the following officers: President, Henry Villard; vice-president, J. N. Dolph; secretary, G. H. Andrews.

The capital stock of the company, which was extremely simple, consisting merely of viewing the remains by relatives and friends and a most eloquent and impressive funeral oration by Col. Ingersoll.

A large number of distinguished gentlemen were present, including Secretary Sherman, Senators Blaine, Voorhees, Paddock, Allison, Gov. Fourness and others.

The following is the oration of Col. Ingersoll, which was received by all present with marks of deep and sincere feeling and sympathy.

My FRIENDS—I am going to do that which the dead often promised he would do for me. The loved and loving brother, husband, father, friend, died when manhood's morning almost touched noon, and while the shadows still were falling toward the west, he had not passed on life's highway the stone that marks the highest point, but, being weary for a moment, he lay down by the wayside, and using his head for a pillow, fell into that dreamless sleep that kisses down his eyelids still.

While yet in love with life and raptured with the world, he passed to silence and palpitant dust. Yet, after all, it may be best just in the end, surely, to have all the voyage, while eager winds are kissing every sail, to dash against the unseen rock and in an instant to hear the billows roar around a sunken ship; for whether in mid sea or among the breakers of the further shore, a wreck must mark at last the end of each and all. And every life, no matter if its every hour is rich with love and every moment jeweled with a joy, will, at its close, become a tragedy as sad and deep and dark as can be woven of the warp and woof of mystery and death.

This brave and tender man in every storm of his life was oak and rock; but in the sun's time he was vine and flower. He was the friend of all heroic souls. He climbed the heights and left all superstitions far below, while on his forehead fell the dawning of a grander day. He loved the beautiful and was with color, form and music touched to tears. He sided with the weak, and with a willing hand gave aims; with a royal heart and with the purest hand he faithfully discharged all public trusts. He was a worshiper of liberty, a friend of the oppressed, and a thousand times I have heard him quote the words, "For justice all places are a temple and all seasons summer." He believed that happiness was the only good, reason the only torch, justice the only worshiper, humanity the only religion, and love the priest. He added to the sum of human joy, and were every one for whom he did some loving service to bring a blossom to his grave, he would sleep tonight beneath a wilderness of flowers.

Life is a narrow vale between the cold and barren peaks of two eternities. We strive in vain to look beyond the heights. We cry aloud and the only answer is the echo of our wailing cry. From the wilderness of life to the little life that occurred in no word, but the night of death. Hope sees a star and listening low can hear the rattle of a wing. He who sleeps here, when dying, mistaking the approach of death for the return of health, "whispered with his last breath, 'I am better now.' Let us believe in spite of doubts and dogmas and terrors and fears, that these dear words are true of all the countless dead.

And to you who have been chosen from among the many men he loved, to do the last and office for the dead, we give his sacred trust. Speech cannot contain our love. There was in no gentler, manlier man.

There were no ceremonies whatever at the grave, but a pathetic scene occurred when the Misses Lawlor, daughters of the late Gen. Lawlor, and adopted children of Eben C. Ingersoll, to whom they were devotedly attached, took their last leave of their dear foster father. One of them faintly in being taken to her carriage, and the other lingered at the grave until almost forcibly led away by her friends.

A Chicago company fired into a crowd while at a picnic on the 22d of June, killing three and wounding twelve. The shooting was done without sufficient provocation. As soon as the affair became known, two squads of police repaired to the scene and arrested the whole. They formed in marching order under the American flag, and proceeded to West Madison street station, where they are now incarcerated, charged with murder, and guarded by a heavy detachment of police.

The work of rebuilding the Dalles goes on actively.

Jail Breaking.

But one Escape—He is Recaptured.

Our city was somewhat calmed on Friday last when it became known that an attempt was made by the four men at present incarcerated in the county jail.

They a preconcerted plan, were to make a rush for the outer gate when the deputy made his appearance in the jail with their supper. At the moment Mr. Coffey opened the outer gate, one Cohen, alias Buffalo Horn, appeared, bucket in hand, presumably to get water.

He made a rush for freedom, hoping that the officer would neglect to lock the gates, enabling the other three to make good their escape. While he could easily stand "off his man,"—but, this life is full of uncertainties, and such it was in this case. The officer carefully "barred the door," and started in pursuit of his man, whom he tracked to the ford about one and a half miles above town, when he was found lying flat on his back, hid in a clump of bushes. He was carefully put in his "little ped" with the "diamond" not to try again, as he had accidentally come in contact with an ounce of lead. Cohen seems to enjoy his short ordeal, saying that he wanted to "see the cops." Truly the way of the transgressor is hard. He is in the common parlance of the "hard nut," and will change his residence for a "grand structure," he will be securely shackled to prevent the possibility of his going again to examined "crops."
