SOCIAL DELL Jan. 1, 1882.

EDITOR E. O.—You and the many readers of the E. O. may be anxious to learn where "Social Dell" is located but I am not going to tell you just yet, as it is a name more appropriate than the outlandish one by which it is known. I will say this much, it is in Umatilla county, and it is one of the most delightful places imaginable, the very beau ideal of the imaginative, and the venerable poet, W. C. Bryant, must have had a visionary forecast when he wrote that charming dirge, called the Indian's lament, "Where the bright waters flow" and placing yourself upon some suitable elevation where a general view of the surrounding scenery can be had and taking within view the grandeur of the mountain scenery, the magnificent valley dotted with its many cottage residences, with their ornamental shrubbery and orchards of delicious fruits, and marking the zig zag course of the creek as it winds its way through the valley and finally losing itself amid the grassy hills below. Thus you have, Mr. Editor, a short and precise description of the Dell, and to complete the name I will tell why we call it Social Dell. The people, almost without an exception, are what a Missourian would call "well fixed" and of a social turn of mind. The young people are pretty well balanced as to ladies and gents, and then we manage to have something going on nearly every evening. Our singing school is a daisy institution. and not unlike our other gatherings, forms such splendid opportunities for our social "well being." We have our singing school, spelling school, social hops, whist parties and then there is the old folks prayer meeting.

Now let me tell you, Mr. Editor, what a good joke occurred the other evening at Uncle Billy G.'s house. Uncle Billy is a member of the church and a jolly old soul. By a special invitation the young folks had met at Uncle Billy's house for an evening sing, and every thing passed off just splendid until about 9 o'clock, when the old folks as usual became sleepy and retired and the young folks soon came to the conclusion that singing was becoming monotonous and changed the programme to a social game of whist. Thus we enjoyed ourselves for an hour or more when the parlor door gently opened and Uncle Billy announced "that must be the tune the old cow died on," and then closing the door and leaving us to the full enjoyment of our social and innocent amusement.

These are some of the reasons why we call our neighborhood "Social Dell."

I hope this may not lead to an enlargement of the brain but of your lady correspondence.

Truly (not) Yours, MAGGIE

CENTERVILLE, Dec. 23, 1881.

EDITOR E. O.—Not seeing any communications in your columns from this locality, and supposing that such a communication would be acceptable, I take the task upon myself to relate the doings of this community. Our district school is progressing nicely under the auspices of Mrs. Jenny Rabby, who every one says is a most efficient teacher.

Blood runs down our road in streams since two of our most worthy young men "locked horns," in a prolonged struggle some days since, the two engaged (McFarren and Estis) both came of considerably bruised, cause—kicked too hard.

The people of this locality are getting the roads in good condition, which speaks well for them and our supervisors. A great many of our citizens seem to think it is work thrown away as it is the general understanding in this section that the judge has decided that we have no roads, i. e. no legal roads, but as your writer understands the case, our roads were all duty petitioned, and duty granted, by the judge of our County Court, but not knowing enough of the case to answer questions would beg for information, there are others in a like condition I think.

One of our citizens, we understand, was agreeably surprised last Wednesday evening by a party of young folks, who had gathered in for the purpose of going through a few gymnastics and gyrations to the tune of the "Arkansaw Traveler," their host being a bachelo[r] it is presumed that he enjoyed himse[lf]

On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS —AND— OINTMENT.

Health and beauty—how to secure them.—Female Irregularities.

Beauty is as indispensable to the happiness of woman, as is health to her existence, the loss of charms being regarded as a greater affliction than death itself. Holloway's Pills and Ointment have done more towards preserving it and relieving the various disorders incidental to the sex, than all other advertized medicines united. Thousand of lovely females have their constitutions ruined and beauty blighted by gastric aperients, pernicious stimulants and poisonous lotions. The mild soothing, and restorative influence of Holloway's great internal and external remedies in all complaints of women, are now generally admitted, whether in the Springtime of womanhood, or in Autumn or in turn of life.

IMPORTANT CAUTION.—None are genuine unless the signature of J. HAYDOCK surrounds each box of pills and ointment. Boxes at 25 cents, 62 cents and $1 each.

There is considerable saving by taking the larger sizes.
