ALBA NOTES.

Weather Rough and Stormy—Kirk-Baldwin Marriage at Ukiah—Wants to Irrigate Camas Prairie.

Alba, March 9.—The weather is very rough and stormy with frequent squalls of snow making it harder on stock than at any time previous this winter.

Hay is getting short, but most of the stockmen will be able to pull through this month.

There has been no loss of stock in this vicinity, though the season has been very bad.

Granda Kirk and Mrs. Jane Baldwin were married yesterday at Ukiah. Mr. Kirk is in his 74th year and Aunt Jane is on the shady side of 50.

The bride and groom will take a trip to Echo to spend the honeymoon, after which they will return to Camas Prairie, settle down and grow up with the country.

Uncle Jimmie Ellis has just returned from Nebraska, where he negotiated for the sale of a large number of mutton sheep.

Robey came back from the Juniper country with a large number of cattle that he wintered there. The cattle belonged to different parties here and look though they had been well cared for.

The north fork of the John Day, which affords as much water as the Umatilla River in the spring, why not irrigate all of Camas prairie. While irrigation is on the boom, why not tackle this proposition. It is practical and perfectly feasible.

THE OLD MAXWELL DITCH. Conditions That Must Be Met in Ordinary Farm Irrigation.

Old irrigators, especially those favoring government or state control of the systems, claim that the waste of water has always been and always will be, the most prolific source of trouble under the system of private ditching. The waste is in two ways, for the most part.

First, the surplus is seldom intelligently or conscientiously saved; as a rule it is allowed to collect in out-of-the-way places, gathering in such places in answer to the laws of gravitation, and there it wastes by seepage and evaporation.

Secondly, simply by wasteful methods of applying it to the soil; far more is used than is necessary to develop the crop. Under the state or government supervision every miner's lynch must be accounted for, with the result that incredible amounts of water are used on an amount of water that would nowhere reach the same area under the "system" of every man for himself.

VICTORY FOR PAINTERS. The Union Men Claim to Have Received Much Encouragement in Their Co-operative Scheme—in fact, that they made several contracts during the one day of the co-operative during the strike's existence.

There is also 160 acres of pasture land, and a fine residence property in Milton. Mr. Davis will gladly furnish any information regarding the property that is desired.

He caught one of the horses by the bridle when it reared and struck him with its forefeet knocking his shoulder out of joint. He was brought to Pendleton. Dr. C. J. Smith set his shoulder this morning. Mr. Kimbrell will probably return to Echo today or tomorrow.

Work is started at daylight and continues as long as it is light enough to see. Another week, he believes, will see farmers pretty much through with their work.—Walla Walla Statesman.

WHO ARE COMING

Few Foreigners Coming to Oregon the Great Number of Homesteaders—Americans Show More of Their Native Land and Can Develop it Faster.

The homeseekers who are landing every day in the city of Portland and who are being distributed throughout Oregon by the railroads, companies now operating under the recent native Americans and all desirable citizens." Says A. L. Craig, of the O. R. N. T. "The Oregon Daily Journal."

"During the year 1901 there were but 528 foreigners who landed at Castle Garden en route for Oregon," says A. L. Craig, "but this number has increased over 12 years of age. When it is taken into consideration that the total immigration for that year was 412,416 persons, it will be readily understood that Oregon's percentage of the foreigners coming into America is very small."

"During 1902 the number landing at New York and heading for Oregon was 959, and of these 888 were more than 16 years of age. The foreign importation of human beings at New York for that year was 551,569."

Mr. Craig then went on to show that the immigration into Oregon had been numbered but among thousands and that, as the above figures show it was not the foreigner who came, those who did come must have been Americans.

"I made the statement to the Journal some time ago," said Mr. Craig, "that by far the largest majority of those coming West are just the kind of people this country needs. The figures I am now able to give prove my former statement to have been correct."

"I do not mean by this that the foreigner could not make a good citizen nor that foreigners are not good people in many ways. That is far from the fact. Foreigners in a great many cases are more thrifty, painstaking and thoroughly reliable and trustworthy Americans. But they are not of the class that are needed here to develop the resources of the Northwest. It will at once be seen that the American can quickest grasp the necessities of the local climate. There are many socialists who can make his wants known, it is the American who knows what he wants before he tries to ask for it, and it is the American who while he may not have any greater amount of energy than his foreign rival, knows better how to apply that energy in the service of his country. This is nothing against the foreigner—for why should not the American know more about his own country?"

HEALTHY WOMEN

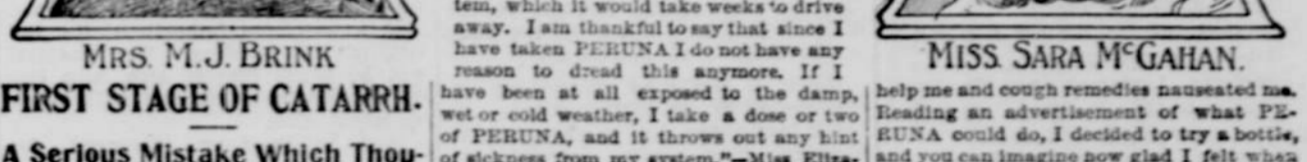

Praise Pe-ru-na as a Cure for Colds and a Preventive of Catarrh.

MISS ELIZABETH LIBER, No. 27 Bassett Street, Albany, N. Y., writes: "I have always regarded unmetabolized weather poisons as my greatest liability to catch cold, when a catarrhal trouble would quickly develop through my entire system, which it would take weeks to drive away. I am thankful to say that since I have taken PERUNA I do not have any reason to dread this anymore. If I have been at all exposed to the damp, wet or cold weather, I take a dose or two of PERUNA, and it throws out any kind of sickness from my system."—Miss Elizabeth Liber.

MRS. M. J. BRINK, No. 529 Michigan Avenue, St. Joseph, Mo., writes: "This past winter during the wet and cold weather I caught a sudden and severe cold which developed a catarrhal condition through my entire system, and so affected my general health that I was compelled to stop work, and became nervous and hysterical and unfit to supervise my home. My physician prescribed for me a most powerful and general medicine, but I took PERUNA and within two weeks I was perfectly cured."—Mrs. M. J. Brink.

MISS SARA MCGAHAN, No. 117 3/4 street, Albany, N. Y., writes: "A few months ago I suffered with a severe attack of influenza, which nothing seemed to relieve. My hearing became bad, my eyes became irritated and weevils. Nothing seemed to do me any good. I took PERUNA and within two weeks I was completely cured."—Miss S. A. Hadley.
