An idol? Man was born to worship
An idol is an image of his thought;
Sometimes he carves it out of gleaming stone,
And sometimes moulds it out of glittering gold,
Or rounds it in a night's frolic
Or lifts it heavenward in a lofty spire,
Or shapes it in a cunning frame of words,
Or prays his priest to make it
For Sense must have its God as well as Soul.
—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

New rural delivery routes in Oregon, increasing postal business, the extension of telephone systems and the improvement in star route mail service, all indicate that the people are being benefited by blessings of the age. The next great step in their favor will be a general reduction of postal rates.

It is only a step from the government regulation of railroad freight rates to government control of the roads. The interstate commerce commission costs the people about a half million dollars per year, and its duty is to hold in check the transportation corporations. It can't earn a dollar in income to the government.

The death penalty does not deter men from committing crime. The New York state prisons now contain 17 men sentenced to death and the burning of a negro in Delaware on Monday did not prevent a crime, equal to his, in Missouri on Thursday. There is no penalty horrible enough to check rage or insane passion in a weak man.

The death rate in the city of Manila has decreased under American management, from 45 to each 1000 population in the first quarter of 1909 to 22.17 per 1000 for the first quarter of 1902. In the city of Havana even a greater improvement than this was made in the sanitary conditions under American rule. If the Filipino will now behave properly and allow the death rate from American rigors to decrease in this proportion, his race may be saved from annihilation.

The Iowa democrats recognize the unbridled growth of the trusts as the greatest menace to the people and in ringing sentences demand that their career be checked. The platform is democratic in the strictest sense of the word. It appeals to no prejudice or personal interests, but makes one general attack on corporate greed and demands in no uncertain terms that the privileges of the people be taken from the hands of the few and restored to the masses. The tariff revision element in the republican party will find the democratic demands so congenial to their own sentiments, that something akin to a tariff reform, anti-trust coalition between them may be expected in Iowa before the campaign is over.

The German socialist vote has increased 40 per cent in the past two years. Thirteen new seats in the reichstag were won by them in last Friday's elections and most of the nation belongs to that party. Just what disposal will be made of the ancient royal regime, the royal family, the throne and the "divine right," has not yet been decided upon, but Emperor William will awake some morning to find that he is only plain Mr. Hohenzollern, a man without a title and that the people that great misunderstanding force, has taken over their ancient legacy—the right to rule and the right to the use of the soil for sustenance and happiness. The spread of socialism in the army is one of the most alarming features of the German movement.

KELLEY AND MATLOCK'S RIDE.

When history writes of Heppner's town
Of the terrible flood that swept it down,
Fame will be there with gilded pen
To write the names of those two men.

Fighting their way through storm and night,
While torrents roared to left and right,
For the specter death down the valley
strode
And shrieked in gloom on the Willow Creek road.

On, like the storm cloud, the riders came,
Urging their horses, with eyes aflame,
Above the tempest their words rang clear:
"Fly for your lives! The Cloudburg's here!"

How many mothers with glazing eye,
Now bless those men for that timely cry?
How many husbands have clasped their wives
And blessed those men, who saved their lives?

Two that rode forth ahead of the wave,
Two that rode forth their brothers to save,
Two that rode forth, who lost their at
Two that rode forth at duty's call.

There are hosts of others in Heppner's town,
If truth were known, who deserve renown;
But 'twill ever be handed from father to son,
How Kelley and Matlock saved Lexington.

—Thomas Murray Spencer,
Portland, Ore.
