WIDOW PENSIONED

SKETCH OF CAPT. MARTIN—VETERAN AND PIONEER

Came to Oregon Sixty Years Ago and Lived on the Coast Fifty-six Years

It has just been announced that Mrs. William Martin of this city, the widow of the late Captain William Martin, has been granted a pension of $8 a month by the government for the services of Captain Martin in the Indian wars.

After the battle of Sand Hollow, he was left in charge of the troops in that part of the country in 1852 and came to Missouri in 1841. In 1843 he came to this state with Judge Daniel Waldo and settled with him in the Waldo Hills, near Salt Lake.

In 1849 Captain Martin went to California during the gold excitement, and remained there for several years, mining part of the time and engaging the business of buying cattle in Oregon and selling them to the mining towns of California.

In 1858 he was elected judge of Umatilla county, and served in that capacity until his death on June 25, 1888. The funeral was conducted from the court house by Judge S. A. Lowell, assisted by the members of the bar and the officers of the city government.

WATER IS WASTED

SUPREME COURT DECIDES IMPORTANT IRRIGATION CASE

Would Not Assign All the Water in a Stream to One Man, Although He Was Prior Appropriator, Because He Could Not Use It All—Disbars Selfishness from the Distribution of Water.

Owing to the fact that irrigation legislation is now one of the principal topics for discussion in Oregon, a decision just rendered in an irrigation case, by the supreme court of Oregon, makes interesting reading for those seeking information on irrigation.

The case covered by the decision is one from Wheeler county, and involves the division of water in a small stream, which rises in the Blue mountains, in Wheeler county, and flows in a well-defined channel through defendant's land in Grant county, and through plaintiff's land in Grant county.

Decision of the Court. This is a suit to enjoin the diversion of the water of Squaw creek, a non-perennial stream, which rises in the Blue mountains, in Wheeler county, and flows in a well-defined channel through defendant's land in Grant county, and through plaintiff's land in Grant county.

So far as is known at this time, the only case of diphtheria in Umatilla county is in the family of J. W. Jenkins, residing about two miles below Milton. It is a dangerous case.

BIG DRIVE YIELDS 2000 AMERICAN HARE

The first rabbit drive for the benefit of the new cannery at Echo, was made near that city yesterday.

There were 2,000 American hare slaughtered in the drive and so complete was the organization of the cannery force, that within seven hours after the close of the drive, every rabbit was dressed and in cold storage, awaiting the cooking process, before being cooled in the cans for the market. The rabbits brought in from the drive were fat, stout, healthy specimens and, as a result, the quality of stock is excellent.
