Wool Prospects

LARGE CROP OF WING AND OF FINE QUALITY.

Sheep Are All in Fine Condition and the Growth of Wool Has Been Uninterrupted—This Is One of the Years When All the Conditions Have Been Admirable—Sheepmen in Good Spirits.

Charles Cunningham has just returned from a week spent among his sheep and is in the best of spirits over the prospect for a good clip this year.

All of the sheep are in good condition, fat and healthy, their fleeces are large and the wool is strong, so that in the estimation of Mr. Cunningham the crop this season will be at least a fourth more than last, and it may yield a still higher advance.

The winter has been very favorable to the growth of the sheep, warm and open and at the same time not overly wet. The pasturage has been excellent, the grass strong and has not been gotten, so that there has not been a day in all of the winter when the sheep did not have all they wished to eat.

Whenever the sheep is retarded in its growth by lack of feed, it begins to lose flesh, the wool begins to die, or at least stops its growth, and from that point on the strands of the fleece become dense and brittle, having no life or strength, and bringing in the market an inferior price.

These are the reasons all of the sheepmen of the county are in such good spirits, for they know that no ordinary spell of weather that could sweep over the country from now on would affect matters in the least.

THIRTY-NINE UNDER ARREST

SOMEBODY GAVE A TIP TO THE FRATERNITY.

Great Scattering Among the Imported Gentry, Who Are Footloose—The Domestic Product at a Discount and Will Stand Trial—Thirty-seven Men Fined and Two Plead Not Guilty—Others Under Bonds of $150.

Pursuant to the crusade started yesterday afternoon by the district attorney, all of those arrested for gambling were arraigned this afternoon at 2 o'clock before Judge Ellis of the circuit court, and entered their pleas.

The transient men who had been operating had all, or nearly all, left town by yesterday noon. Most of the games were closed down when business was over Thursday night, and the men had taken advantage of the morning trains out of the city.

As a result those who were rounded up by the sheriff and his deputies were the resident gamblers and a few transient who had taken advantage of the knowledge gained yesterday afternoon.

Those who were arraigned this afternoon were: Ed Noble, William Krebs, O. Gibson, Sam Endicott, Ed Souder, Al Oyster, Lester Swagart, J. C. Miller, E. J. Carty, Frank O'Hara, William George, Sam Miller, Charles Estes, Henry Sparks, Jess Salling, Eugene Stanton, Oscar Rust, George Rinken, Steve Noble, John Endicott, Andrew Deal, James Roberts, Bill Bogard, Eugene Morgan, Asa Rayburn, Louis Berigan, Shelby Jones, James Hays, Ernest Tatum, the Herbman, Al Rudd, Joo, Estes, Ed Noble, Jack Lynch, Chas. Cook, Andrew Galt, George Hayes, James Mackey, John Fisk.

Information was also filed against John Miller, Oscar Rust, James Roberts, Asa Rayburn, John Dollarhide, Charles Preston, Tom Scott, Richard Roe, John Doe, Dick Harris, Pete Murry, George Mansfield, Charles Morrison, Steve Noble, Frank Noble, Henry Sparks, Charles Estes, Arthur Hicks, Sam Miller, John Stanton, Tom Newport, Will Meredith, Orve Caviness, Log Estes, Black Charlie and Ed Murphy.

When court convened, all of the men with the exception of Al Rudd and Charles Cook pleaded guilty and waived time of sentence. All those who have never been before the court on a similar charge were fined $50 and the others $75. Those pleading not guilty were put under $150 bonds.

J. J. Ray and James A. Fee had been retained by the gamblers and after a conference the attorneys advised the plea of guilty. Some of the men asked that the fine be less than $50 as they were unable to pay so much. Mr. Halley demurred, claiming that those who were employed should be protected by the employers and the fines be held up. He contended that the saloonkeepers and boss gamblers were able to look after their men and asked the court to make no difference. Each man was then called separately and fined as he made his plea.

TRAVELING SALESMAN. HIKES FROM BAKER CITY.

Was Caught in Pendleton and After Confering With Authorities Digs Up the Face of the Claim—Was Not His First Offense.

Sheriff Harvey K. Brown, of Baker City, was a Pendleton visitor today, coming here to hold a conference with Chief Smith, who is wanted by the hotel firm of Gonore Brothers, of Baker, for attempting to jump a board bill of $132, which Le Smith's wife had run at the house.

Smith is a traveling salesman for a Chicago grocery firm, and sells direct to the customer. He was in Baker City once before, and left with a hotel bill of $40 waiting to be paid, but was returned on this trip he was watched. He left a couple of days ago, coming to this city.

The hotel people had notified the sheriff, who wired to this city. Deputy Sheriff C. P. Davis caught him as he was looking for a train.

After a talk with Sheriff Brown this morning, Smith decided to get up and settled the matter by giving the Baker county sheriff $140, the amount of the bill and the costs, when he was allowed to go.

Hard Times in Washtucna. Dr. M. Stiles returned last night from the Washtucna country where he has a homestead. When seen by a Statesman representative today he said:

"The feeling of the country over is of general satisfaction as there is every hope of a large crop the coming season. A great deal of land is seeded to wheat and as yet the winter has been so mild as not to damage the grain in any way."

The people over there find it very hard to live, as all kinds of produce is very high, and in fact the poor man who goes there has a very hard time in getting along. It is hard to get a crop from raw land until it is worked at least two years, so it is really seen that a man without means has a hard row to hoe. As a rule the people are all poor. The merchants are doing all in their power to help the homesteaders by supplying them with groceries until their crops are harvested, but as it takes money to run a business in any kind, they can't do all credit business.—Walla Walla Statesman.

Slovenly Towns. Slovenly towns cannot expect to gain the respect of the visitors that happen that way, much less can they expect to attract people to a town which is indistinguishable to live in from many points of view. A town, to be attractive must have pride. The average person has no regard for the looks of the street. Rubbish is thrown into the street without any thought of the result. If all people would exercise good sense in these respects there might be a little less of that slovenly appearance in many towns. The people make the town, and as the people are so is the town. A little pride in the matter of the surrounding of the home will add greatly to its appearance. The place and give the visitor the impression that the town is thrifty and her people are intelligent.—Weston Leader.

While the O. R. & N. rates to the fair have not been announced yet, there will be a great reduction in prices. By running a through car from Pendleton to St. Louis, special accommodations and prices would be obtained and a great saving would be made by joining a party of this kind.

If the excursion is arranged, a special car would be secured and no change would be made on the entire trip.

GHANEY ACCIDENT. 11-YEAR-OLD BOY'S NECK WAS INSTANTLY BROKEN.

Son of Well Known Dairyman Was Run Over by Six-Horse Team and Heavy Wagon—Was Also Cut Somewhat by Barbed Wire—Victim of a Peculiar Accident.

The remains of Harry Chaney, who was run over by a water wagon on the Chaney ranch yesterday afternoon, were brought into the city last night to the Baker & Folsom undertaking parlors, where they were embalmed, and will be taken to Minville in the morning for burial by the side of another brother, who died some years ago.

The accident happened about 1:30 yesterday afternoon. The boy, who was about 11 years of age, started to the field with his father, Charles Chaney, who was ploughing. Mr. Chaney was driving a six-horse team hitched to a water wagon, and was accompanied by a hired man who was leading a three-horse team.

On the way to the field the boy got off the wagon and was standing by the side of the road looking at a small washbowl. One of the horses tumbled in a loose strand of barbed wire, and the team started to run. Mr. Chaney, seeing this, tried to stop them about to be tangled in the wire, started his team on the run down the hill, and his son, while running from the first team, got in front of the wagon was struck by the lead horse and six horses and the wagon passed over him. The barbed wire struck him in the forehead, cutting a deep gash over the eye, and while breaking his neck.
