About Sanative Antiseptic Cleansing

And about the Care of the Skin, Scalp, Hair and Hands

CATTLE ARE DYING

STRANGE DISEASE CARRIES OFF GOODMAN'S YEARLINGS.

Dr. J. Christie, Deputy State Veterinarian Will Investigate—Reports Say it is Dropsy, But the Doctor Says Dropsy is Not Contagious—Umatilla County Stock in Excellent Condition This Spring.

Reports from the Hudson Bay district say that Harold Goodman has lost 16 head of yearling calves, with a disease which has been pronounced to be dropsy by Walla Walla veterinarians.

The calves swell up under the breast and in the legs and die in a few days after first becoming affected with the disease. From its ravages among Mr. Goodman's cattle it is thought that the disease must be contagious, but Dr. J. Christie, of this city, deputy state inspector, and a member of the state veterinary board, says that dropsy is not contagious, and that this disease is not dropsy, from the report he has heard of it.

Dr. Christie expects to visit the herd immediately, and ascertain the true nature of the disease, and take steps to prevent its spread. While other herds in this vicinity have not suffered from the disease, it is evident that it is not highly contagious and Dr. Christie does not anticipate anything serious from it. Stock in Umatilla county are in excellent condition this spring, from the standpoint of health and flesh, and with the exception of a few slight cases of mange there is no disease of any kind existing in the county.

Oliver McIntosh, the 14-year-old daughter of W. F. McIntosh, living near Weston, was found by Detective H. H. Hawley yesterday, at the Esmond Annex in Portland, where she had been taken by a strange woman to spend the night. The little girl was on her way to Battle Ground, Washington, to visit a sister, and while near The Dalles, she became acquainted with a strange woman, who enticed her to a room, in which three young hoodlums were smoking opium, on their arrival in Portland.

The girl indignantly refused to smoke the opium proffered her, and was taken in charge by Mrs. Cox, the landlady at the Esmond, and on her information, James Cooley, Walter Smith and May McGraw were arrested and fined $100 each for frequenting an opium den, and were then bound over in the sum of $200 each to the grand jury, for enticing a young girl into a disreputable house.

PACKING HOUSES COMING. Monte B. Gwinn of Boise, Enthusiastic Over Prospects of Stockmen's Plants.

Monte B. Gwinn, secretary of the Idaho Woolgrowers' Association, and a director of the Independent Packing Company, who visited his brother, J. H. Gwinn in this city, several days this week, in connection with the Independent Packing Company, to the Oregon Daily Journal, said: "Within 60 days we expect to be in a position to state just what, where and when we will begin operations," said Monte B. Gwinn of Boise, secretary of the Idaho Woolgrowers' Association, and one of the promoters of the independent packing concern.

Mr. Gwinn, accompanied by A. A. Stuenkel, a prominent banker, arrived in Portland last night. He will be in Portland two or three days.

Continuing in regard to the packing house, Mr. Gwinn said: "Every one is busily at work with his coat off and there is no doubt but that we will make a proposition to go. Just as soon as we see where we can and show the people we can do the business, the money will roll in. The Independent Packing Company cannot help but be a success."

Kansas City is looked upon as the base of operations, and it is presumed that the Missouri town will be the site of the main packing plant. Mr. Gwinn, in speaking of Portland's chances of securing one of the branch packing houses, said:

"Personally, I favor Portland, and will give it all the support I can, but just what will be done depends largely upon circumstances."

STUBBLEFIELD WILL HAVE A HEARING IN UMATILLA COURTS.

The famous long drawn out Stubblefield will contest has been brought to this county, after having exhausted the patience and knowledge of the Walla Walla probate court, and having been dismissed by it. Cassana Stubblefield now asks that the will be settled in the Umatilla county court, claiming that the county is all in that county, and that therefore Umatilla courts have jurisdiction.

According to the petition filed Judge Hartman yesterday afternoon filed an order directing that C. H. Rader, R. M. Dorothy and E. A. Rader to produce in court, inside of ten days, the original will, together with an inventory of the property of the estate. The estate consists of $2,500 of real property and of about $200,000 personal property. The contest is over a codicil to the will providing for the endowment of a home for orphan children, and the men, which it has been decided to locate at Walla Walla.

Frazier, brought in the following report, which was adopted: "We, the representatives of the prohibition party, Oregon, in convention assembled, reaffirm the principles set forth in the Oregon state platform of 1902, which so clearly defined the object and aim of the party, to be the annihilation of liquor traffic and inviting to party fellowship all those who agree with us upon this one issue.

"We recognize the laudable efforts of the antislavery league to unite all temperance sentiment and seek their cooperation to assist in the banishment of the saloon business.

MANY MERCHANTS MEET HERE TO ORDER SUPPLIES.

Walla Walla, La Grande, Heppner, Milton, Adams, Athens, Weston and Helix Were All Represented Here Yesterday Evening—Dry Goods Salesman Makes Pendleton Central Distributing Point.

As an evidence of the business importance of Pendleton, it is only necessary to mention a meeting of merchants from surrounding towns which was held here yesterday afternoon.

Representative merchants from La Grande, Walla Walla, Heppner, Athens, Milton, Echo, Weston and Helix came here by appointment, to meet a salesman from an eastern dry goods house, and order their summer goods, in wholesale lots.

Pendleton being centrally located was selected as the meeting point for these merchants, to save the expense and delay of having the drummer visit all the different cities and take separate orders.

The samples were displayed here yesterday afternoon, and the different merchants for 75 miles around Pendleton met and looked over the stock and ordered their summer supplies, in bulk which will be shipped in bulk from the house in the east.

There are three points at which these merchants' meetings are held, for the purpose of ordering large quantities of goods, in the entire Northwest—Portland, Spokane, and Pendleton, and after these orders are placed, the different railroads begin a scramble for the shipments.

As the interior country settles up, the number of merchants joining in these combination orders becomes larger and larger and within a few years, this gathering will become a special feature in the autumn, winter and spring in this city.

The drummer with whom this meeting was held, carries about 20 of the largest sample trunks and his baggage resembles a theatrical troupe coming to town. The merchant who reduced prices by ordering in combination lots and the drummer saves the great expense of carrying his baggage over a large territory, to make all the outlying towns represented.

A subscription to the Daily East Oregonian, for one year, was taken by Fred Lockley, the circulation manager some time ago in a novel way.

The match was a long and hard one, the men being equally matched, but finally Lockley threw Kunkel, tearing off about half of a new pair of pants in the task.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

Defendant Accused of Robbing the Last Chance Saloon.

C. Henderson, claiming to be from Baker City, where he has been employed for some time at an electric power plant, was arrested last evening by Marshal Carney on complaint of H. Kennedy, as the man who held up the Last Chance saloon on Tuesday morning.

Kennedy claims that he is positive that this is the man, while the man claims to be a merchant at Athens. He had a check book from the Savings Bank of this city, in which he showed a large account, and was identified as a prominent citizen of Athens, who had turned up at the house of Henderson, claiming that he is in about the same fix, and will be able to prove his innocence. He is now in the city jail.

Beggar is a Fake.

A boy apparently about 16 years of age has been annoying the residence districts by begging for money with which to pay his way at a school for deaf mutes. He is deaf and dumb and claims that his affliction resulted from typhoid fever. He could go to such an institution with which to pay his way at a school for deaf mutes. People will do well to discourage his efforts at begging.
