

MASS OF SORES

Awful Suffering of a Boy from an Itching Humour.

CURED BY CUTICURA

Not One Square Inch of Skin on His Whole Body Was Unaffected.

"My little son, a boy of five, broke out with an itching rash. Three doctors prescribed for him, but he kept getting worse until we could not dress him any more. They finally advised me to try a certain medical college, but its treatment did not do any good. At the time I was induced to try Cuticura Remedies he was so bad that I had to cut his hair off and put the Cuticura Ointment on him on bandages, as it was impossible to touch him with the bare hand. There was not one square inch of skin on his whole body that was not affected. He was a mass of sores. The bandages used to stick to his skin and in removing them it used to take the skin off with them, and the screams from the poor child were heart-breaking. I began to think that he would never get well, but after the second application of Cuticura Ointment I began to see signs of improvement, and with the third and fourth applications the sores commenced to dry up. His skin peeled off twenty times, but it finally yielded to the treatment. I used the Cuticura Resolvent for his blood, and now I can say that he is entirely cured, and a stronger and healthier boy than you ever saw than he is today."

ROBERT WATTAM,

No return in six years, Mr. Wattam writes, Feb. 23, 1933.

"Your letter of the 21st in regard to the case of my little boy at hand. I am truly thankful to say that the cure effected by the Cuticura Remedies has been a most thorough and successful cure to date."

CONSOLIDATE THE SCOURING MILLS

PRODUCT DISTRICTS WILL COME TO PENDLETON.

Will Make Portion of Idaho and Montana Tributary to This Point—Wool Scouring at The Dalles and Pendleton Will Be Under One Management—Mills Here Are Being Thoroughly Overhauled in Readiness for a Long and Prolific Run.

The Pendleton Scouring Mills and the similar institution at The Dalles will be run under the same management this year, and it is rumored that The Dalles people have leased the plant here for a term of five years.

J. M. Russell, of The Dalles, is now in Pendleton making the final arrangements, and will take charge of the mills here about the first of the coming month. Mr. Russell is one of the managers of the The Dalles City Scouring Mill Company, and will have the direct oversight of the Pendleton mills when the deal is made.

A force of men is now at work on the machinery of the Pendleton plant, and in the next month will be completely overhauled and put into the best condition possible. The machines are not in the best condition, owing to the long strain of night and day work they underwent during the past season, during which time there was no opportunity to make little necessary repairs as they were needed.

Levi Strauss, who was last year foreman of the scouring mills, will be on the road for the company this year and will buy for them during the wool season. He is now in California in the interest of the mills. His successor in the mills has not yet been appointed, but it is thought that it will be some man from The Dalles.

The combination of these plants will be a good one for the managers, for they will be enabled to handle all the wool in this part of the Northwest. The Shaliko country and all of the interior will be taken care of by the mill at The Dalles, while the eastern and southeastern part of this state, and part of Washington, Idaho and Montana, will be tributary to the Pendleton mill.

The management will be master of the whole Northwest situation in the wool scouring business.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD BOY ON A LONG TRIP.

Traveling Alone for Fourteen Hundred Miles—En Route From Rosland to Salt Lake City—Goes to Live With an Aunt—Little Fellow is Level-Headed and Confident and Signed Up a Half-Fare Ticket.

Wilford Leivers reached the city this afternoon from Spokane, and stepped off the Hunt line train for a short visit in this city between ages and had come from Rosland, B. C. This far on his way to Salt Lake City, where he will make his future home with relatives.

The little traveler has made the trip all of the distance alone, and transferred from the Northern road at this place to the O. R. & N. for the remainder of his trip to Salt Lake.

B. F. Wolfe, the agent of the O. R. & N., was making his ticket report after the missed train, and informed him that it cost $25.80 to ride to Salt Lake. The little man searched his pockets and found $25. He became pretty badly excited when he thought he did not have enough to pay for his ticket, and offered his watch to the agent as part payment. A half fare ticket was made out for him and he was held up to the window by a traveling man while he signed it.

The mother of the boy is in England, the father is in Rosland, and the boy is now on his way to Salt Lake to live with an aunt.

INSPECTING SITES. Question of Where to Build Is Now Where Near a Solution.

Dr. C. J. Smith, Lee Teutsch, Jesse Felling, Walter Pierce and Clerk John Hatley, Jr. of the school board, accompanied by a committee of business men, consisting of Leon Cohen, Dr. W. G. Cole, Dr. F. W. Vincent and F. B. Clifton, made the rounds of the available sites for school buildings this morning and no things are in a worse muddle than before.

It has been the contention of those who oppose the building of a school house on the Academy site that the location is undesirable, that it is too close to the railroad and the factories; that it is flat and generally undesirable as a place where the young people should spend nine months of the year.

Now when the situation is canvassed it is found that unless the district is willing to pay a fortune for what they want no better location can be bought. That is about what was decided, and the matter is now just where it was last year.

The board is willing to build on any property that is suggested and that can be secured. No better than what is now had can be gotten for any small sum, and so the board is up against it again. It will hold another meeting this evening, consider all of the evidence gleaned from the trip, view the question from all sides, and if possible decide on some plan to submit.

DEATH OF O. W. DUNBAR.

Was a Native of Oregon and Was Born Fifty-six Years Ago—Spent His Youth in California and Many Years in Astoria and Alaska—Belonged to a Prominent Family.

O. W. Dunbar, the editor of the Daily Guide, died at his home on Garden street this morning at 11 o'clock after an illness of four months' duration of Bright's disease and dropsy.

Mr. Dunbar was born in the Waldo Hills of the 5th ward of Astoria, Oregon, where he worked for San Francisco Call. He remained with that paper several years, when he returned to this state and began the publication of this paper in Astoria, which he continued for 14 years.

While he was editor of that paper Sam Simpson, the well known Oregon poet, was a member of the staff and became a personal friend of the editor.

After leaving Astoria Mr. Dunbar went to Skagway, Alaska, where he edited a paper for five years. Upon leaving Skagway Mr. Dunbar came to Pendleton and in November, 1902, commenced the publication of the Pendletonian, which was afterwards merged into the Daily Guide.

The deceased was of a prominent family; one brother, W. R. Dunbar, being register of the land office at Vancouver, Wash., for a number of years. He died March 24, 1903, of the same disease that claimed his brother. Another brother is R. O. Dunbar, one of the supreme judges of the state of Washington, who is suffering from the effects of a severe fall received a few days ago, and telegrams he cannot come to his brother's funeral. He leaves a wife and one daughter, Miss Agnes Dunbar, well known as an electionist. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

PRELIMINARY PREAMBLE.

Profoundly impressed with the truth that the National Grange of the United States should definitely proclaim to the world its general objects, we hereby unanimously make this declaration of purposes of the Patrons of Husbandry.

GENERAL OBJECTS. 1. United by the strong and faithful tie of agriculture, we mutually resolve to labor for the good of our order, our country and mankind.

2. We heartily endorse the motto: "In essentials, unity; in non-essentials, liberty; in all things charity."

3. We shall endeavor to advance our cause by laboring to accomplish the following objects: To develop a better and higher manhood and womanhood among ourselves. To enhance the comforts and conveniences of our homes, and strengthen our attachments to our parents. To foster mutual understanding and co-operation. To maintain each other in labor, to hasten the good time coming. To reduce our expenses, both individual and corporate. To buy less and produce more, in order to make our farms self-sustaining. To diversify our crops, and crop no more than we can cultivate.

To condense the weight of our exerts, selling less in the bushel, and more on hoof and in fleece; less in lint, and more in warp and wool. To systematize our work, and calculate intelligently on probabilities. To discountenance the credit system, the mortgage system, the fashion system, and every other system tending to prodigality and bankruptcy.

We propose meeting together, talking together, working together, buying together, selling together, and, in general, acting together for our mutual protection and advancement, as occasion may require. We shall avoid litigation as much as possible by arbitration in the Grange. We shall constantly strive to secure entire harmony, good will, vital brotherhood among ourselves, and to make our order perpetual. We shall earnestly endeavor to suppress personal, local, sectional and national prejudices, all unhealthy rivalry, all selfish ambition. Faithful adherence to these principles will insure our mental, moral, social and material advancement.

RAILROAD TO DUFUR.

Branch of O. R. & N. Twenty-seven Miles Long Through Wheat Belt. W. S. Conroy, of The Dalles, is in the city today, and says there are now 100 men and about 15 teams at work on the Great Southern railroad, which is to be built from a point three miles above The Dalles to Dufur, a distance of 27 miles through a rich wheat district.

The new road will join the O. R. & N. tracks at the mouth of Fifteen Mile creek, three miles east of the Dalles, and while it is incorporated under the laws of Washington and is under the management of outside parties, it is thought to be a branch of the O. R. & N., and as such, the citizens of that locality hope to see it extended further south, through Wasco county.

It is expected to finish the road in time to handle the Dufur wheat crop this year. Heretofore this crop has been hauled to The Dalles by wagon, and the output has been necessarily limited by this expensive way of transporting the grain to market.

GRANGE IS GROWING

SIX BRANCHES NOW WORKING IN EASTERN OREGON.

Membership of Over 500 in Union and Umatilla Counties—Recalls Farmers Alliance Organization, Which Saved $5,000 to Farmers in One Season by Purchasing Supplies by Wholesale.

The activity of the Grange in Eastern Oregon is one of the most important movements made in this district for 10 years. At this time there are six branches of this organization in Union and Umatilla counties, with a total of over 300 members.

The three branches in the Milton and Freewater districts have about 140 members and the three in Union county about 160. All of them are adding to their membership constantly, and are preparing the way for new organizations later in the season.

The organization calls to mind the Farmers Alliance of the 90s, which was strong in both Umatilla and Union counties.

In Union county that organization saved the farmers in one season, about $5,000 by purchasing machinery and binding twine, of a local implement house, in wholesale. The farmers clubbed together and ordered a carload of supplies for harvest, and by this means, in several towns in the county, made a saving of this amount in one season.

So far, in this Union counties, the Grange is in the social stage, and no business organization has been attempted yet, but it will gradually grow into a business organization, as it has in the Willamette valley, taking an active part in public affairs, and especially in county expenditures.
