

THE PRIMARY LAW

STATE LEAGUE SENDS OUT COMPREHENSIVE SYNOPSIS

Reasons Why Voters Should Favor the Direct Primary Amendment...

The Direct Primary Nominating League of Oregon has sent out the following circular letter to every newspaper in the state and to many of the individual voters.

We ask your vote for the direct primary nominating election law, No. 302 on the official ballot, for the following reasons: It makes the people the only power to nominate candidates for public office, and so destroys the party boss system.

This is one of the greatest powers in our government, perhaps greater than the right to elect the officers from among the candidates after the nomination.

The men who really govern are those in the great parties who can make or break candidates for nomination. So long as these bosses can nominate their friends for office the government will be good for the people, no matter who is elected.

Men have died for the right to cast the ballot, and surely the right to make the ballot is not less valuable or sacred than the right to vote it.

No man would think of having delegates or conventions do his voting at the general election, and it is quite important that he do his own voting at the nominating election.

In the last two years bills have been introduced in 22 legislatures for primary nominating elections. This bill is submitted for the approval or rejection of the people because it cannot be defeated at the ballot box by political tricks and trades.

If you enact this law you will choose your candidates at a nominating election, and no combination of bosses will be able to name the candidates for your party, much less can they make a slate for both parties.

This bill is endorsed by many republican county conventions and by the democratic state convention. By a political trick of the managers the question was not allowed to come before the republican state convention.

It is not a partisan measure in any sense of the word. Senator Mitchell, Governor Chamberlain and other broad-minded statesmen and politicians who are strong in an open contest before the people favor this bill and with them are nearly all the men who trust the people and believe they are fit and able for self-government.

The men who fear the people, and all little politicians who manage the nomination given to them if they ever get one, and all the bootlickers and bosses who make money out of politics, are against the bill.

It is not extravagant, for it will cost about 35 cents over two years for each voter, or $35,000 for the state.

But the power to make nominations must be worth more than it costs for the politicians do not complain of the expense.

It is not more cumbersome or complicated than the Australian ballot law and it is drawn on the same principles. Nominations will be made by the highest number of votes just as the constitution requires in all elections.

The best government is possible only by having the best men of all parties for candidates, and the people can trust no one but themselves to choose such candidates. Nominations cannot be bought nor stolen from the people as they have been from conventions.

When the people nominate, every candidate for nomination must stand alone on his own merits, and months before the nominating election his friends will be proclaiming his character, record, ability and needs for the place. But they will never boast of his payments to the "primary fund," nor of the places he has found in his office for his friends of the "managing committee" and the expense of the taxpayers. And he who has not two friends per 100 members of his party who want to sign a petition to put his name on the primary ballot, is a very poor stick to ask the people to trust him with an office.

The Bill Provides That on petition of two per cent of the party voters the county clerk will print the candidate's name on party nominating ballot. If he receives the highest number of his party votes at the nominating election he has his party nomination and his name will be printed on the official ballot as its candidate. None but registered members of the party can sign his petition. None but members of a party can vote this ballot at the nominating election, but this does not apply to the general election in June for public officers. This enables members of a party to make its nominations without interference by other parties or mercenary voters. Every political party is given the right to the same and exclusive use of all of its party name. This will prevent candidates for spite as well as fusion.

Political parties casting 25 per cent or more of the total vote must nominate all their candidates under this law. It does not apply to city elections in towns of less than 2,000 population.

Independent candidates and political parties casting less than 25 per cent of the total vote must continue to nominate as they do now under the Australian ballot law, which is Sec. 2791 B. & C. Codes.

Candidates for nomination for the legislative assembly may pledge the people in their petition that they will, or will not, vote for the people's choice for United States Senator, regardless of their personal preference. The bill provides for nominations for that office.

Senator Mitchell and many others believe this will prevent the nomination of any candidate for the legislature who does not pledge himself to vote for the people's choice, and thus result practically in the direct election of our senators in congress. The legislature will simply ratify the people's choice in much the same way that the president is elected.

The judges and clerks of the general election act also at the primary election at the same time and place for all parties subject to the bill. The vote is by secret ballot, which gives every man an equal opportunity before the people of his party.

This does not destroy political parties but provides for their government by their registered members just as a city is governed by its registered voters.

This law does not make any change in the Australian ballot or the method of voting at regular general elections. It provides for opening the registration books from September 20th to October 30th before each presidential election.

Public officers will more faithfully serve the people because their political life will depend always upon the people and no one else.

If you enact this law you place the governing power more directly in the hands of the people, and therefore carry it a step nearer to the original ideal of a government of the people, by the people, and for the people.

TELLS OF UMATILLA

SALEM PAPER REVIEWS FARMING PROSPECTS HERE.

Traveling Correspondent Tells of Excellent Resources of Umatilla— Outlook for Dairying—Sees His First Barbed Wire 'Phone—Dry Land Alfalfa—Income From Milk Cows at Milton.

The Pacific Homestead, of Salem, the leading agricultural paper published in Oregon, prints the following interesting observations from M. S. Shrock, a traveling correspondent who recently visited Umatilla county.

The East Oregonian takes pleasure in republishing these extracts from the correspondence, as they give an outsider's estimate of Umatilla county and some few of her resources.

Mr. Shrock says: Dairying in a favored locality like this would surely mean thousands of dollars to the farmers as well as merchants. The distance from Pendleton by wagon road over the hills is 25 miles. You can count all the houses along this road on the fingers of one hand.

This might seem to some of the readers a lonesome journey, but it is nothing compared with the journey from Arlington to Irrigon; 40 miles, 15 of which has not even a growing crop in sight.

Along the road from Echo to Pendleton are the nicest wheat fields I ever saw anywhere.

It is a common thing for a grain of wheat when sown in this soil to germinate, stand out, and then 25 to 30 stalks, each of which bears a head of golden grain.

Most of the grain farmers say that wheat is the only crop that will grow on up-land, hence they try no other. I passed a place yesterday about two miles east of Adams where two nice patches of alfalfa can be seen growing on hill land. One field of about two acres is used for hog pasture, the other is let grow to be cut for hay, and was from 10 to 12 inches in height.

I find a much better class of work horses as well as driving horses in Umatilla county than in the counties visited before. More attention is given to breeding pure-bred sires. Better care is also given the growing colts.

At Weston I had my first introduction to a barbed wire telephone line. I talked to a man in Milton, 10 miles away, and I was surprised to note that the ragged edge usually left by a barbed wire is entirely absent. The man on the other end could be heard distinctly.

The government will not, however, enter this field for the reason that most of the available tracts for irrigation purposes have been taken up by private enterprises under the Carey act, and the government does not desire to interfere with the plans of private companies. The discharges further state:

"The only other water available for irrigation in Crook county is the Crooked river, and the summer flow of this stream is now fully utilized.

As it would be very expensive to divert the water of the Deschutes across the Crooked river valley onto the distant arable lands, the government has decided that it can do nothing in Crook county unless private enterprises under the Carey act are abandoned. Should this occur the government would not hesitate to begin work on this scheme."

The private enterprises of this character in Crook county are going ahead in a way that does not indicate any intention to abandon their projects.

The new irrigation company, with headquarters at Bend, has a capitalization of two and a half millions and the reclamation work is being carried out vigorously. A number of small tracts of land lying under the Columbia Southern ditch have already been disposed of.

FRUIT INJURED AT TOUCHET. Cherries, Strawberries and Early Apples Badly Affected.

Fruit in and near Touchet will do well if there is a third of a crop this year. The frost of the latter end of April destroyed nearly all the cherries and strawberries and early apples, says the Walla Walla Union.

The late fruits are not so much harmed, according to reports received here.

The freakish way in which the frost has acted has been a matter of some discussion. A few miles to the north of Touchet there is no damage reported by the fruitgrowers, and the orchards fulfilling the fair promises made by them at the opening of the season. But not only are different regions treated with seeming discrimination by "Jack Frost," but on the same tree there is often a branch or two that is not injured, while the remainder of the buds of the tree are completely destroyed. Sometimes, even, on the same cluster of fruit, there may be seen a healthy green fruit surrounded by many all discolored by the frost.

HARRY MORISSEY INJURED. Suffers Concussion of the Brain by Striking Telephone Pole.

Harry Morissey was badly hurt yesterday about 2 p. m., and lies now at the hospital with a severe case of concussion of the brain, and a badly cut scalp and bruised skull, though fortunately no bones were broken.

Mr. Morissey and a companion, George Connell, were riding on horseback and at the time of the accident at the intersection of Alta and Court streets, very near the engine house. They were headed toward town and were running their horses. About 100 feet from the engine house Morissey listed so far to one side that his head struck a telephone pole. He was thrown out of the saddle and struck violently on the ground, jarring and bruising him badly. In addition to the injuries to the head first mentioned, he was at once taken to the hospital, where he lies, quiet, comfortable and recovering from the nature of the hurt, but in a critical condition, nevertheless.

TO REPEAL EDDY LAW. Eastern Oregon Mining Corporations Will Make That an Issue.

Already the mining corporations of Baker county are clamoring for the repeal of the Eddy corporation tax law, and will fight every man running for the legislature in that county and Eastern Oregon who is not in favor of repealing the law.

The mining companies claim the law imposing a tax upon them prevents them from developing the country, and drives capital out. The people are well satisfied with the Eddy law, for the reason that it causes the mining companies to organize with millions of capital to bear their part of the government by contributing their tax to the state.

REGISTRATION BOOKS CLOSE MAY 14

ATTORNEY-GENERAL CRAWFORD RENDERED AN OPINION LAST SATURDAY EVENING, ON THE QUESTION OF THE CLOSING OF THE REGISTRATION BOOKS, IN WHICH HE SAYS THAT THE BOOKS MUST CLOSE AT MIDNIGHT ON SATURDAY, MAY 14, ALTHOUGH THE LAW SPECIFICS MAY 15 AS THE LAST DAY OF REGISTRATION.

Attorney-General Crawford rendered an opinion last Saturday evening, on the question of the closing of the registration books, in which he says that the books must close at midnight on Saturday, May 14, although the law specifies May 15 as the last day of registration. The attorney's law specifies May 15 as the last day of registration, but the books will be closed at midnight next Saturday night, May 14.

Registration and therefore the books must close at midnight on May 14. Registration is now becoming more regular at the office of the county clerk, and while there are over 1,200 voters in the county yet unregistered, it is thought the bulk of these will get their names on the rolls. Voters who have not yet registered are invited to remember this opinion of the attorney general by which the books will be closed at midnight next Saturday night, May 14.

land referred to is the individual holdings of the members of the water company.

Today contracts are being drawn to be entered into between the Hinkle company and the U. & M. Co. for water for the reclamation of about 2,000 acres on lower Butte creek, and with a number of individual owners of land near the headgates of the Hinkle system.

CIGARMAKERS AND BARTENDERS SEND OUT CIRCULARS.

Pendleton Labor Assembly Invited to Take Action Against Local Option Amendment—That Body Will Discuss the Matter From Educational Standpoint, But Will Leave Individuals to Choose for Themselves—Assembly Represents 500 Voters in Umatilla County.

Secretary L. E. Wenham, of the Trades and Labor Assembly, is in receipt of a circular letter from the Portland Cigar-makers' Union, asking the labor assembly to take action against the local option amendment now before the voters.

The Cigar-makers' and Bartenders' unions are the only ones taking an active part against the movement, the other unions practically favoring the law. The two unions fighting the local option amendment have taken their action at the orders of the Liquor Dealers' Association of Portland, which has sent out practically the same circular to its friends.

The assembly will not take action against the measure, but will discuss the question, for the purpose of educating the members on the issue, and will leave each individual member to choose for himself. The Trades and Labor Assembly of Pendleton comprises about 35 delegates from 12 labor organizations, representing 500 members in the city, and is one of the largest organized bodies in Eastern Oregon.

GENERAL SATISFACTION. Property Owners Have Very Few Kicks Coming This Year.

H. J. Taylor brought in his returns as deputy assessor this morning. Mr. Taylor, who has assessed for several years, reports that there is more general acquiescence in the plan of assessment and in the valuations this year than ever before. Fewer objections are made, and the general expression is of satisfaction.

There is very little difference in the volume of property as compared with last year so far as livestock and other chattels are concerned.

Wheat was badly frosted, especially on low ground, and much of it looks yellow and sickly, though it is impossible to tell to just what extent it is injured. Those who do not think the root is injured in the least are certainly too optimistic; on the other hand, it is not certain that the damage to the root by frost was considerable.

Fine Herd of Hogs. B. F. McElroy has sold 120 head of fat hogs to the Sound market, bringing them in and loading them today. The herd's aggregate weight was about 20,000 pounds. They were grade Poland-Chinas and very fine animals.

AFTER HARNEY WOOL

SHANKO MAKES BID FOR CENTRAL OREGON CLIP.

Said to Have Handled 7,000,000 Pounds Last Year at an Average of 14 Cents—Would Direct Immense Wool Output of Southeastern Oregon to the Columbia Southern—Warehouses Will Be Built at Burns.

F. T. Hulbert, cashier of the Eastern Oregon Banking Co. of Shanko, and T. G. Condon, manager of the Shanko Warehouse Co., spent a few days in our city, interviewing our business men, in regard to handling the freight business of this section through their city and talking to wool men about their clips, says the Burns Herald.

These gentlemen urge many advantages to our people by making shipments via Shanko and special. It is in respect of the woolmen, Shanko is one of the best wool markets in Eastern Oregon today, as the records of the past three or four years show.

Last season the clip of something like 7,000,000 pounds made an average of 14 cents per pound—some going as high as 16%.

Our people are very favorably impressed with the propositions made by these gentlemen and an effort will be made to get at least a few of our sheepmen to send their wool to that point for sale this season.

They desire to give it a practical trial in the advantage it is the intention of the Shanko people to establish a warehouse in Burns to handle next season's clip and the wool can be hauled to this city, weighed, graded and received, giving the wool men an opportunity to dispose of it right at home.

In case this is accomplished the shearing plant will be located in the vicinity of this city where the wool would be handy to the warehouse.

A 7-year-old son of L. H. Lee is recovering from a severe and protracted sickness with a kidney trouble.

T. Beale, a pioneer of Pilot Rock, who has been in the city for the past our months will return to his home there.

J. M. Blair and wife arrived from La Grande yesterday, and Mrs. Blair entered the hospital this morning as a patient.
