

FRIDAY, JUNE 24, 1904.

80 PER CENT OF THE ADULT POPULATION SUFFER FROM ONE PAINFUL AILMENT.

Think what this means. Imagine the amount of misery that exists and is endured simply because people do not know there is an absolute cure.

The only way to cure any complaint is to remove the cause. There are very few diseases or ailments that can be cured by external application—and piles is not one of them.

Dr. C. A. Ferrin, Helena, Mont.—Dear Sir: I have nearly finished the former bottle of Ferrin's File Specific and am practically well.

October 20th, 1902.

Dr. Ferrin's File Specific is sold by all reliable druggists at $1.00 the bottle, under an absolute guarantee to refund the money should this great internal remedy fail to cure.

Pendleton Savings Bank ORGANIZED MARCH 1, 1889.

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance to an order of the county court of the state of Oregon, for Umatilla county, made and entered on the 23rd day of June, 1904, in the matter of the estate of Lewis M. Huson, deceased, the undersigned, administrator of said estate, will sell at public auction, for cash in hand, for approved bankable notes payable on demand, before six months from date, subject to confirmation by said court on the 25th day of June, 1904, at the hour of ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the residence of the Lewis M. Huson ranch, at or near the head of Juniper canyon in Umatilla county, Oregon, said land being situated on the W 1/2 of Sec. 30, Tp. 5 N., R. 23, E. W. M., all the following described personal property, to-wit:

BRIGGSON ITEMS.

Gone to Washington for the Summer—Wm. McCorkell Sold 200 Sacks of Potatoes—Unusual Profusion of Bees—Large Herd of Cattle to the Mountains—Moved to La Grande—Wood Worth $6 Delivered—Thos. Narkaus Will Build House and Barn.

Briggs, June 13.—A good rain visited this vicinity last Wednesday, which was a great help to the gardens and crops in general, as a Harvey Williams moved his family to his ranch for the summer, and will clear land preparatory to fall seeding.

Herman Heffley left last week for Cheney, Wash., where he will spend the summer. William McCorkell last week sold his potatoes, 200 sacks, for 65c per sack.

Bees are quite plentiful this year as nearly every warm day one can see two or three flying about the farmers have been quite severely stung trying to kill them.

P. Barnes, Ed Saling and Jim Leu when passed through the fields today, on their way to Black Mountain, with their large herd of cattle.

W. J. Pain, Jr. has moved his family to R. Boddy's house and will look after Mr. Boddy's stock and other interests the coming season.

George Payne has moved onto his ranch and will make wood the coming summer. Wood is about $1 on the ground, or $6 delivered in Weston.

Frosts in this vicinity last week did considerable damage to tomato and cabbage plants. After a week's sickness Miss Lettie Bannister is again able to take charge of her school.

Thomas Narkaus will see about 30 acres of land to alfalfa and clover this spring. Willis Wickham has moved his family to La Grande where he has secured a remunerative employment for the summer.

Thomas Narkaus is hauling lumber from Fletcher's mill and will build a house and barn on the farm he purchased last spring.

Local Capitalists of Franklin County Backed by the Northern Pacific Railway Company With $500,000 Capital—Bee Factory at Prosser Assured—New Road Designed to Haul Bees to the Factory—M. L. Causey, of La Grande, Promoting the Factory.

Many Umatilla county people who are interested in Franklin county, Washington, real estate, will be interested in knowing that a farmers' railroad, extending 35 miles from Toppish to Prosser, through the richest section of the Prosser belt and wheat land, has been organized with a capital stock of $500,000, backed by the Northern Pacific.

The incorporators of the new company are Walter N. Granger, general manager of the Washington Irrigation Company, and George W. Prosser, and Zillah, Morris Sisk, of Liberty, S. J. Harrison, C. E. Woods and Norman Woodin, of Sunnyside; H. F. Glyod and L. P. Piman, of Prosser, and A. B. Flint, of Outlook. The new organization is called the Sunnyside Railway Company and is formed as a result of the sugar beet agitation in that district.

The best sugar factory being promoted at Prosser by M. L. Causey, of La Grande, is now a certainty and this road is designed to carry the beets from the principal beet belt in the Sunnyside district to the factory.

The road will be built by the farmers of the district, each man taking stock being required to subscribe an amount equal to $5 per acre on his land. The Northern Pacific Railroad Company has guaranteed to float bonds sufficient to furnish the track, bridges and equipment, which assures the early construction of the road.

The Northern Pacific will also furnish terminal facilities, and the stock will be kept in repair by that company. One remarkable feature of the enterprise is that a large section of the Dunks headed by Rev. D. J. Harrison, is taking an active interest in promoting the culture of sugar beets and is also foremost in pushing the new colony of Umatilla.

M. L. Causey, of La Grande, who is promoting the Prosser factory, the man who brought the sugar factory to La Grande and to his energy and patience is due the increase in farming land values in that value from $10 to $50 per acre in the past four years.

Direct Primary Law Requires Books Be Opened for November Election. By a provision in the direct primary law enacted last week at the polls, registration of voters will be resumed this autumn for the November elections.

Heretofore the registration law has been deficient in that respect, for it has required electors to register prior to May 15 in order to vote in November for president, or to vote on the affidavit of six freeholders.

County clerks throughout the state are now required to reopen the registration books "between September 20, 1904, and 5 o'clock p. m. of October 20, 1904, and between the same dates in each and every year thereafter in which there shall be an election of presidential electors."

Walter Beaumont is suffering from blood poisoning caused by an injury last winter, work was stopped on the farm, and he is now in the hands of the blacksmith shop.

Wednesday night at Walla Walla occurred the marriage of Mr. Charles Williams and Mrs. Jennie Miller. Mr. Williams has conducted the barber shop here for the past six months, but has sold out his business and hereafter will devote his time to farming.

TRIAL OF MORTON

ONE-SIDED SO FAR AS VOLUME OF EVIDENCE.

Prisoner Told the Same Story He Told When Arrested and Sticks to It With Remarkable Consistency—Was Not a Witness in His Defense—Beats Himself—Arguments Finished Today.

The trial of William Morton for the shooting of Pat Dougherty, was resumed this morning after the night's adjournment. Yesterday so much time was taken up in the examination of the witnesses that the case was barely reviewed, but the trial came, and court adjourned until 8:30 o'clock this morning.

All the morning was taken up in the examination of the remainder of the witnesses for the state, and Donald Ross and the defendant himself for the defense. Mrs. Morton, the aged mother of the prisoner, was present at the trial, and sat beside her boy, and as the details of the shooting were brought out one by one and as the Dougherty family gave their version of the trouble which painted the prisoner in the blackest of colors, she would shrink back against her chair and look appealingly at Judge Bennett and the defendant, though she never at any time broke down, or seemed to lose hope.

The prisoner was calm and collected on the stand, but the lines of his face told that his mind was not easy, and that he has been worrying more than he would admit over the outcome. On the stand he gave his story in a straightforward manner, clearly and coolly, adhering to the main to the story he told when arrested, and changing nothing even to the night of the examination.

The arguments were opened at 11:30 o'clock by T. G. Halley for the state, who spoke for 20 minutes. He was followed by the highest of Judge Bennett as a man and a lawyer, saying that there were none better in the state or in the Northwest. The testimony of the witnesses of both the state and the defense, and held the prisoner up to the jury as a thing beyond the pale, a monster who had murdered a fellow man.

Believes in Strawberries.

R. F. Johnson Says Weston Mountain Will Soon Be Covered With This Fruit.

R. F. Johnson of Fairview farm is a strawberry enthusiast, and predicts that in a few years the mountain county will confine itself largely to strawberries and potatoes, leaving the lowlands, says the Weston Leader.

Mr. Johnson is greatly increasing his own strawberry acreage, and believes there is more profit in this popular fruit than in any other mountain product.

He looks for a larger crop of berries this year than ever, and there is no danger of overstocking, says the Weston Leader.

CHOICE IS HEARST

HAS A HEAVY MAJORITY ILLINOIS DEMOCRATS.

Convention Sits Down Upon His Campaign Managers—Platform Calls Attention to Republican Duplication on the Trust Question—Delegates Instructed to Vote for a Unit-Platform Indorses Woman Suffrage.

The Illinois democratic state convention, after nominating a full ticket instructed for Hearst for president.

Delegates at large to the St. Louis convention, John P. Hopkins, A. M. Lawrence, Ben T. Cable, Samuel Schubler.

Instructed for Hearst. The convention instructed the delegates to the national convention to vote for William B. Hearst at St. Louis as long as his name remains before the convention.

Hearst's campaign managers, who attempted to ride into power by the aid of his name, received absolutely no consideration from the convention. The Harrison party, which came solely from Chicago, and was pledged to the support of Congressman James R. Williams, was completely routed.

The resolutions offered for the endorsement of Mr. Hearst were not a part of the committee's report.

The original resolution provided practically that the Illinois delegation should vote for Hearst until it was convenient to vote for somebody else. A substitute offered by Clarence S. Darrow, pledging the delegates to vote for Hearst as long as his name was adopted by a vote of 338 to 355.

The platform "points to the recent revelations of corruption in the post-office department at Washington. It is a depleted treasury, shown by the last treasury statement at Washington.

"To the failure of the attorney general to prosecute illegal trusts and combinations, and the promoters thereof by criminal action.

"To the refusal of congress to reduce the tariff tax on those articles which enable the illegal trust and combination to plunder the people, and to the fact that the attorney general left it to private citizens to expose the illegal trust and combination to plunder the people."

"By the present tariff law and in numerous ways the older trusts have all been strengthened and new trusts, too numerous to mention, have been created since the government passed into the hands of the republican party in 1896.

"If the people do not speedily regulate and control these trusts the trusts will permanently dominate and control the government and continue indefinitely to levy exactions on the people.

"We submit that the republican party itself controlled by the trusts, cannot safely be relied on to curb the trusts and we demand that the government be taken out of the hands of the friends of monopoly and restored to the untrammelled representatives of the country."

The delegates to the national convention are instructed to vote as a unit.

VALUES OF FRUIT LAND. Wonderful Yield of Strawberries From Freewater Soil.

That persons living at a distance from our city may have an accurate knowledge of the wonderful productivity of this valley we give in dollars and cents the money value of the fruit on a single plot of ground, says the Freewater Times.

N. W. Mumford has more than four acres in strawberries, but he has a peach orchard containing one and three-fourths acres, there are 300 peach trees on this plot. But Mr. Mumford has it set to Hood River strawberries.

During the spring he sold $225 worth of sets. He picked and sold off this patch $517.25 worth of berries. That is not all; all this peach orchard returned $200 in peaches this summer. This is quite small for 300 peach trees, but it is to be remembered that fully half this number are young trees, not yet in bearing.

It is really an old orchard, but many of the trees were grubbed up last spring and reset with young trees. Here is a cash value of $500 from one and three-fourths acres.

This plot is not exceptionally better than others. There are thousands of acres in this valley that will equal this.

The gain of love is lost by the love of gain.
