GOLCONDA MINE CHANGES HANDS

LEASE TAKES FORM OF OPTION TO PURCHASE.

The Mine is Owned by Ninety Stockholders Scattered From Paris to the Pacific—Believed That the Option Will Result in a Bona Fide Sale—Mine Will Be Re-equipped Through-Out at Once and Work Resumed at an Early Date—Has an Idle 20 Stamp Mill.

One of the biggest mining deals in years took place yesterday afternoon when all the property of the Golconda company was leased and practically sold to the Geiser-Hendry Investment Company of Sumpter. By the terms of the lease the purchasing company is to open up the property and keep it in operation the stockholders of the Golconda receiving half the proceeds. At the expiration of a year the Geiser-Hendry people, who are given an option, may buy the property. It is deemed probable that the sale will be consummated.

It has been known for some time that a deal of some kind was in prospect. J. A. Howard, manager of the Golconda properties, arrived in the city several days ago in connection with the transaction. Several meetings of the board of directors have been held, but the final meeting, at which the terms of the lease and option were agreed on did not take place until 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It was held at Halley & Lowell's law offices, among those present being Attorney T. G. Halley, president, and J. S. Beckwith, secretary of the board, H. T. Hendry and Colonel J. H. Raley, a director and attorney for the Golconda company.

That the present arrangement is only temporary and that the lease and option on the stock can be gathered up to a sale is admitted by one of the directors. Affairs will be allowed to remain in their present state until more of the stock can be gathered up. The mines have been closed down for the last 30 days for repairs to machinery. Work is to be started again at once and everything will probably be in full swing by next Monday. The lease and option include all the property owned by the Golconda company in the Sumpter district—five patented claims, four that are not patented, five placer claims and considerable timber land.

Located on the property is a 20-stamp mill. It has been idle for a month, undergoing repairs. The completion of the deal is said to mark a new era in mining in the Sumpter district. The Geiser-Hendry Investment Company owns the famous Tabor fraction at Sumpter, which has a greater output at this time than any other mine in the Blue mountains, and other properties.

The stockholders of the Golconda properties are about 90 in number, and are scattered all over the United States. There is one small stockholder in Paris and a few live in other parts of the world. A large number are located in Oregon.

All the papers connected with the deal have been signed at this end of the line, and were sent to Sumpter last night for necessary signatures there.

HOSE THIEVES GET RICH QUICK

FROM FERR OF JUNIPER, LOSSES 22 HEAD.

Has Evidence That the Entire Band Was Driven to Willamette Valley and Sold at Hubbard—Saddle Belonging to Jack Sparks and Earl Rockwell Stolen at Holdman—Two From Cold Springs Missing—Thieves Are Unknown—Saddles Stolen and Two Horses Return Home.

An epidemic of horse stealing has broken out in this county, 22 head being taken within a month past, from three widely separated localities. One bunch was missed about a month ago by the owner, but he was reluctant to believe they were stolen, and did not report the loss to the authorities until he had searched far and wide for his property under the impression that they had merely strayed.

Anywhere from three to four weeks ago Tom Kerr, who lives at the mouth of Juniper canyon, missed 22 head of his horses one morning. They had either broken down the gates of a weak place, or it had been broken down for them, and they were gone. Exhaustive search through the neighborhood was followed by a hunt for them over the Columbia, but both were fruitless of even hitting a trail.

Mr. Kerr finally got on their track and to his own satisfaction decided that they had been driven south almost directly from Juniper, into the meadow, and from there westward. The thieves carefully avoided the roads and trails leading into Prineville, and followed the Harlow pass some distance through the meadows and into the Willamette valley. There is evidence indicating that they were sold out by ones and twos and hives in the neighborhood of Hubbard, which is not far from Sapp, and as yet it has not been possible to identify any of the animals. This left was held and doubtless profitable to the perpetrators.

Stolen in Pendleton. Wednesday last week Jack Sparks and Earl Rockwell, ranchers living on Birch creek, seven miles from town, rode into town and hitched their saddle horses—good animals—on Alta street, near Tootsch's store. Both men were encumbered with traps and heavy spurs. Upon dismounting they hung the saddles on spurs over the saddles, and went about town in the transaction of business. Long before dark they went to their horses, intending to hitch them to town, but both were missing, with all the accoutrements—saddles, bridles, spurs and spewels. Both were expensive outfits and the horses were stout, stocky, excellent and well broken saddle horses—not ponies.

Immediate and vigorous search failed to reveal the whereabouts of any of the property, one reason being that the searchers did not have the slightest idea that a clue would be possible in the direction of the owners' homes, whereas it transpires that either immediately, or perhaps in the night, both horses had been ridden or driven either west or east directly past the Birch creek neighborhood in which they were owned.

Friday night both horses came home, but without a vestige of the accoutrements with which they were equipped when taken. It is not certain, but probable, that both came from the south, perhaps from the Pilot Rock country, where they had been turned loose after being divested of their outfits.

Four Stolen at Holdman. Last Friday night John Thorn, of Holdman, had three horses stolen. That they were stolen is not positively known, but on the other hand there is no indication whatever that they have strayed. At the same time, a horse that came to Fred McKay several months ago as a stray, was taken. The latter animal was straying about the neighborhood and picking its living along the roads, but its whereabouts were known, and the three horses from Thorn's place are known to have been driven out of the neighborhood along the road upon which the stray was grazing. All four horses are missing at this time. Of Thorn's horses two were work horses, mares, and a saddle valued at $250. The third was a good 2-year-old colt.

A peculiarity of this theft was the principal condition surrounding it: The Thorn horses were taken some time between 10 a. m. and before dark that evening. Mr. Thorn had turned them out to graze on the commons, and when he went for them later in the day they were gone. The available indications are that the horses were driven westward from Holdman.

Two Head From Charles Lute. Charles Lute, of Cold Springs, had two head of good work horses turn up missing about the time that Kerr's horses were taken, but Mr. Lute found both after a few days' search, over on the Columbia river, nearly westward from his place. The probabilities are that they strayed away, as had they been taken with the Kerr horses it is unlikely that they alone could have escaped from the drive of 22 head which Kerr left, and yet none of Kerr's horses can be found. It is not likely, either, that they were discarded by the thieves who took Kerr's horses, as they are more than ordinarily good animals.

BAKER RANGE WAR. Forty Sheep Killed by Range Riders on Baldy Mountain. W. J. Murphy, sent out by Miles Lee with his herder to the seat of the Baldy Mountain range battle, returned today, says the Baker City Herald. He reports over 40 sheep killed and wounded and brings evidence to the positive effect that the men who attacked the sheep camp shot at the herder to kill.

Hundreds of shots were fired and 30-36 steel jacket cartridges were used in most cases. These kind of bullets were found in the dead and wounded sheep and in the trees and stumps about the camp.

Piles of empty cartridge shells were found about 50 yards from the bedding ground of the sheep which showed that the men fired volley after volley into the band of sheep. Why they did not kill more is a mystery.

The trees and stumps about the camp were riddled with bullets and showed that the men were firing at the herder with deadly aim. A black stump near the camp which would resemble a man standing out in the open was filled with bullets.

Three small trees in the camp behind one of which Herder Brooks held the position occupied by Brooks' head when he was killed.

Mr. Lee and others will now withdraw their sheep from the disputed territory, not wishing to invite further trouble.

WILL DEVELOP THE GOLCONDA

NEW COMPANY WILL EXTEND THE WORKINGS.

Property Has Produced $98,000 in Past 18 Months—Mine Has Been Closed Down for Repairs But Work Will Now Be Resumed on Larger Scale.

Now that the lease and virtual sale of the Golconda properties at Sumpter have taken place, the reasons why the purchasing concern became desirous of securing the mines are coming to the surface. It is learned that within the last few months three experts have at different times been in the mines, making an examination of the leads. Their reports were so rosy that the Geiser-Hendry Investment Company concluded it would be a wise move to lease the mines and secure an option on the stock for a year.

The last expert was one McKinney, sent to Sumpter two months ago, and after a careful examination of the mines declared that on the lower level would be found a body of ore rivaling the fabulous King Solomon's mines. He estimated that it would require at least $250,000 and probably $500,000 to develop the property, but that the ore taken out would run into the millions. This opinion was aligned with that of the preceding expert, and determined the Geiser-Hendry syndicate to make the lease.

While the operation of the mines will be resumed Monday, it is not known just when real work of development necessary to reach the ore is to be started, as the lower level will be dug in the near future, as the leasing company will naturally desire to find out the value of the property before the lease is made and option on the stock expires.

In the last 18 months the Golconda properties have produced about $98,000, it is said. J. G. English, the original owner, took about $50,000 out of the mine in 20 days.

The Golconda Extension Company has a claim and a fraction located on the Cracker Creek mother lode, adjoining the Golconda on the west. It is figured that there is a split of the lode, and that the Golconda Extension is on one of these splits. So far the property has been developed by more than 700 feet of tunnels and raises.

A number of officials of the Golconda Extension Company visited their property last Thursday. They stated their work on an enlarged scale is planned. The management is asserted to be figuring on a hoist of not less than 1000 feet depth capacity, which will be installed at an early date. An order for the machinery will be placed as soon as the plans crystallize. All the officials are eager to begin the work.

The officials visiting the mine were: George L. Cowell, president; E. E. Miller, treasurer; C. H. Peterson, director; and J. V. Swigert, secretary. All the officials except the secretary live in Portland. Mr. Swigert is a resident of Minneapolis, Minn., and has been spending some time at Sumpter in connection with the company's affairs.

CHENEY DIVORCE CASE.

L. W. Cheney Admits Charges of His Wife in the Complaint.

A petition for divorce, an answer thereto and stipulations in the same were all filed in the county circuit court Saturday last. Zella May Cheney sued for a divorce from Lemuel W. Cheney, who is a member of the well known firm of dairy farmers of this vicinity.

The plaintiff first averred marriage with the defendant at Pendleton, September 18, 1903, that two children—a boy and a girl, were born to them. Next she alleged that the defendant has been guilty of adultery with Elizabeth A. Cheney, a woman of the town at San Francisco. The attorney for the plaintiff is Peter West. The answer of the defendant was filed in the circuit court, and contained an unqualified acknowledgment of the charges made by the plaintiff, and conceding to her the demands made in the petition, viz., an absolute divorce, child support, and custody of the two children, and an allowance of $10 per week, payable monthly.

The stipulations, also signed by Mr. Cheney, simply an agreement to carry out the terms outlined above, in the event the court grants the divorce, which Mrs. Cheney prays for, with the additional stipulation that all the property now owned by the defendant remains in his unquestioned possession as long as he shall live up to the agreement to pay to his former wife $10 per week, which she is to receive during the remainder of her natural life.

HARVEST BEGINS.

Walla Walla County Combines Are New at Work.

W. J. Corkrum, of Dry Creek, started up his new Best side hill combined harvester a few days ago, the first combined harvester started this year near Walla Walla. Mr. Corkrum has cut about 250 acres and he claims his new machine to be a great success, says the Walla Walla Union.

Mr. Corkrum has had experience for a number of years with other makes of harvesters. He stated upon the street yesterday that he was running his machine with from eight to ten horses less than the former machine that he had been using, that the machine was much easier to handle and that his boy was running the machine.

The machine has made an average of about 20 acres a day since it started. It is a 16-foot cut working on rolling ground. Mr. Corkrum claims that 25 horses pull his machine readily. A number of these harvester machines have been sold at Walla Walla this year.

CLEARED $66.66.

Eagles Come Out Slightly Ahead as Result of Carnival Week.

The Eagles came out ahead on last week's program just as they did on King Conrad's recently put it. "We are ahead just $66.66, as we ought to value our experience at not less than $1000." The public shares of the eaglets of the order that its profits are not greater.

The heaviest item of expense was $100 per day for the 10 ticket takers. The order's share of the gross receipts was $100.

The Eagles all speak in terms of praise and real appreciation of the character of the company's manager, James Simpson, and his methods of doing business, and he took from here an unqualified indorsement of that effect signed by all the officials of the order.

A noticeable and singular, and as yet unexplained, fact is that during the entire carnival week the number of arrests was fewer than usual and the police court docket was correspondingly lighter.

ENDING OF TAYLOR CASE.

Divorce Granted and Division of Property Effected.

In the case of Moses Taylor vs. Melissa Taylor, action for divorce, he divorce was granted by Judge Ellis on the ground that the defendant was unfaithful to the plaintiff. The charge and made slanderous and abusive charges against her husband. The division of property was made in the general plan of giving the wife one-third, but as a matter of fact, she gets somewhat, or slightly more, than one-third, as follows:

Mr. Taylor has 150 acres of land about half way between Weston and Athena, valued at between $10,000 and $12,000; a brick business house in the city of Portland, valued at $7500; the following cash awards: $500 on October 1, 1934, and $1000 on the first day of October, 1935, and $1000 on the first day of October, 1936 and 1937 respectively. In the event Mr. Taylor desires to pay any or several payments in advance, he may do so upon the basis of "present worth," at 5 per cent.

HACKNEY OF JOHN DAY.

Believes That Quartz Mining Is Yet in Its Infancy.

A. Hackney, of John Day, is in town. He is en route from California to Montana and will return in a few weeks. He has been on a tour that has lasted just six months, and from personal observation knows nothing about the present condition of quartz mining in the John Day country. John Day is very frank about saying that it will take the best of the next 25 years, should he live that long. In his own language, "John Day is the gold spot of the United States; but there is so little of it."

Mr. Hackney believes that quartz mining is in its infancy along the John Day, although it is over 40 years old in the first quartz mines were discovered. He spent several months in San Diego, Los Angeles and contiguous territory, and has no use for that country. He rolled beneath one of the covered. ### MAPLE CREAMERY LOSS.

Details of the Burning of Maple Leaf Creamery at Payette.

The Payette Independent, speaking of the loss by fire of Maple Brothers' creamery at that place, says: "The Maple Leaf creamery was totally destroyed by fire, loss $100,000, insurance $1500. The building and machinery were owned by the Payette Creamery Company, and leased to W. L. Maple for a term of five years, two years of that time having expired."

Mr. Maple's loss will amount to about $3000, no insurance. There was at the time of the fire about four tons of butter in the cold storage. The loss will fall the heaviest upon Mr. Maple, but the citizens have started a subscription, and will immediately build a temporary plant and place Mr. Maple in charge until a new and complete plant can be erected.
