F. H. NEWELL CONDEMNNS IRRIGATION FRAUDS.

Says Many of the Large Private Concerns in the West Are Rank Frauds.—Stock is Being Sold to Boom Lands Impossible of Reclamation.—Competent Business Men Often Bite Hard.

Three hundred engineers, surveyors and helpers in the irrigation reclamation service are out in the field studying and planning for irrigation projects in the great West. Some few are superintending the actual construction of huge dams and canals.

Mr. Newell himself, the head of the service, has just returned to Washington from a somewhat extensive western trip. He reports great interest throughout the West in the big works proposed by the government.

"There are many instances of honest, effective and legitimate irrigation works," he said, "where the settlers themselves, or their capital to some extent, have gone in and built the works, owning or controlling them along with the reclaimed land."

"A successful grocer, for instance, who, one would naturally think, would find out every detail of a new business, will draw his checks for some irrigation stocks or bonds in a most careful manner—paying for them absolutely nothing, can find out nothing and which is as profitable in its return as the wildest wildcat mine."

"Other people make personal investigations. They go over the land to be reclaimed and having 'investigated' they confidently invest, even though a tract of 50,000 acres is to be reclaimed with a water supply insufficient for 5000 acres."

INDIANS DISAGREE.

ABOUT TEACHERS' PERMITS.

Superintendent Welles Calls Attention to the Requirements. "Many persons are of the opinion," remarked School Superintendent F. K. Welles, this morning, "that a permit to teach is secured by the asking and the payment of a fee. This is erroneous, for the examination for a permit is just as difficult as a regular teacher's examination. I hope the people will understand this."
