The Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga. TRAIN ON TIME

W. & C. R. WILL HEREAFTER BE MORE REGULAR. Joseph McCabe Assures the Commercial Association that Better Train Service Will Be Furnished...

Beginning today, Joseph McCabe, vice-president and general manager of the Washington & Columbia River railway, promises that the local train will arrive in Pendleton from Pasco not later than 11:30 o'clock each morning...

Mr. McCabe and the members of the Commercial Association met yesterday afternoon at the request of the latter, to discuss the question of a better train service over the Washington & Columbia River line.

"Gentlemen," said Mr. McCabe, "I was shipped back here to come over from Walla Walla. Beginning tomorrow the train from Pasco will be run on time. I have realized for some time that the uncertainty of the arrival of the train interfered with my business, and now it will be remedied. Hereafter there will be no delays on account of freight. Extra crews will handle that. The train has been running three times a week to Athena, but those trips will be cut out."

Leon Cohen, one of the largest merchants in the city, said: "Mr. McCabe, I desire some of your routing blanks." "You can count me in, too," chimed in R. Alexander, and the double request for routing blanks was made twice by C. E. Roosevelt.

A vote of thanks was extended Mr. McCabe and the W. & C. R. by the association. Race Track Discussed.

Thomas Thompson submitted a letter received from C. S. Jackson, manager of the Oregon Daily Journal, in which the latter stated that he had talked with President Calvin of the Oregon Fair, and that the latter had agreed to a fair and racing association in Pendleton. Mr. Calvin, according to the letter, offered to lend his assistance in advancing the project.

Those interested in a racing association have in view the purchase of land on the hill south of Pendleton. When A. L. Mohler was the head of the O. R. & N. he offered to pump water to the grounds at the rate of 7 cents per 1000 gallons. A committee composed of Leon Cohen, Thomas Thompson and C. E. Roosevelt, was named to find out on what terms the company will now agree to pump the water.

Prompt, Easy Recovery. The greatest thing in the world is a mother's love. The love she lavishes on her children; the love her child should have for her; without this love she could not endure the agonies incident to childbirth; appreciative of this love, Mother's Friend was devised to relieve the pain and anguish of childbirth; that her love might not be strained to the breaking point; that Mother's Friend does all that a mother should do to strengthen, preserve her youthful lines of beauty, and makes pregnancy her crowning joy without any harm to mother or child.

Mother's Friend. Applied externally, it is most harmless in its consistency, most happy in its results, and is of such merit that no case of labor should be conducted without its use. It is a liniment for massage of the abdominal muscles during pregnancy, and by its use the tonicity and power of contractile life is greatly enhanced, enabling them to sustain the great strain brought to bear on them at this time. It is Mother's Friend. The name should be brought to recommend it to all who expect to be mothers. Need for free book containing information of prices is value to all expectant mothers. EDUCATION AND FRATERNITY TEACHERS' ADVANCED COURSES

Over 200 Educators Assembled at the Inland Empire and Umatilla County Institute.

Welcomed to the City by Judge Lowell, in an Inspiring Address—President French Delivers His Annual Message of Hope and Good Cheer—Responses From Oregon, Washington and Idaho—Preston W. Search Today Spoke Entertainingly on Child Life—Lecture Tonight by Mr. Search on "Greatest Pictures in the World"—Almost Every Teacher in Umatilla County is Present—Sessions Will Continue Throughout Tomorrow and Until Noon Saturday.

"More ignorance and more foolishness has been shown in the teaching of grammar than in the teaching of anything else that is found in the curricula of our public schools. Grammar is that part of the science of language which treats of the right forms of words in sentences. Let us repeat it. It is not analysis, and it is not diagramming. The teaching of analysis and diagramming is usually done in the public schools of this nation, is culpable ignorance, is pedagogical absurdity, is criminal idocy, is cruelty to pupils. If there is one thing more than another which the American public should do for its own young, it is the ability to use his mother tongue. This is just what the teaching of grammar should do, but it is just what it does not do. This is a radical statement, but if I could, I would make it stronger. There is no other branch in our curriculum so thoroughly abused by newspaper and magazine writers, and by school teachers, than grammar. It is the study of it,—H. J. Hockenberry, of La Grande, on "Grammar: What It Is, and What It Is Not."

Representative instructors and educators from leading institutions of learning, both public and private, including almost every teacher employed in this county, are in attendance at the seventh annual meeting of the Inland Empire Teachers' Association and Umatilla County Institute that convened last night at the First Christian church.

The opening session last night was devoted to the welcoming of the delegates and visitors, and responses by representatives of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. Then followed the reception tendered by the women of Pendleton at Music Hall.

This morning's session was devoted entirely to discussions of educational problems. State Superintendent of Public Instruction J. H. Ackerman, Preston W. Search, the "schoolmaster traveler," of Worcester, Mass., and H. W. Hockenberry, superintendent of the La Grande city schools were the principal speakers at the gathering this morning. More than 200 delegates were in attendance.

Lively discussion was occasioned by Mr. Hockenberry's discourse on "Grammar, What It Is and What It Is Not." Ackerman exchanged places on the program with President P. L. Campbell, of the University of Oregon, who will not arrive until tonight. The state superintendent spoke on the need of larger schools, the combining of districts where possible to secure this.

He advanced the proposition of continuous session, that is, that the school year be extended, he said, by allowing the grades to attend at different periods throughout the 12 months. "Better service by reason of continuous sessions," he said, "can thus be accomplished, and the instructors will be benefited by better salaries."

Mr. Ackerman took occasion to criticize, adversely, the rural school. He declared the country boy was entitled to the same consideration as the one in the city. "If a teacher is worth $45 per month," he continued, "his services are worth that much in the country district."

Prof. Search on Child Life. Mr. Search discoursed on the growth of the child—its mental, moral and physical development. For almost an hour he entertained and instructed the assembled teachers. "The child should be brought face to face with the world and its problems, and not shielded with symbols," said the speaker. "Precocity is a bad thing. Let the child deal with the things real until his mind is sufficiently developed to grasp the symbols."

Mr. Search used the following diagram to illustrate the three ages of brain development: Ages 1 to 7, period of brain growth; ages 7 to 12, period of brain organization; ages 12 to 18, years in girls, and a year later in boys, period of brain construction. Too much care could not be exercised during this, their most critical period of child growth, said he. "A boy is neither man nor child then," he remarked.

President's Address. The true function of education is not only to prepare for the future, but to teach what better living is. From the fact that our wealth and prosperity now comes to us through commercial and industrial enterprises, forces which are shaping our educational system are largely those which eliminate from productive labor.

The needs of the practical and the utilitarian phases of life are determining to an increasing extent our courses of study. This is true as education becomes the gift of the masses and assumes other objects than those that are social, governmental, or professional.

These standards of popular education, while narrow in their scope, are safe in so far as they are given an educational and a culture value, and provide the means for the development of power and skill.

The commercial high school has ends which fairly entitle it to consideration from this standpoint. Diverse science is a means of training when it requires a skillful appreciation of the scientific principles of physiology, hygiene and chemistry, and manual training when it becomes an appropriation of geometrical concepts of the results of the sciences of the school system leading it to foster that which alone gives prominence to mere money making occupations.

The educator has reason to emphasize as never before that true education is a preparation for a life of service and honor in every walk of life. Its true function is to furnish our youth with culture of heart and mind that will give nobility to their school system teaching it to foster that which alone gives prominence to mere money making occupations.

The educator has reason to emphasize as never before that true education is a preparation for a life of service and honor in every walk of life. Its true function is to furnish our youth with culture of heart and mind that will give nobility to their school system teaching it to foster that which alone gives prominence to mere money making occupations.

The school problem, said the speaker, is one, however, that is yet to be solved and it remains for the teacher by continuing and ceaseless energy and devotion to do it.

Every young man and woman to seek to occupy the largest place of usefulness to which he is by nature adapted, to avoid none as if by mere accident, and to make the home life center to which art, science and wealth make their choicest contributions.

For there is no preparation for living worthily the name of wealth brings its treasures from the shop and the bank to the home in forms of use for the comfort of the family. Still art learns to make the dwelling place a place of beauty and science devotes herself to a healthful, hygienic home.

The native thrift of our people and the struggle for existence compel the student to seek knowledge that will be of use in making a living. Nothing could be more calamitous to our educational system, however, if yielding too far to the demands of a popular education we close the avenues to a higher culture and give undue prominence to money-making occupations.

There is a kind of knowledge which conduces to the higher life of thought, faith, hope, love. The great lesson of the schools is that the life which has in it the power of service. Good teaching cannot rest satisfied with learning which culminates in mere knowledge.

When the people have no vision they perish. It is the ideal which lives in the soul which is the motive power that conduces to better living, not merely through the enjoyment of physical comforts, but through the possession of that which opens the door to a higher life.

ADVANCING PRICES. Scarcity Having Its Effects on Vegetables, Fruits and Eggs. The variations in the prices in the provision market contains some details of interest.

Dry onions because the crop this year, although it was abundant, sold out early, are relatively scarce, and the price has advanced from 2 cents per pound to 3 cents. Turnips and carrots, both growing crops, have advanced in price, the former from 2 1/2 cents per bunch to 5 cents, and the latter from 10 cents to 40 cents per bushel.

The early lemon crop was comparatively abundant, the late lemon crop is not profuse, and the price of lemons has advanced from 30 cents per bushel to 40 cents. Fresh eggs are becoming scarce and the price has advanced to 20 cents.

Severe Kick by a Horse. H. T. McClellan, of Noll, is in town today, though barely able to walk with the aid of crutches. He was kicked a week ago by a heavy horse, upon the left hip. The bone was not broken, nor was the flesh badly cut, but the bruise was extensive—it extended to the bone, and the extravasation of blood from the point of the hip to the foot. The entire leg is practically helpless, and hangs limp, and the pain is considerable.

Hay is Cheaper. There are no middlemen's profits in Pendleton now on loose alfalfa hay, or loose wheat hay, and the price of both is falling. It is generally getting to be the price which the growers receive and which the consumers pay. Most of the hay is sold direct from the growers to the consumers, and the middlemen's profits are being eliminated.

Would not Love You if You're Looking for a Guaranteed Waive for sores, burns or piles. Otto Dodd, of Ponder, Mo., writes: "I suffered with an ugly sore for a year, but a box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured me. It's the best salve on earth. 25c at Tallman & Co. drug store."

Move to Alberta in Spring. When W. T. Rigby left Alberta James Nelson was busy plowing and building, and in other ways getting ready for winter and for spring work. He will return to Umatilla county for the winter, but in the spring his family will accompany him to Alberta and they will take up their permanent residence there.

190 Acres Alfalfa. J. E. Smith is putting in 46 acres of alfalfa this fall on his place seven miles west of town. This makes a total of 190 acres of alfalfa owned by the company in this county, most of it being in the southern part of the county.
