THE WOMAN'S FORMER LIFE IS NOT ON TRIAL

She May Have Been a Scapegoat, an Outcast, But That Has No Bearing on the Case Against Her—Attorney Says She Was Tried on the Merits of the Charge—Her Relations With Young Are Revisited and the Alleged Motives for the Murder Are Thoroughly Threshed Out—Former Husband Visits Her.

New York, Nov. 21.—An outline of the people's case against Nan Patterson was presented to the jury today by Assistant Attorney Rand, who told of the relations of the defendant and the bookmaker, and dwelt upon all the alleged motives which the prosecutor charged were actuating in cases of murder. Miss Patterson sat with the Tombs this morning and cheered occasionally cheered her father's hand.

In addressing the jury Rand said: "The manner of living of this young woman must not be held against her. Her character is not on trial here. Unless you are satisfied she committed the crime charged, you must acquit her. Of course her dependence on the dead man is of the highest importance and must be considered."

Lewis Martin, the divorced husband of Miss Patterson, called upon her at the Tombs this morning and cheered his former wife with comforting words. Martin married Miss Patterson when she was 17 years of age. They lived together two years. She is now 22.

No Motive for Suicide. Rand said he would show that threats made by the young woman as well as preparations for the killing would establish sufficient motive and show that Young had no motive for killing himself, that preparations were made to kill Young 13 hours before the crime was committed, he would prove by circumstantial evidence.

The prosecutor told of the life of "Caesar" Young; how he came here from England 14 years ago an athlete; of his entry into the racing world; of his success with racing stables. He said he lived the life of a racing man and drank heavily. However, he had the highest sense of honor, and gambler though he was, always gave fair odds and never swayed a bet in his life, and was known among his fellows as an easy mark.

He exercised singularly great influence on women and was himself easily susceptible to women. Shortly after he came to this country he married a sweet woman to whom he was always most kind.

Associations With Nan Patterson. In the fall of 1902, on his way to California, he met Nan Patterson. At that time she was married. They traveled together in California as man and wife. He said the couple spent on a debauch in Berkeley last spring, when Mrs. Young found them in a Turkish bath recovering from a debauch. Miss Patterson was given $500 and sent to New York.

When Young came east last spring Miss Patterson appeared and the old relations were resumed. Two attempts were made to get the girl to leave Young. She declined, stating she had to undergo an operation. Young then decided to go to Europe.

EASTERN CAR SHOCKAGE.

Trunk Lines Out of Chicago Lack 5000 Cars for Their Traffic. Chicago, Nov. 18.—Officials of Eastern roads operating out of Chicago report the maintenance of the former growth in traffic. Some classes of tonnage have shown further gain. This is particularly true of coal and the products of iron and steel.

There has been no perceptible increase in the loading of merchandise since the election, but the volume of that business has been large for some time past and no great spirit is expected.

A gradual increase in the activity of industrial concerns ought to bring about a steady gain, and if present indications can be taken as a criterion, cold weather will again find the Eastern railroads far short of equipment and tonnage piled up ahead of them.

Already the various trunk line systems are short anywhere from 2000 to 5000 cars in meeting their daily requirements. Motive power is ample, probably will be until the efficacy of the locomotive is reduced by low temperatures. The light grain movement of the East is about all that keeps the railroads in position to permit a tolerably free movement. Flour and packing house products form a good traffic. Southern railroad officials say their lines are carrying a heavy and well balanced volume of freight.
