

OUR AGENTS.

The following persons are duly authorized to act as Agents for the New Northwest:

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

Friday afternoon, the 23d inst., says the Salem Statesman, when the up freight train was near Jefferson, an accident occurred which upset two platform cars and three five others of the rails and caused considerable detention, also detaining the evening mail train, which came afterwards, for a short while.

CONFESSION OF FAITH.

A copy of the Confession of Faith of the Unitarian Christian Church has been sent us by Rev. T. L. Elliott. To it is added the Church Covenant in use here at the Communion Table. It is brief but comprehensive, and one who wish to obtain the views of a Unitarian Church in a nutshell can do so by consulting it. By the way, Mr. Elliott, however much many may differ on him in his views of religious matters, is a sincere Christian and upright, moral man, and we are glad to add, a first class in the equal rights of all. We wish him God-speed in his work.

STATE FAIR LICENSES.

E. M. Waite, secretary of the Oregon State Fair Agricultural Society, publishes the following notice in the last number of the Willamette Farmer: The impression seems to prevail that the Oregon State Agricultural Society, in adopting the rule requiring the licenses in advance this year, neglected the sale of hay, grain, meat, and fuel. There has never been a license required for the sale of these articles, hence the Board thought it of no use to accept them in the rule adopted. The articles above named can be sold at any time without license.

GOOD TEMPLAR HALL AND READING ROOM.

The enterprising temperance men of Portland, says the Good Templar, are taking the initiatory steps towards building a Good Templar Hall. Articles of incorporation, we learn, are already filed. Capital stock $20,000. This will establish the Order on a firm and lasting basis in Portland and give greater permanency to the institution throughout the State. Success to the noble enterprise.

CORNELIUS.

A new railroad town bearing the foregoing title, named in honor of Col. T. B. Cornelius of Washington county, has been duly platted, mapped and recorded. Lots are being sold at good prices, and a number of buildings will be erected this fall. It is situated twenty-three miles from Portland, and will be until next year the terminus of the Oregon Central Railroad.

LEXIS COUNTY FAIR.

The Lexis County Fair commenced last Tuesday. The Annual Address was delivered by "Brick" Pomeroy.

CHINAMAN SHOT.

U. S. Marshal Young a few nights ago shot a Chinaman on Alder street. Mr. Young was endeavoring to release a China woman who had been abducted, when the Chinaman drew a revolver, and Mr. Young immediately shot him, causing instant death.

SCHOOL CHILDREN IN OREGON.

The County School Superintendents in Oregon return the number of school children (Curry county excepted) as being 34,053. Quite an army of little men and women.

ANNUAL ADDRESS.

The Annual Address at the Oregon State Fair will be delivered by Col. David Taggart, Paymaster U. S. A., who has just returned from a visit to the Eastern States.

MINING SUSPENSION.

Scarcity of water has compelled the suspension of mining in Canyon City and neighboring camps this season, except where the ditches furnish water.

FREE FERRY.

Mr. Barney Trainor has established a free ferry between Pine street in this city, and J street, East Portland. It is already doing a flourishing business.

LAVELY NAVIGATION.

The Mountain says the O. S. N. Co's steamers on the Columbia are doing a splendid business this season—carrying full freights up and down.

CAPE FOULWEATHER LIGHTHOUSE.

Two vessels have arrived at Yaquina from San Francisco with materials for the new lighthouse at Cape Foulweather.

PROF. PLUMMER.

This genius is now in our city. He gave one of his inimitable entertainments last night, and will probably give others before leaving.

WANT A FLOUR MILL.

The farmers of John Day valley are anxious for a flour mill. They offer $3,000 bonus for the erection of one in that valley.

DEBATE.—Mr. B. F. Underwood, the free thinker, has been debating at Eugene City with Rev. Mr. Hammond, of the M. E. Church.

GONE EAST.

Senator Corbett started during the week for the Eastern States, to be present at the ensuing session of Congress.

SCHOOL CHILDREN.

In the Kalama school district there are sixty-two children of the ages embraced in the enumeration.

GOOD TEMPLARS.

It is officially reported that the number of Good Templars in this State is about three thousand.

NEW OFFICE.

Capt. A. P. Aukney has contracted to build a new office for the Bulletin, on First and Oak streets.

ASSISTANT EDITOR.

Mr. Chas. W. Crocker has been engaged as assistant editor on the Bulletin.

A Woman's Experiments in Farming.

The following extracts from the letter of a correspondent tells its own story: "I will tell you what I did at farming a few years ago. I took my hoe, and after taking out potatoes I drilled in wheat. Next spring I took out the weeds, sowed ashes, salt and plaster on the wheat; when ripe, cut it with a large knife, and got my sickle—look it in my kitchen, beat it out, cleaned it by winnowing with a tin pan. I had five bushels of clean wheat.

That was quite sufficient to supply me with bread for one year.

My corn, for running free, destroyed full one bushel, I graft my orchard, and set my raspberries, strawberries, etc., and make my own garden every year.

To renovate a broken-down constitution has been one great object in my life.

My work in the open air, and I was told yesterday, by my poor, hard-working Irish woman neighbor, that I was worth a weight in gold, because I could do so much work.

"Poor woman and wife, toiling for a Roman Catholic husband, as unappreciative, as husbands mostly are, of women's labors, and exerting efforts to keep home comfortable."

"Yes, my working in the earth and in the sunlight has worked a wonderful change, physically, with me, besides having a strange power over my mentality. Often when my heart seemed ready to burst with domestic sorrows, working among my flowers and garden plants caused the terrible weight to gradually wear away; and by this, a positive determination to renovate body and mind, I am a wonder of good health and tolerable cheerfulness, at the age of sixty-six. I do more physical labor than many women can perform, besides reading and writing at times.

"I have not studied politics very seriously, and yet have kept pretty well posted on our suffrage question; but if called upon to vote, I am so full of the private qualifications of an electress, generally, that I should not know who would be deserving. I do know one thing, and that is that the men are very lax in morals, and especially in the temperance cause. Asleep, or very dull in any reform work, the community appears where I live; but abroad, in all directions, the good seems prospering."

People who think that "women have all the rights they want"

do well to ponder the following extract from a letter received from a woman so commonly received by us that we might give similar quotations every week if desired: "I see by my receipt that my subscription to the Bulletin expires with the 20th of this month. My husband does not believe in the doctrine of Woman Suffrage. Therefore he will not give me any money for my subscription. So I have to get it the best way I can. This is the reason why I send only one dollar now. I will try to send the rest before the year expires.

How would husbands like to find themselves in such a position as this woman occupies?

Would they say they had "all the rights they want," while the law made them absolutely dependent upon their wives for the means of subsisting to a weekly paper? Woman's Journal.

TIMELY.—An exchange makes the following timely observation: "If you are sick, and your physician thinks you require hydrate of chloral, he may write it for short chlor. hydrate. The druggist, unless particularly observant, may think it means chloride of mercury, or some other substance, written for short also hydro. chlor.; and a funeral may follow. So much for a miserable, doubly dead language, a careless doctor, and a stupid prescription."

A case in point is recorded by the Louisville Ledger: A Brooklyn physician prescribed hydrate of chloral for a young lady, and wrote the prescription chlor. hydrate. The druggist interpreted his boy-latin to mean chloridium hydratopyri-cosus sublimis, and the young lady died the death of a bed-bug. Now which of the two "askings" should be changed, the sawdust or the pill-mangler? If it were not asking too much we should ask for both.

It is sometimes said that no woman should be allowed to vote, because many women do not wish to do so and would refuse to avail themselves of the privilege.

Upon this principle the men of Congress would be immediately disfranchised, for: "With a population of 27,189 and a vote of 6,540, Hartford cast but 1,235 ballots, all told, on the question of whether the city should appropriate $1,000,000 towards building the new State House ordered by the Connecticut Legislature. The question here was one of about 27,000 men, woman and child in Hartford, or if we say the voters only, 13,544 per head, and yet but one suffrage in five approaches the polls, and of those who come but one in twenty-eight objects to the appropriation. The same phenomenon the reader may notice in almost any financial election the republic ever."

A dispatch from Washington, dated Sept. 20, gives the following information: "The advocates of the right of women to the elective franchise in the District of Columbia have looked forward to the meeting of the Supreme Court of this District in October with much interest, as it was expected that their case would be full of technical difficulties in the way of getting a decision upon the questions which the case is intended to raise."

It is averred that the needlewomen of New York receive but ten cents apiece for making of "disteters."
