again the dreary night is gone;
Again another hopeless morn!
Slow drags away
The weary day.
Again I weep, again I mourn.
Oh andness!
Come madness!
Why is my heart thus torn?
O why is love
A crime above?
Would I'd ne'er been born!

Again I wander through the night,
No sleep brings to my woe respite.
Reason turns!
Madness burns!
HE made me thus forforn—
Twas Heaven's will—
Oh heart, be still!
Thy life's o'ercloaded morn
Will end in death—
Tis but a breath,
Would I'd never been born!

I stand upon the water's brink; I do not turn, and yet I shrink! Above, my woes; Beneath, repose! A plunge, and all is gone! Never again! Oh love! for you I die. Adieu— This action endeth all.

Mother's Grave.

BY GEO, IL PRENTICE, The trembling dewscrops fall Upon the shutting flowers like souls at rest; The stars shine gloriously, and all Save me are blest.

Mother, I love thy grave?
The violet, with the blossoms blue and Waves o'er fly head. When will it wave
Above thy child? 'Tis a sweet flower, yet must

Its bright leaves to the morning tempest bow;
Dear mother, 'tis thine emblem—dust

Is on thy brow. And I could love to die— To leave untasted life's dark, biller streams, By these, as first in childhood, lie, And share thy dreams,

And I must linger here, To stain the plumage of sinless years, And mourn hopes of childhood dear With bitter tears. Aye, I must linger here, A lonely branch upon a withered tree, Whose last frail lenf, untimely sere,

Went down with thee, Off from life's withered bower,

This branch road, you see, was built for the local peach business. I was put on as conductor of the first train that was run. By George! how the engines woke the country up! The stations used to be crowded with young fellows in flashy neckties, and their sweethearts—nice, modest little girls, loaded with cheap fluery, who had made up parties and come down from the interior to see like train go by. Every old farmer on the train go by. Every old farmer on the route thought he owned the engine, (the Gen. Jackson it was,) and knew each separate car as well as he did his own cattle and sheep. They would treat called me Dick. There were scores of places where I could drop in for an odd meal. I began to doubt whether they were my uncles and cousins or not. All the old fellows got free passes over the road, and forsook their corners by the tavern fire for the baggage car. There they smoked day after day, and told queer stories of their neighbors' families, for the benefit of anybody that chose to listen. I knew all the gessip by heart directly. It was just when the peaches were in bloom, too, when I went on the road, and I was soon punching open bads with my thumb-nail, and taking learnedly of Early Blush and Well. Thanksgiving eve came, and Tanner was aboard, going home, but I had no time to talk with him, as the train was crowded with people who had been up in Wilmington, laying in supplies for the holiday. Even the passenger cars were heaped with baskets and bundles. Tanner had his littie package, too—something for Dan. I saw him peeping into it with eyes twinkling once or twice. I remember how pleased he was when I brought him a monster turkey for Mrs. Tanner. The old lady, although she had only seen me on the train as it whisked by, had taken an anxious interest in a sore throat I had, and sent me a bottle of myrrh-tea by Well. Thanksgiving eve came, and hand, it was no rejoicing for us to take It Does More Work.

I soon found that he was largely interested in both; had travelled over a good part of the world, traded in China and Japan, and, as I guessed, successfully. He had the alr of a man accustomed to command, and to a life of ease. He was a middle-aged, stoutly-built man, with a clean-shaved, powerful face, and shrewd, pleasant eyes. I noticed that all through his conversation he tried to avoid seeing the happy groups of people who were incessantly getting on or off the train; and once, when a child in passing pulled at his cane, he turned his back roughly on it. Yet I had a fancy and Thanksgiving mattered more to him than any of us.

Yes, Sir, I replied, and if you please to look at it in the way of scenery, it's as pretty a bit of land as you'll find in Kent county. That stretch now ahead see. By the way, there was a queer thing happened on the track just three years ago come Thanksgiving. It occurred in this way:—

The peaches had come and gone, when one day, about a month before thanksgiving, an old fellow came on board with his family, who had a pass for two down to St. George's. I saw at a glance he was none of my usual dead-head squad. A thin, wiry old man, white-

THIS REMEDY IS COMPOSED OF THE Thaspium Corlatum Originis, Lat.—Indigenous to Oregon. Grows most abundantly and perfectly in Washington county.

PROPERTIES, ETC .:

It contains an Active and Volatile Principle, extracted by Ether, and a bitter Tonic Prin-ciple.

UNK WEED REMEDY.

THE UNK WEED REMEDY

...OR...

Oregon Rheumatic Cure.

HISTORY:

MEDICAL PROPERTIES AND USES: It is the most sure and speedy cure for Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout and Rheumatis Pains of all kinds that was ever introduced into the Materia Medica. The UNK WEED REM-EDY, as prepared by us, in consequence of the existing bitter principle, possesses the neces-sary virtue of being a

Powerful Tonic,

Promoting the Appetite and Invagarating the while Digestive Apparatus, thus building up and strengthening the system, while at the same time the volatile principle, being absorbed in the blood, acts specifically on the Rheumatic Poison, removing it from the circulation and system.

There are few remedies known to the Medical Profession which will remove the Rheumatic Poison from the blood, but whose action is so powerful in depressing the system of the already enfeebled Rheumatic patient, that their use has to be abandoned before specific effects are obtainable, and hence the want of success in treating this prevalent and consequently heretofore incurable disease. Unlike these medicines, already known, the UNK WEED REMEDY, although producing as active and as powerful effects on the blood and system in removing the Rheumatic Poison, also possesses a strong Tonic and Recuperating Element which admits of its continued use even by the most delicate and debilitated. Thus we have the combination for the first time of these two necessary elements in one remedy, which accounts for its superior and never-faifing curative effects in Rheumatism, Rheumatic Gout and Rheumatic Pains of all kinds.

N. R. The UNK WEED REMEDY is particularly APPLICABLE TO LADIES, in consequence of its Tonic Qualities.

TESTIMONIALS:

We are aware of the fact that it is generally we are aware of the fact that it is generally an easy matter to procure certificates attesting the efficacy of patent remedies from a certain class of those who use them. We have selected the following because the names attached to them are those of men of the most careful and scruppious character, and because the large class of their acquaintances in Oregon will not, for a moment, accuse or suspect them of any exaggeration in the statements they may a severe case of rheumatism. It was in my thighs, hips, fingers, shoulder blade—indeed in all the Joints of my body I suffered great pain and anguish. I was attended by a regular physician, but with no effect. I was induced to try your Unk Weed Remedy, and it immediately cured me up. I consider it, from my experience, the best remedy for rheamatism known.

Dr. A. M. Loryea: Some four weeks ago I was entirely prostrated with rheumatism; in fact I was almost helpless. I sent to you for one toounce bottle of the "Unk Weed Remedy," by the use of which I experienced almost immediate rollef, and by the time the bottle was gone the rheumatism was gone. From my own experience, and from what I have heard others say who have used the Unk Weed, I believe it to be a certain cure for rheumatism. Yours respectfully, A. R. SHIPLEY.
