The New Northwest.

FRIDAY.....MAY 3, 1872.

OUR SECOND VOLUME.

The season is now near at hand when many hundreds of our subscriptions to the NEW NORTHWEST will expire. We urge upon our friends everywhere the importance of immediately renewing their subscription fees. A little effort now upon the part of each of our numerous readers will enable us to start out with the Second Volume with debts all canceled and in the enjoyment of safe financial prospects for the future. We could then bring a light heart to our work, to which, since we took up the load of financial care that a large newspaper business requires, we have been a stranger. There are also yet many delinquents upon our list—men and women who have regularly enjoyed the products of our toil for the past year, and yet neglect to pay for their paper. To all such we say in respectful solicitude, we need the money. The sum of three dollars is small to each of you, but the aggregate indebtedness of several hundred delinquents makes a sum of much importance to us. We trust that this call will not be passed unheeded. We have toiled diligently at dress-making, millinery, lecturing, story writing, editorial work and canvassing, doing faithfully the work of half a dozen to keep up the expenses of the paper, and our strength is severely over-taxed; and we now ask our friends, one and all, to cheerfully put shoulder to the wheel and help us through the Second Volume, which shall be in all respects superior to the first.

NEW SERIAL STORY.

A new serial story of extraordinary merit by Mrs. Susie Witherell of Portland, Oregon, will begin with the Second Volume, and continue from week to week until finished.

The following extracts from its table of contents will enable our readers to form some estimate of its merits:

The Fortune Teller;
A proposal, and what came of it;
The moonlight sail;
Clarence and Blanche;
McIntosh and Old Katy;
A New Year;
The half made Bride;
The White Star;
Incognito Lover;
The plot revealed;
Sonora a captive;
Plots and counterplots, etc.

CLUBBING WITH MAGAZINES.

Send us $5 00 and secure a weekly visit from the NEW NORTHWEST and a monthly one from Demorest's Parlor Magazine for one year, and depend upon it, ladies, you will not regret the investment. The fact that the NEW NORTHWEST is awakening so much interest with Eastern publications as to cause them to make magnanimous offers for our mutual benefit gives our readers an idea of the estimate that first-class periodicals place upon our Journal for the People.

We have made arrangements with the publishers of Arthur's Home Magazine by which, on receipt of $4 50, we will be enabled to send the NEW NORTHWEST and Home Magazine each for one year, accompanied by a large and elegant steel engraving, entitled the "Wreath of Immortelles." This picture was engraved as a special premium for Arthur's Home Magazine, and its retail price is $6 00.

Godey's Lady's Book, the standard $3 00 monthly, has agreed to club with the NEW NORTHWEST at the rate of $5 00 per year, in advance. Save a dollar by sending for both publications.

The Multnomah Republican is the name of a new daily paper just started in Portland. We had supposed that there were already about as many daily papers in this city as could be supported. This paper is, however, very likely only intended as a campaign sheet.

The Dalles Mountaineer of a late date says: Mr. William Davidson, the great real estate dealer of Portland, has sold Judge Humason's property in that city, consisting of a house and lot, for the sum of $7,500 cash. The Judge is well pleased with the sale and spoke very highly of Mr. Davidson as a reliable business man, and recommends him to all in this section who may require the services of an honest, competent and thorough business man in that city.

The Bulletin says that the Oregon and California Railroad Company will hereafter sell tickets at this point for all points in the United States. These tickets are what are called coupon tickets, and each and every road over which the holder passes clips off a coupon. Tickets are sold for either route to California, via steamer or stage and railroad, across the plains and mountains by the Central and Union Pacific Railroads, to Chicago by either of three roads, to St. Louis by either of two routes, and from either of the two last named cities to New York by any desired route. Just so soon as the arrangements can be completed, tickets of this description will also be sold at Eugene, Harrisburg, Albany, Salem and Oregon City. At the different ticket offices on the line of the Oregon and California Railroad, tickets of this description are now sold for any point in Oregon or California. Persons traveling will always find it advantageous to purchase through tickets.

STIMULANTS.—George D. Prentice, who, according to all accounts, ought to be pretty familiar with what men usually term stimulants, writes thus truly and beautifully:

There is a time when the pulse lies low in the bosom and beats low in the veins; when the spirit sleeps which, apparently, knows no waking, sleeps in its house of clay, and the windows are shut, the doors hung in the invisible crape of melancholy; when we wish the golden sunshine pitchy darkness, and wish to fancy clouds where no clouds be. This is a state of sickness where physic may be thrown to the dogs, for we wish none of it. What shall raise the spirit? What shall make the heart beat music again, and pulse through all the myriad thronged halls in the house of life? What shall make the sun kiss the eastern hills for us with all his old awakening gladness and the night overflow with moonlight, love and flowers? Love itself is the greatest stimulant, the most intoxicating of all, and performs all these miracles, and is a miracle itself, and is not at the drugstore, whatever they say. The counterfeit is in the market, but the winged god is not a money changer, we assure you. Men have tried many things, but still they ask for stimulant. Men try to bury the floating dead of their own souls in the wine cup, but the corpse rises. We see their faces in the bubbles. The intoxication of drink sets the world whirling again, and the pulses to playing music, and the thoughts galloping, but the clock only runs down sooner, and an unnatural stimulant only leaves the house it filled with the wildest revelry, more silent, more sad, more deserted. There is only one stimulant that never intoxicates—duty. Duty puts a clear sky over man into which the skylark—happiness—always goes singing.

HOW TO JUDGE BOOKS.—Would you know whether the tendency of a book is good or evil examine in what state of mind you lay it down. Has it induced you to suspect that what you have been accustomed to think unlawful may, after all, be innocent, and that that may be harmless which you have hitherto been taught to think dangerous? Has it tended to make you dissatisfied and impatient under the control of others; and disposed you to relax in that self-government, without which both the laws of God and man tell us there can be no virtue, and consequently no happiness? Has it attempted to abate your admiration and reverence for what is great and good, and to diminish in you the love of your country and your fellow creatures? Has it addressed itself to your pride, your vanity, your selfishness, or any other of your evil propensities? Has it defiled the imagination with what is loathsome, or shocked the heart with what is monstrous? Has it disturbed the sense of right and wrong which the Creator has implanted in the human soul? If so—if you are conscious of all or any of these effects—or if, having escaped from all, you have felt that such were the effects it was intended to produce, throw the book in the fire, whatever name it may bear in the title page! Throw it in the fire, young man, though it should have been the gift of a friend; young lady, away with the whole set, though it should be the prominent furniture of a rosewood book-case.—Southey.

WOMAN LAWYERS.—When the large number of ladies who are at present studying law in this country shall commence to practice in the Courts, it is surely reasonable to expect that there will be such a flood of eloquence as was never known before. Every one who has had any acquaintance with the sex (and who has not)? is well aware that a woman's tongue is the longest thing out. "Extend your tongue a little further—a little further," a doctor once requested two or three times of a lady patient. "Why, doctor," was the arch reply, "do you think there is no end to a woman's tongue?" She got well, as she deserved.

One thing is quite certain—a woman can talk a man off his legs any day in the week, and retain as great a superfluity of words as ever. Prosy old lawyers, therefore, will not have the smallest shadow of a show when fluent feminines tout their briefs. This will be rather a pleasant innovation which no one will regret, and perhaps the sooner legal hacks are superceded by sprightly racers the better it will be for clients generally. The great fear entertained in regard to woman pleaders is, that they will, as they do now, love the sound of their own sweet voices so well that nobody else will have a chance to get in a word, and further that they will wheedle the jury so successfully that the verdicts will contain more flattery than justice.—Alta California.

FOOD MEDICINES.—Dr. Hall relates the case of a man who was cured of biliousness by going without his supper and drinking freely of lemonade. Every morning this patient rose with a wonderful sense of rest and refreshment, and feeling as though the blood had been literally washed, cleansed and cooled by lemonade and the fast. His theory is that food may be used as a remedy for many diseases successfully. For example, he instances cures of spitting blood by the use of salt; epilepsy and yellow fever, watermelons; kidney affections; celery; poison, olive sweet oil; erysipelas, pounded cranberries applied to the parts affected; hydrophobia, onions, etc. So the think to do in order to keep in good health is to know what to eat, and not what medicine to take.

SNAKE POISON.—In the last volume of "Transactions of the Royal Society of Victoria," published at Melbourne, there was an account of Dr. Halford's interesting researches into the nature of the change produced in the blood by the poison of snake bites. The doctor worked with the microscope, satisfied himself there was a change, and described it and has since had an opportunity of testing his theory and his antidote. A man working on a railway was bitten by a snake; ere long drowsiness came on; medical assistance was obtained, bnt by the time it arrived the man was comatose, and his lower extremeties were paralyzed. Dr. Halford was then summoned by telegraph; he made an incision in a vein, inserted the point of a syringe, injected ammonia diluted with water, and the effect produced is described as "marvellous and immediate." The man became conscious, steadily recovered, and became quite well. Henceforth let all people who live in districts infested by snakes remember that ammonia injected into a vein is the remedy for a bite.—S. F. Herald.

TO FRESHEN RANCID BUTTER.—Here is a fact worth a year's subscription to a paper: "To a pint of water add thirty drops (about half a teaspoonful) of liquid chloride of lime. Wash in this two and a half pounds of rancid butter. When every particle of the butter has come in contact with the water, let it stand an hour or two; then wash the butter well again in pure water. The butter is then left without any odor, and has the sweetness of fresh butter. These preparations of lime have nothing injurious in them."—Ex.

Raspail, a French chemist, finds camphor a remedy for that fearful insomnolence which attends the first stages of insanity. When opium and all the drowsy syrups of the cast fail of effect, a grain of camphor, formed into a pill, and followed by a draught of an ounce and a half of the infusion of hops, mixed with five drops of sulphuric ether, is his usual remedy for procuring sleep.

FOR FELONS.—An exchange says that a poultice of onions, applied morning, noon, and night, for three or four days, will cure a felon. No matter how bad the case lancing the finger will be unnecessary if this poultice is used; the remedy is a sure, safe, and speedy one.

That terrible scourge, the cholera, is expected to invade us again from Europe this summer.

DR. VAN DEN BERGH'S

Sovereign Worm Syrup.

THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE is warranted to expel all worms from the Bowels and Stomach, except Tape and Chain Worms.

The proprietor has taken much pains to test the comparative merits of the principal Worm Medicines of the day, which, numerous as the Entozoa themselves, have overspread the land, each claiming for itself the name of specific; and, while we frankly acknowledge that many of them are often successful, and do great good, were we not assured that this combines advantages possessed by no other worm medicine, its introduction at this late day would not have been attempted.

The pleasant taste and exceedingly small quantity of this medicine required to test the existence of worms, or to remove every one from the system—its operating in a few hours, unaided by any other purge, together with its certainty of effect, constitute it one of the most brilliant discoveries of the age.

Had we space here, scores of certificates might be adduced to show its progressive and rapidly increasing reputation for the last few years; but to promulgate its fame and establish its character, we only ask for a trial.

Its speedy operation in all sudden attacks, as convulsions, colic, fits or spasms, gives it an unrivaled superiority. Sent by express on receipt of price.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS.

Alternate paling and flushing of the countenance, dull expression of the eyes, drowsiness, itching of the nose, a swelled upper lip, tongue whitely furred and thickly speckled with red points, feted breath, an enlarged belly, a partial or general swelling or puffiugness of the skin, a starting in the sleep and grinding of the teeth, a sensation as if something was lodged in the throat, a gradual wasting of the flesh, sickness of the stomach, vomiting, a short and dry cough, appetite sometimes voracious, at other times feeble, bowels sometimes costive, at other times loose, great fretfulness and irritability of temper, pains in the stomach and bowels, colic, fits, convulsions and palsy.

Its value in removing masses of crudities from the stomach and bowels of children, even where no worms exist, cannot be too highly estimated.

Prepared and sold, wholesale and retail, by DR. VAN DEN BERGH and Agents in all cities and towns.

Dr. Van Den Bergh can be consulted on all diseases that the human system is heir to. His long experience in diseases of women and children very much be surpassed by any physician in the United States or Europe. Dr. V. advises ladies troubled with any irregularities of the Uterus to try his new remedies and get cured.

By consulting and undergoing a simple examination the afflicted can learn if their disease be worms or not. At all events, Dr. Van Den Bergh can tell them from what disease they are suffering.

Consultations and examinations free of charge.
