"Where?" said my companion, looking about. "Just there," I replied, pointing my finger in the direction of the prettiest knoll, below which the road wound with was driven up to the door where he a graceful curve.

settled; did I never tell you?" and my ters, laid it across his knees and opened companion laughed heartily.

I laughed, too, but it was a joyous, glad laugh. I was pleased to know that the pioneers selected beautiful building

Uncle Franks! and I never knew where the dear old man built before! I knew all about him, and Auntie Franks, and Jett, and Ruth, and Jack, and "Watch if the cow rolls up her eyes Nancy, and Simon, and Clark, their or makes complaint," he said, as he be-the distance of half a mile. I am aston-ished at this when I take into consideration the fact of a growing, healthy family eating hulled corn nearly every day for years, the one moderate-sized iron pot in which it was cooked, and that she made her excellent hominy the old precise way that our great grand-mothers did, without varying one atom; that it be thoroughly washed in clean mediately. People don't take to 'er nor she to them," was the reply. "Well, we must find out if she be one. It was hardly to be supposed that any water nine times. Franks dig a well and spare his wife?" her. If she be in league with a evil one the reply was, "He was very poor; they had nothing to work with but their bands the grim, wise old astrologically we growing all the senting the state of the mithout a trifling recompense, and though it did look very hard and inhuman, and we cannot quite be sents," and the grim, wise old astrologically we getables growing all the she made up her mind to part with the bed in exchange for a cow. Any woman an conceive how loth she would be to give up the only bed; but she said, drying her eyes on her apron, "We can't eat the bed, and we can soon learn to do without it. We are all tired enough at night to sleep on the ground, and the witch's own blood.

Salt and she was put into a little wooden wagon and hauled to the lower riffle, where the blacksmith's shop was located, and she was sold as a pauper by public outery.

This was the iron that entered her soon in part of murdered and unbaptized children, and his voice, and his voice, and his voice, and his voice, and nothing so any avoided, if but common care be exercised.

taken away and the cow brought home, and she behind him. At the feast to hauled her off to their cheerless home and the little ones feasted on the good which they all assembled there were in the creaking little wagon, amid the when they got up, the cow stood under drank out of ox boofs and horse skulls, the maple all drawn up, and her mouth but the meal neither satisfied nor nour-sit and lean on her thin talony hand, sendin' for Gran'ther Jones; it may be that she's a little mite bewitched,' "Who'd do it?" was his answer; "you he mistook for her.

"P'r'haps she's been out among the buckeyes: if she has, she's done for," into his pockets.

know nobody has nothin' agin us. We in her eyes with a questioning stare. lones would know whether she's a away to melt before the fire. witch or not. He could tell without If a witch attempted to do good, gittin' up off his cheer. Lord have devil was enraged and chastised her. mercy on us if she is! You see, Dan'el, I'll tell you what makes me mistrust. box, Gran'ther Jones, on the point of a had sought and I was out on the hill beyont the Wat-penknife, lifted out some of the oily by starvation. kins place with Jett an' Ruth diggin' some sassafras root the other day, and of a stick, mumbled over it, and then we come upon the old creetur all of a laid it down beside him. Then he took suddent a settin' on the ground with a some charcoal, that had been made out little brown paper in her lap, and she of burned bats, and made some marks was whisperin' like and doin' this an' on a fragment of white paper with it, that an' t'other, like a body sortin' out folded it up neatly, tied it in a cloth, seeds for a truck patch or garden, and laid it down beside the stick. Then and as soon as she seed us she he called Dan'el Franks up to him, and squawked out and hustled the little pa- tying a snake-skin round Dan'el's hat, per out o' sight in her bosom, and she told him to go to the house of the was gone down the hill like a streak. strange woman, lay the oiled stick on Now, if that isn't jubus conduct, I don't her doorsill, throw the marked paper know what is," and the wife looked up down her chimney, and then hide beinto her husband's face as though this hind her house with his hat drawn down last argument was conclusive.

The cow wouldn't eat anything, and twenty minutes, and then come back so Jett was dispatched for Gran'ther and report what he had seen and heard.

Now, this old man was very superstitious. He knew everything by the aid his staff, now rallied, and, looking up, of his cards and his "mineral ball," and said: "What say?" the queer-looking articles that he kept in a sacred little receptacle in the safest ingly," was the reply; "she was cryin' corner of the "old chest." an' moanin' an' makin' all sorts o'

His grown children and grown grandchildren looked with holy awe upon "gran'ther's box." They were almost breathless when it was opened and they caught a glimpse of its contents, but in truth," said the old man, putting the this latter rarely happened. In less than an hour the old magician hove in sight. He came in a creaking bosom a little parcel, which he unrolled, little wooden wagon drawn by an old sorrel horse whose mane and tail were hair, or hairy calculi such as is occasnarled and matted almost into felt with sionally found inside of the stomachs of as clubby and substantial as the tail of a musk-rat. Gran'ther was very old they are licking themselves, and clings half of conceit out and exceedingly corpulent. He could together and becomes secreted in the County American. hardly bear to feel the weight of his stomach, and is never removed unless clothes about him, and that required by curious human hands after the anihim to dress in a manner somewhat pe- mal is dead. liar. His back and shoulders were covered by a brief garment, made like our perstitious people ascribe supernatural quick and pathetic sensibility; there graudmothers used to make sailors or powers to this worthless accumulation. roundabouts for their boys, only that it Gran'ther Jones was one of those; he seem the just interpreters of a serene was very large and fit him like a loose, could hardly have existed without this and exalted intellect. But the rarest light husk. His trousers were something gathered on to a band to button round his portly dimensions; when he singular ball, he gave orders that the and those rich and restrained tones exwalked the band was buttoned, when he cow be watched closely. By this time eroise, perhaps, on the human frame, a rode or sat they were worn entirely she was lying down stretched out stiffly, stronger spell than even the fascination church, was sitting by a window listenloose and lay about him like careless with her eyes rolled up. loose and lay about him like careless with her eyes rolled up.

After a while gran'ther stopped swing of the eye, or that be witching influence of the hand, which is the privilege of side, or out and in, just as it happened. ing the ball and muttering incanta-Shapeless big moccasins and a very tions, and gave orders that the poor wide, low, soft, wool hat. This time brute be made to stand upon her feet. the call was urgent, for Mrs. Franks was It was attempted, but without a successhis granddaughter, a favorite one, too. ful result. He drove as fast as circumstances would allow, his long, white hair and his ex- her side," said he, peremptorily.

o North

FREE SPEECH, FREE PRESS, FREE PEOPLE.

VOLUME VI.

his heart.

cat's tail for a chanter.

over his face and stay there fifteen or noise, e'en a'most like one demented.'

"All right, she's a witch sure-least-aways all the symptoms p'int that way snake-skin back in his box and closing

Astrologers and fortune-tellers and su-most wonderful of all divinations.

In due time the man returned. Gran-

As soon as he was seated and the par-and smacked and partook again with a

PORTLAND, OREGON, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1876.

It was done, but the poor thing made Mrs. Beeton's Hints on Kitchen Economy. cess of snow-white shirt streaming in no effort to rise, and gave no sign except a prolonged, piteous, quivering cry. "That was the devil's cry," said gran'-ther, with a cracked laugh, and then ospitality, which was to bring out a he beckoned to have the "joog" passed half-gallon jug of Slater's best fourth-proof whisky, and hold it up to the ea-ger lips that wet themselves unctuously and it was held up, and he drank with the utmost satisfaction.

But such details are repulsive, and But such details are repulsive, and should be forgotten. Suffice to say, the

One day gran'ther was at Dan'el Franks' house, and Susie was making hominy, and using pailful after pailful ould see her.
"Turn her head this way," he said.

"Go git me a stick of witch hazel, and s paper in which were two needles with the sure you git it off'n the surrise side that heads. One of these he ordered to o' the bush, an' I'll see if it would be that can be turned to account. In warm be stuck in the hand of his shirt, back of his neck, and the other in the hem of proper for your pa to be diggin' a well bereabouts."

his left trousers' leg. Then he took out began walking slowly up and down the lot in which the cabin stood, holding that she made her excellent howing the her and her hous'old stuff and left im- in her cheerless, dark, lonely cabin, and cow will bring us good milk and but-taff, rake, or the like, and making her ter, and she will be such a good 'vest-exit by the chimney, rode through the words he could think of, and all the ment."

Poor Auntie Franks! the bed that her demon lover came to fetch her, he was mother gave her was given up and represented as sitting on the staff before But one morning, viands, but no bread nor salt, and they solemusilence of the motley assemblage.

was foamy, and her cold tongue hung ished. After eating and drinking, they and she would open a little brown paper out, and her breath came as though she danced to music played on a bagpipe were pained.

danced to music played on a bagpipe with a horse's head for a bag, and a over it softly and silently. But one day she refused food and drink, and the next At the conclusion a great goat that day she did the same, and persisted in it said uncle, with his hands thrust down had participated was burned to ashes, calmly yet positively day after day. and then the ashes were divided among Kind women could not prevail on her to The family stood round her graving. the witches to raise storms with. They at last the mother said: "What say to returned as they came, and the husband without avail; and one morning, when was kept from being aware of his wife's the old couple looked upon their charge, absence by a stick laid in the bed, which she lay peaceful and with pitiful countenance as one in pleasant slumber. All The power that the devil gave them plainness and homeliness were obliter never harmed nobody," and he looked was exclusively directed to work evil, sted, and a rare beauty, lost and faded to raise storms, blast crops, infliet rackfor long years, had come back again. "I don't like the looks of that old ing pain on an enemy or make him pine creetur as lives on the Watkins place," away in sickness. This latter was done, her bosom was a flossy flake of infant's said auntie, sticking her arms up usually, by making an image of wax hair, and a coarser slip beside it, of against her sides. "Now, Gran'ther and sticking it full of pins or setting it dark brown, was a man's hair, treasured and beloved, both. The tale they might

If a witch attempted to do good, the have told could only be guessed. Mary, with long and patient waiting, Taking a small vial out of his little the poor persecuted pauper, a lady born, had sought and found a friendly refuge contents, which he rubbed on one side SHE THOUGHT SHE KNEW .- The passengers in the sleeping-coach were just dozing off when something howled

> "Ow-wow-wow!" "Great dragons, there's a young one aboard!" growled a fat man from his berth. "Pil bet a hundred dollars none water down the sink, as the pipe is liaof us can get a wink of sleep to-night!" "Wow-wow!" whined the child, "There he goes again," growled the t man. "I never travel but I run across some one's offspring."

"Who's that talking?" called the mother of the child in a loud voice. "Me!" answered the fat man. "Why didn't you either leave that child at home or stay home yourself !" 'ther, who had been sitting leaning on "Are you talking to me?" demanded the woman. "Yes, ma'am, I am! I say it's a "The creeter was a-carryin' on 'mazshame to bring a sick child into a sleeping-ear to disturb twenty or thirty peo-

'Are you a father?" she asked. "No, I haint."

"Nor a mother?" she continued. 'No, ma'am."

We'll manage her, or there's no truth "Well, sir," she said, as she poked er head out between the curtains, it carefully. Then he took out of his when you've been the mother of eleven children, moved forty-eight times, and and within was a small, compact ball of lived in nine different States, you'll begin to think you know your business. I know mine; and if this baby wants to burdock burrs. Indeed, the tail hung old cattle, formed perhaps out of the fine howl he's going to do it, if I have to hair that lodges on the tongue when come over there and take a ton and a half of conceit out of you."-Delaware

> There is no index of character so sure as the voice. There are some tones brilliant and gushing, which impart a and most precious of all voices is that While he was performing with this which combines passion and repose;

> > The editor of the Chattanooga Times is tearing his hair because the intelli-the higher races of Asia.

Cleanliness is the most essential ingredient in the art of cooking, a dirty kitchen being a disgrace both to mistress and maid. Be clean in your person, paying par-ticular attention to the hands, which should always be clean. relish that was pleasurable to look upon.

"Well," he said, in a cracked old voice, looking around, and then the cow ever.
"Build be lorgoiden. Suffice to say, the cow died, and the feather bed was gone, and the poor family were poorer than ever.

Build be lorgoiden. Suffice to say, the cow died, and the feather bed was gone, and the poor family were poorer than ever.

You will find them less fatiguing in a warm kitchen than loose, untidy slip-

Provide yourself with at least a dozen place occupied, unless you had come here before the year of our Lord 1813.

That is where old Uncle Franks first settled; did I never tell you?" and my weather, any gravies or soup that are left from the preceding day should be Buttoning the band of his nether just boiled up and poured into clean the preparation, as it then so soon turns sour. In cooler weather, every other day will be often enough to warm up forked stick from the witch hazel, and the preparation, as it then so soon turns seasonings, herbs, etc., dwindle down so the marriage certificate was her chief startled at first, stuck his pen into the low that, some day in the midst of preprize, he was at liberty to live apart glue-pot, tumbled a pitcher of ice-water others did, without varying one atom; at it be thoroughly washed in clean if the so chose.

Well, we must find out if she be one if the so chose.

The ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the so chose.

The ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young gending a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, and the young a large dinner, you find yourself with the ship sailed, an

When you have done peeling onlons wash the knife at once, and put it away to be cleaned, and do not use it for anything else until it has been cleaned. Nothing is nastier or more indicative of Goody was quiet. For days she would any dish where the flavor of the onion with you." is a disagreeable surprise.

After you have washed your saucepans, fish-kettle, etc., stand them before the fire for a few minutes, to get thordry place, in order that they may escape the deteriorating influence of rust, and leave saucepans dirty from one day's use to be cleaned the next; it is slovenly and untidy.

Empty soups or gravies into a basin soon as they are done; never allow them to remain all night in the stock-

In copper utensils, if the tip has worn off, have it immediately replaced. Pudding-cloths and jelly-bags should have your immediate attention after being used; the former should be well washed, scalded, and hung up to dry. Let them be perfectly aired before being folded up and put in the drawer, or they will have a disagreeable smell when next wanted. After washing up your dishes, wash your dish-tubs with a little soap and vater and soda, and scrub them often. Wring the dishcloth, after washing this also, and wipe the tubs out. Stand them up to dry after this operation. The sink-brush and sink must not be ble to get choked, thereby causing expense and annoyance.

Do not be afraid of hot water in wash ing up dishes and dirty cooking utensils. As these are essentially greasy, warm water cannot possibly have the effect of cleansing them effectually. Do not be chary also of changing and renewing the water occasionally. You will thus save yourself much time and labor in the long run.

Clean your tins with soap and whiten-ing, rubbed on with a flannel, wipe them with a clean, dry, soft cloth, polish with a dry leather and powdered whitening. Mind that neither the cloth nor leather is greasy. Do not scrub the inside of your fryingpan, as, after this operation, any prepation fried is liable to catch or burn in the pan. If the pan has become black uside, rub it with a hard crust of bread and wash in hot water, mixed with a little soda. Punctuality is an indispensable qualty in a cook; therefore, the kitchen should be provided with a clock. If you have a large dinner to prepare, much may be got ready the day before, and many dishes are a great deal better for being thus made early. To soups and gravies, this remark is particularly To all these directions the cook should pay great attention; nor should they, y any means, be neglected by the mistress of the household, who ought to re-member that cleanliness in the kitchen gives health and happiness to home, whilst economy will immeasurably assist in preserving them.

A lady at Bedford, who lived near a if result.

"Take a shovelful of coals and pour on that "Rev. W. W. Simpson would preach at $10.45."

"Take a shovelful of coals and pour on that "Rev. W. W. Simpson would preach at $10.45."

"Take a shovelful of coals and pour on that "Rev. W. W. Simpson would preach at $10.45."

"Take a shovelful of coals and pour on that "Rev. W. W. Simpson would brooch and a letter of thanks.

"Take a shovelful of coals and pour on that "Rev. W. W. Simpson would brooch and a letter of thanks.

"Take a shovelful of coals and pour on that "Rev. W. W. Simpson would brooch and a letter of thanks.

"Take a shovelful of coals and pour on that "Rev. W. W. Simpson would brooch and a letter of thanks."

"Take a shovelful of coals and pour on that "Rev. W. W. Simpson would brooch and a letter of thanks."

"Take a shovelful of coals and pour on that "Rev. W. W. Simpson would brooch and a letter of thanks."

A Grateful Widower.

Sir Walter Scott used to be foud of Miss Dimity knows all about it now. telling the following story of his cousin She languished a long time in ignor-"Watly," Watty aforesaid was a midshipman in the British navy. On a at last she is wiser and sadder. certain occasion he and his messmates She always wanted to talk politics had gone on shore at Portsmouth, and and belong to some party; but how overstayed their leave, besides could she when she did not even know Do not go about slipshod. Provide spending all their money and running the difference between a Democrat and bother themselves with the little things yourself with good, well-fitting boots. up a bill at the tavern at the point. a Republican? She looked anxiously of life which engage the attention of Their ships made signal for sailing, through all the papers to gain some in-peremptorily calling all hands on board, formation on the subject, but the only fled and got angry when he had a se-must be aware, gentlemen, that you said: "That's easy; ask me a harder die? And when Solomon cracked his some white-looking gum, wet it with spittle, and rubbed it over the region of spittle, and rubbed it over the rubbed it ov of secrecy they had made previous to annoyance.

If you live in the country, have your vegetables gathered from the garden at a file of English papers reached the kind good enough. He thinks the "It is a grand thing, doubtless, to be

Honorable members of the last legislature assured the women of Massachusetts that "they are fully represented at the polls by their husbands and other male relatives."

The following actual conversation is a cried: practical illustration of such representation;

Lady to her husband-"My dear, when a slovenly and untidy cook than to use does your Republican caucus meet to an oniony knife in the preparation of make nominations? I think I will go Husband-"Oh! no. It would never you would not be welcome there;

Wife—"As you are not willing that I should go, will you speak in favor of will work for the Republicans, for they all have cottages at Long Branch, and there are placed on that cold, gray slab They should then be kept in a having a Woman Suffragist nominated villas in Washington and Paris, and the sweetest and brightest flowers of as our representative?"

Husband-"Why, no. How can thereby be quickly destroyed. Never when I am not in favor of Woman Suffrage myself?" Wife-"If you vote to suit yourself, and directly opposed to my wishes, please do not say any longer that you epresent me." Husband walks away to meditate. benign sadness that is born of superior wisdom.

Are wives represented by such husbands?

And the women who have no husbands to (mis)represent them, and whose power of influencing votes must be still less, how, I should like to be informed, are they to be represented? Many ladies would attend the caucuses, if they only felt that they were more degrees in the shade? Whew! right to vote there.-Exchange, lates with the fierce heat:

age and freshly tapped?

relief."

ing.

"Does anybody expect us to write ed-the like. In a late fashion letter to the SHORT SERMONS .- When all else is ost, the future remains.-Bovee. Jealousy dislikes the world to know t.-Byron. Diligence is the mother of good luck. -Franklin Self-trust is the essence of heroism.

Light and lust are deadly enemies. Shakspeare. Manners are stronger than law .- Alexander Carlisle. True joy is only hope put out of fear.

to man .- Young.

Many good purposes lie in the churchyard .- Philip Henry. Who gives a trifle meanly is meaner than the trifle.-Lavater. Human knowledge is the parent of doubt .- Lord Grenville. Hate no one; hate their vices, not themselves.—Brainard. We forgive too little; forget too much. -Madam Swetchine. Literature is a great staff, but a sorry crutch.-Walter Scott. The less we deserve good fortune, the St. Paul Pioneer Press, she says:

more we hope for it.-Moliere. Genius makes its observations short hand; talent writes them out at | bish at the back of our skirt; of the in- Mr. Parker, and Mr. Emerson were the length .- Bovee.

A Boy's Conundrum, -A little squint-I've begun goin' to Sunday School ?"

"And you trust me now, don't you, ma 911 "Yes, darling," she replied again. "What makes you keep the cookies sense in regard to their dress; and Thine business, go to church, educate their

A blind girl recently sent to the Emchirping, the music from the choir re- peror of Germany an exquisitely worked hearsal being faintly audible, when a table cover, wrought by her own hands, gentleman dropped in familiarly, who and to show that she expected no rehad just passed the church, and had the music full in his mind. "What a noise they are making to-night!" said he. criand." The Emperor caused her to be

The New Northwest.

NUMBER 2.

Miss Dimity Seeks Political Information

Devoted to the Interests of Humanity. Independent in Politics and Religion.

Alive to all Live Issues, and Thoroughly Radical in Opposing and Exposing the Wrongs

Correspondents writing over assumed signsures must make known their names to the Editor, or no attention will be given to their ommunications.

Reflections on Great Men.

We always think of great men as in the act of performing the deeds which give them renown, or else in stately attitudes of repose, grand, gloomy, and majestic. And yet this is hardly fair, because even the most gorgeous and magnificent of human beings have to peremptorily calling all hands on board, but when they would have started the landlady said:

"No, gentlemen, you cannot escape without paying your reckoning." And, to confirm her words, she called a balliff and his posse to take charge of them.

The midshipmen felt they were in a ball scrape, and begged to be released.

"No, no," said the resolute matron: "I must be satisfied in some way. You must be aware, gentlemen, that you cannot escape without paying your reckoning." And, the Democrats are all liars and swind-lers, and the Republicans all thieves and scoundrels. Finally she asked her papa about it, and he looked at her over his spectacles and said: "A Democrat, my dear child, is—by the way, you left lumps in the heels of my stockings when you darued them last week. Girls now-a-days are good for nothing."

Then she asked her big brother, and he must be aware, gentlemen, that you and detth, and simon, and clark, the complaint, "seeding are to make complaint," seeding are to make complaint, "seeding are to make complaint," seeding are to make complaint, "seeding are to make complaint," seeding are to make complaint, "seeding are to make complaint," seeding and then they came faster and faster a had nothing to work with but their hunds; the family was growing all the ger gave his refractary trougers! band in was just as much as he could do to clothe and feed them."

THE GRAVE OF DICKENS.-Grace

Such people believed that witches been soil unto the devil; that they enhal long wanted a cow, and at last allowed up her mind to part with the made up her mind to part with the made up her mind to part with the man conceive how loth she would be an an conceive how loth she would be an an conceive how loth she would be an an every nor the regarding and inhuman, and we cannot quite be get from the garden at midshipment, and watty, who get and inhuman, and we cannot quite be get gave his refractary troughts, yet a notice was stuck on the door of the blacksmith's an early hour, so that there is ample to make your search for caterpils to had one feather be done of the blacksmith's an early hour, so that there is an REPRESENTED OR MISREPRESENTED?

Represented or with the country needs reform. He wants change in office and change in his pockets. He holds his country's honor above price, and sells his own to setts that "they are fully represented at the highest hidder. He—" but Miss has gone into magnificent bantshment. the highest bidder. He-" but Miss has gone into magnificent banishment Dimity put her hands over her ears and cried: "Please tell me the name of the other party, to which honest men and patriots belong."

bas gone into magnificent bankshment here, where the perpetual tramp of strange feet, coming and going, is like the ebb and flow of a sea across the granite that shuts him down among granite that shuts him down among Then that editor laughed an inhuman unkindred dust, where no faintest influ-laugh, and said: "Long ago they took a ence of the sun, no intimations of the lantern when they wanted to find an changing seasons can come. But they honest man. You had better borrow say his coffin was heaped high with half a dozen head-lights and a garden rake, and go and look for that party. However, if you are a true patriot, you with him in fragrant darkness there are pretty well supplied with funds; this festal month-crosses of white lilles but the Democrats have been out a long and roses, 'pausies for thought,' 'rosetime, their money is all gone, and their mary for remembrance,' and always a villas are mortgaged. It will be a peculiar offering from some unknown dreadful strain on the Treasury, and—" hand—a wreath of scarlet geraniums, hand-a wreath of scarlet geraniums, Miss Dimity did not wait for more. looking in that shadowy corner like And now, when any one talks politics flowery flame, the very expression of in her presence, she listens with that passionate love and sorrow.

RECIPROCITY.-No man liveth to himself alone. To live and ignore the "THE HEATED TERM."-A New York effects of our own conduct upon others, editor thus pants and gasps and expostuand theirs upon us, is impossible, for we are unconsciously moulding the surroundings and circumstances that will itorials in these hot days, with 96, 98, tell for or against us in time. Every 100, and we don't know how many act of ours is sure to affect the delicate workings of the social machinery, so ome, even if they have not the As we write, no zephyr fans our brow, that, although at the time we may no sable attendant waits attentive to think little of it, a few years will show our call. Apollinaris, water with ice? us that the trivial circumstance has ef No. Guinness or Bass from cool cellar-

Alas, no. Beautiful indeed is the manner in Claret cup, spiced and redolent? No. which the Ruler of the Universe brings Moselle or champague? No. Juleps? Ah, no. Cobblers? No, not even a understand the system, and the more straw to excite pleasant recollections. we investigate the way men bring upon We sit panting, sopping, mopping, and themselves the misery which they atwonder if we are a phenomenal water- tribute to ill-luck, or the success which hed. Our youngest will ere long be is, after all, only the reward of perse-ble to "paddle his canoe" over our re-verence, industry, and a knowledge of n ains, or sail his small bit of shingle in mankind, the more we are convinced the puddle that will mark where once that knowledge is power, and, whether we stood. How we pine for heaven's we are disposed to admit it to ourselves floods to wet the sun-scorched earth; for or not, we are governed by very trifling A fee to God was never a true friend some delightful draught to cool our circumstances. He who increases the parched throat; but all in vain! Hark! value of his own property increases the As we write, a heavenly sound fills the value of his neighbor's property, and in air. The thunders peal and rattle, and the same manner he who increases his the clouds let loose their floods to our own standard of morality raises tue standard of morality among those who know him best. The gain may be small JENNIEJUNE'SPRAYER .- JennieJune at first, and hardly appreciable, but, is getting tired of the fashionable style when the great balance is struck, he will of dressing now in vogue, and pleads for find that he has been credited with this greater simplicity and plainness in the offering that he has made toward makmake up of ladies' dresses. She is down ling the world better. on pull-backs, flounces, furbelows, and Good Society.-In a review of Ticknor's Life and Letters occurs the follow-"For heaven's sake, what ever we do ing passage: "Taking three men as let us get rid of this mess of useless rub- roughly representative, Mr. Garrison, elegant, inconvenient, untidy, long, three most influential men in Boston of Of all wild beasts, preserve me from a narrow turnoure, and adopt a style the years between 1836 and 1860, and it tyrant; and of all tame, a flatterer.— which at least does not destroy the is not uncharacteristic of what in Amer-Ben Jonson. which at least does not destroy the ica calls itself good society, that it had no pend on a cat's cradle of tapes and part in any of them." The dreadful stitches for daily and hourly adjustment. Ithing about this statement is that it is eyed Chicago boy pranced up to his mother one day last week and said:

"Ma, hain't I been real good since I bread would be timely and apropos:

"This for a daily prayer for those who literally true, and that no perceptible are not concerned about their daily social improvement has taken place bread would be timely and apropos: are not concerned about their daily social improvement has taken place bread would be timely and apropos: since the latest date quoted. The "Oh, Lord! Thou hast fed the slave, trouble is not that the gentlemen men-"Yes, my lamb," replied the mother and given the colored man the right in tioned lacked society, or that they were common with his brethren to vote. No not admired, looked up to, and, to a cerother important subject being now be- tain extent, followed, but that good sofore Thee, may it please Thee to pay clety—the mass of respectable people some attention to women; and first of who live moral lives, reside in good "Then," spoke up the little innocent, all try to teach them a little common houses, wear good clothes, succeed in locked up in the pantry the same as be the praise for ever and ever, Amen." children, and subscribe to all charitable projects-have, nevertheless, so little A prudent mother of wealth and respectability, residing in Chicago, has brought up her accomplished and beautiful daughters to do washing and iron- aversion to intellectual effort which When questioned as to the cause does not promise either profit or honor,