The lecture of Mrs. Lake on Wednes-day evening at the Taylor-street Church was largely attended. Her subject, "Romanism in America," was dis-coursed upon with a power that woke responsive echoes in the hearts of her hearers. She lectures at Good Temp-lars' Hall ou Sunday evening, and all who Sesire an evening of real enjoy-ment should go to hear her.

An immense and enthusiastic audience gathered in the Young Men's Christian Association rooms last Saturday evening, on the occasion of the weekly temperance meeting. The attendance at these meetings constantly increases, and the greatest interest manifested. They are characterized by good order, carnest attention, and appropriate exercises. of the Sunday law, asks this pertinent question: "I wish to ask those who are question: "I wish to ask those who are enforcing the law why saleons and cigar and fruit stands are allowed to run on Sunday, while the law is rigidly enforced against grocery stores, where only the necessaries of life are kept?"

There is justice in the simple demand that all should be dealt with allke, or good reason for discrimination by minimum to the simple store.

Jesse Sheppard delighted lovers of fine music in this city by a concert given at the Unitarian Church on Monday evening. All who were privileged to hear him unite in testimony of his truly wonderful power and execution. His skill is said to be from spiritual inspiration. It is altogether incomprehensi-ble and unaccountable, as the heavenly sounds are evoked without the aid of written music, of which he claims to know nothing. He has also marvelous power as a vocalist, changing his voice with great facility from clear soprano to resonant base, and dwelling thirty or

An exchange says: "Girls, If you KEEPS CONSTANTLY ON HAND A FINE knew how men dislike slovenliness in women, you would keep yourselves as neal'as wax all the time." We will add, girls, keep yourselves neat for your own sakes, as it is the height of impertinence for men, nine-tenths of whom pect you to cultivate neatness because they "dislike slovenliness," and, as you AT COST PRICES value your reputation for verseity and cleanliness, never be guilty of the pretense that this poisome weed, whether presented to your sight and smell in the Public generally to call at his form of curling blue smoke or fithy ex-pectoration, is not disagreeable to yes, as any unclean thing should be.

The New Morthwest | From Mon. W. H. Jones, West Dover, Vt. "I have been troubled from my boyhood with chronic or hereditary long complaint. Some years since, in the winter, I took cold. some years since, in the winter, I took cold, which as usual settled into a severe cough, which continued to increase as the susson advanced, although I made use of all the cough remedies I had knowledge of. My family physician also prescribed for me, but I experienced no relief. During all this time, I was gradually running down, losing flesh and strength, until my friends, as well as myself, became very much alarmed, thinking I should became very much alarmed, thinking I should waste away in consumption. While in Boston, during the spring following, I was induced to try Wistan's Baldam or Wild Chemay. After one day's trial I was sensible that it was elieving me; in ten days' time my cough had entirely ceased, and I was soon restored to ealth and strength. I have ever since kept the Balsan, in my bouse, and whenever any member of my family has a cough or cold, it is immediately resorted to. No family should be without it." Sold by all druggists. 2

A Timely Check: A dry, hacking cough is the first symptom of approaching Consumption. Check it in time, and the danger is avoided; neglect it, and fatal consequences are pretty sure to ensue. The necessity for the adoption of precautionary measures cannot, therefore, be too strongly urged. Among the advertised cough remedies here is none better calculated to administe the timely check referred to than HALE's HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR, which is avouched by those who have used it, or have observed its effects, to be a perfectly reliable fic for a Cough or Cold, Soreness of the Chest or Throat, Influenza and Asthma, and a rable alleviant in Consumption. A featur of this preparation, which probably contrib-utes in some degree to its popularity, is its sweet and pleasant taste and odor, so different from those of most cough mixtures, which are usually nauseous and revolting.

DAVID AND ANNA MATSON

Editor "New Northwest," Portland, Oregon,

By Mrs. Abigail Scott Duniway,

WITH BEAUTIFUL TILUSTRATIONS, AND ELEGANTLY BOUNDS A new cyle, from a vigorous and skillful pen, on a subject which occupies a large place in the social discussions of the day. The subject is taken from Mr. Whitter a short unrelieve of "David Matson," with which the reader is probably minutes. Posid Matson, a Mertimae sailor, was captured by the Algerines (during one of his voyages) and sold into slavery. After many years he obtained release and was on his way to the nome of his boyhood, when he fell in with his old employer, who informed him that his wife, believing him dead, had remarried, and, stunned by his trouble, he surrendered all claim as mushand and father to the man who had stepped into his place, and departed. Mrs. Ininiway has found a theme in this story with which her heart beats in warmest sympathy, and her lines flow on in the amount cadence ladicative of the fullest accord. She pictures the gentie, tender, trustful Anna and the wily, coverous Pelatinb in vivid colors; and how years of poverty and longing, and the cries of the hun gry boys, compelled poor Anna to yield to Felstiah's importantly,

My poor, unmated dove," said he, " And look henceforth for love to me."

A little further on he says,: Become my wife and you shall be Made happy through prosperity."

vation and cold. And this Pelatiah was s "deacon," "In exhortations deep and loud." The wanderings of David, his vapitivity, release, suppose intersies with Pointish, discovery of Anna's second wifebood, and his sad going back to Aigeria, are all told so pathetically that our feelings are deeply enlisted. No one, with any true sentiment, can read the poem without being thoroughly stirred. The filustrations are in admirable keeping with the passages they are designed to portray, and a fine engraving of the author is a fitting feoulispiece. The subject designed to portray, and a line engraving of the author is a fitting troutlaptece. The subject spirit, fire and passion of the poem should give it an extensive reading, aside from the interest which the literary reputation of the anthor must awaken in it. As a specimen of book-making the volume is certaints, beautiful, and would aftern any center-table. We know of no work so well suspeed as a present. It is printed on heavy tinted paper and most beautifully bound, price, $2.00; full gilt extra, $2.50. For sale by book-seilers, or by mail, post-paid, by
