With slow-moving fingers he wrote a death notice. It went tute the paper almost as he wrote it, but you might not have seen it. He wrote "Died-Littl Ted-of scarlet fever;

"Was it your brother?" asked the Tim tried to brace up, but he could not. The big tears came up, his chin quivered, and he pointed to the notice on the counter, and gasped: "I-I had to sell my kit to do it, b-but he had his arms aroun' my neck when he d-died !" He hurried away home, but the news went to the boys, and they gathered in a group and talked. Tim had not been home an hour before a barefooted boy eft the kit on the doorstep, and in the box was a bouquet of flowers, which had been purchased in the market with pennies contributed by the crowd of ragged but big-hearted urchins. Did God ever make a heart which would not respond if the right chord was touched? -Detroit Free Press.
