

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF.

Mrs. Duniway's recent experiences in Southern Oregon, where she has openly

When William Lloyd Garrison began the publication of the Liberator, he naturally expected the aid and counsel of the clergy.

The Standard raises a pitiful wail because some degraded women are "openly selling liquors without having been

The ready plea of the clerical apologist for an aristocracy of race was precisely analogous to the ready plea of the advocate of an aristocracy of sex to-day.

Mr. Garrison foresaw the coming rebellion, and he struggled single-headed, but without avail, to avert the impending danger.

Tom Lawton, who was engaged with Anderson in the murder of Tullis in California about a year ago, in order that Dye, the Public Administrator,

The Union Sentinel relates, and the Portland Standard copies, a tale of marital infidelity, and, not seeing anything wrong, leave the matter to us for comment.

wall of men who have so long been shielded by each other in justifying the unjust conditions under which women are suffering in a so-called free country,

The mob in Southern Oregon, led on by its editors, will be compelled to learn that awakened public sentiment, even there, will rally to the support of law and order.

CURING INTemperance.

"The notorious Mrs. Smallen," the unfortunate creature who is a hopeless sot, was most brutally beaten a few days ago by her husband, Jack McDonald,

On Saturday morning we stopped over in daylight in the city of the Philistines, where a woman who preaches morality and human rights is in danger of losing her life at the hands of a mob after nightfall, though she is perfectly safe from molestation when the sun shines, and lo! and there wasn't a man of any claim to respectability who wasn't ready to swear that he was the very fellow who had been our staunch friend all along!

FEMALE LIQUOR-SELLERS.

The Standard raises a pitiful wail because some degraded women are "openly selling liquors without having been compelled to pay anything for the privilege, or without any fear of arrest from our blind police."

Eastern dispatches show that the people on the Atlantic slope are beginning to get an insight into the natural treachery and cowardice of the Chinese character.

The Southern "chive" are getting uneasy for fear they will have to stop angling for points of honor in "the code" and go to work in their cotton fields.

Tom Lawton, who was engaged with Anderson in the murder of Tullis in California about a year ago, in order that Dye, the Public Administrator,

EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

WILLOW SPRINGS, July 21, 1912.

DEAR READERS OF THE NEW NORTHWEST: As we are well aware of the excitement and indignation of the thousands of friends of human rights who are gaining new strength and zeal in the prosecution of our work because they see more and more the need of another and better element in the law-making power of the land to hold in check the lawless classes who are now in possession of the balance of power everywhere, and who, through this power, virtually tie the hands of the best and most honorable men whenever they are so inclined, thereby placing the sacred liberties of the people, for which our fathers fought and died, in constant jeopardy; and, as we know these thousands of friends to our sacred cause are waiting anxiously to hear further news from the political missionary who has been compelled to become the Arnold Winkelried of the new dispensation in Jacksonville, we this morning, Monday, the 21st of July, awake with the dawn, and regarding you, our friends and readers, with far more consideration than another badly-needed nap for our humble self, we sharpen our pencil and proceed to business.

On Saturday morning we stopped over in daylight in the city of the Philistines, where a woman who preaches morality and human rights is in danger of losing her life at the hands of a mob after nightfall, though she is perfectly safe from molestation when the sun shines, and lo! and there wasn't a man of any claim to respectability who wasn't ready to swear that he was the very fellow who had been our staunch friend all along!

We refrain from publishing the naive attempt of a certain young man to defend the injustice of his father at the expense of his mother's character, for the boy will be deeply enough ashamed of it after he has come out from among his mother's defenders and learned a little wisdom. It is not natural for a son to assist in defending a rabble in its indignation against a lady who has dared, in the face of long-established masculine opinion to the contrary, to declare that his mother is innocent of a crime.

On Saturday we came out to Willow Springs, to the house of our staunch friends the McDonalds, and on Sunday, having previously engaged the best lively turn-out from friend Pymale's well-stocked stables in Jacksonville, we started, with Mr. and Mrs. Pymale and Mrs. McDonough, to Foote's Creek, where we were appointed to lecture at one P. M. Our road lay along the foot of the mountains, and, after a three or four hours' drive, led us up into the very heart of an old mining camp, yet vastly rich in the golden ore; but the diggings are now dry, and mining has ceased, and the good country people are turning their attention to farming, home-making and stock-raising.

At the beautiful farmer's home of Mr. and Mrs. Lance we were all hospitably entertained, and after a sumptuous dinner we repaired to the school-house a mile or two further up the little valley that lies between the Delectable Mountains.

We had no idea that there were so many people here. They were thicker than July blackberries, and they kept coming after the lecture began till we had to pause frequently till new benches could be improvised, and then everybody couldn't get seats. Our speech continued for over two and a half hours, and when, at last, we bade the friends good-bye, it was difficult to leave them. But we promised to get back sometime.

On our return to Willow Springs we came by another route, through a lovely, verdant and fertile valley, past innumerable gold fields, yet fabulously rich in ore, where the diggings have so long been buried out and turned over in bygone years are now overgrown with trees and briars, as though Nature were ashamed of the nudity to which the ravages of her children had wickedly subjected her.

It is almost night when we reach Mrs. McDonough's pleasant home, and here we dismiss our team and retire to rest at an early hour, as calm and care-free and happy as a weary and sleepy child.

Power than men or mobs that overrules this Woman Movement.

A. S. D.

WILLOW SPRINGS, July 22. Again, as we are well aware that anxious friends by thousands are awaiting a truthful version of the closing scenes of our sojourn in Jacksonville, we hurriedly seize our oft-offending, though truth-telling, pen to portray facts as they have occurred during the interim since last we wrote you.

On Monday, the 21st, we returned to the city of the Philistines as we had promised, though we were careful to enter and depart during daylight, as the "militia" and other protectors of women with whom we have had to deal in that modern Sodom are of the kind that are only to be feared in the darkness.

At Mrs. Vining's we again found hospitable welcome, and, after a quiet, social dinner with Mrs. Kenney, Mrs. McDonough and Mrs. Pymale at Mrs. V.'s well-filled board, we scribbled an open letter to the men of Jacksonville, which, after a little elimination, the editor of the Times and the Sentinel agreed to publish, the former in his issue of the 21st, and the latter, whose paper was already full for this week, on his next publication day. We found our brethren of the press disposed to be affable, though they are not yet sufficiently over the licentious craze of a few of their evil-minded, loud-mouthed patrons to fairly distinguish virtue from vice; and so they still persist in saying that we have scandalized a lady by declaring her to have been unjustly attainted with masculine oppression and slander.

"You ought to have permitted her and her children to bear the stain forever, because it was no longer the subject of street talk, and the Judge's wife had got used to it," is the substance of their so-called logic. A man who is either so blind that he cannot, or so perverse that he will not, see the sacred principle involved in the facts we have published, and who has tried mob law to check progress of free speech, free press and free women, is a thousand times wiser in his own conceit than seven women who can render a reason. You may "Bray a fool seven times in a mortar," says Solomon, "and yet his folly will not depart from him."

We have another matter to tell you of, good reader, and it concerns the infamous conduct of the Brigadier-General of the Oregon militia; but eminent counsel advises us to wait till the matter has first been ventilated in a court of law. Even could we bring our pen to the point to make it write them, we could not put the common street expressions of this chief of the home guards about us and to us upon paper without danger of being indicted for sending obscene matter through the United States mails.

In the afternoon of Monday we made an address on the street, right in the midst of the crowd where we had been threatened with eggs and publicly howled at on the Friday before, and there was the most respectful silence and attention while we spoke. We defended the boys who had been accused of instigating the riot. We charged the whole cause of the disturbance upon older heads—voters and law-makers—and we here predict that the sequel will prove it. The boys are not to blame. It was heard and headless hoodlums, and bad whisky and voters and law-makers, that did it.

But, after all, it's fun to see how we have scared the politicians. Quite a number of the bedrock Democrats think we have come out here under the patronage of the Republican party, for the purpose of laying wires in the interest of some candidate or other for the United States Senate. Others say we are surreptitiously working for the success of the greenback or independent movement, and still others that we are in the interest of the dominant wing of the Oregon Democracy. But, no matter which horn of the dilemma they accept, they seize hold of it like drowning men catching at straws. The editor of the Sentinel burlesque in the path of Judge Prim, by pretending to be angry because we have told the truth; and a hundred Democratic voters who read the Sentinel have failed to see the point till they have fallen in the trap. The Independents and the Democrats of the Thayer school are also jealous of the man's rights Judge, and they are unit with the Republicans in secretly exciting the bedrock ring to pro and spoil the future chances of the Judge. But he is wiser in one sense than them all.

Years ago, when the Republicans joined with the Democrats in an organized warfare against the woman movement, we successfully silenced their "free love" cry by publishing a partly hidden chapter of gossip concerning the domestic history of the President of the United States. The outcry for a while was almost equal to this one; but the President had sense enough to say, when his attention was called to it: "The woman tells the truth. And she is right. If our wives and mothers had all along been equal with men before the law, such things would not have been."

It was not to degrade the President, but to establish a principle, that we applied the hair of the political cur for Jacksonville. Kind friends, everywhere, do not worry. There is a higher incisive, but the cure was certain. But when we scurry politicians learn that the influence of women who dare to strike for liberty because it is their rightful heritage is not, like theirs, for sale?

We've got away with Jacksonville. We've defied its eggs, its whisky, and its thugs. We've left every chaste woman within its borders with her political understanding quickened into active thought. We've left every intelligent woman sorrowing because she did not dare, for fear of her protectors, to attend our closing lecture. But we're coming back again, good ladies. The earthquake has come among your lawmakers, and it has come to stay. Its eruptions will henceforth be periodical. The rotten eggs with which your protectors were prepared to pelt you if you ventured out that night will be consumed before this time next year with the glowing fires of law and liberty. We thank God and take courage.

A. S. D.

An edition of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in circulation in Paris, accompanied with notes in which slavery is declared to be not contrary to natural order; and the assertion is made that most laborers would be happier if they were slaves. Whereupon Mrs. Stowe says: "He must be a bold editor who hopes to neutralize the effect of 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' on those laborers who ought to be slaves by a foot note."

Tulare Lake, California, is still said to be receding. Should it continue to fall as rapidly as it has during the last two years, it will be but a few years till the bottom of the large lake is dry land. Crops are being raised this year on land over which a steamer sailed three years ago.

GENERAL NEWS.

Yellow fever is spreading. Michigan's wheat crop will be 30,000,000 bushels.

The Louisiana Constitutional Convention was adjourned.

An aged couple named Defer, were murdered in bed near Atlanta on the 20th.

Yellow fever is spreading, and almost all Southern cities are quarantined against others.

On the 25th, at Chicago, Sleepy Tom made the fastest pacing time on record—a mile in 2:12.

There was $7,495,457 in national bank notes redeemed at the treasury in Washington during the year.

Henry Miller, a negro, was hanged at Jacksonville, Miss., on the 20th, for the murder of Henry Butler.

"Try, try again"—Butler has announced his willingness to contest for the governorship of Massachusetts.

There is a growing hostile feeling toward corporations in New York State, similar to that existing in California.

Gen. Donald Mead, a veteran of the battle of Waterloo, died at Cleveland last week, aged over 100 years.

The money appropriated for river and harbor improvements will not be withheld, but will be expended this year.

H. S. Tibbey, engaged in Barstow street and Montgomery avenue frauds in San Francisco, is out on $50,000 bonds.

Secretary Everts has received a dispatch from Minister Everts stating that his resignation has been forwarded by mail.

J. P. Krieger, President of the Reading Savings Bank, St. Louis, has been arrested for embezzlement of funds of the institution.

Two brothers near Columbus, Ohio, named Henry and Aleck Covert, had a shooting affray at breakfast yesterday, and both were killed.

The total value of exports of merchandise from the United States for the year ending June 30, 1912, is $254,635,902 in excess of the imports.

The Public Lands Commission will meet at Omaha August 15th. They will discuss Denver, Salt Lake City, and other points, in discharge of their duties.

A gravel train on the Northwestern Railroad, in Illinois, was derailed on the 27th by backing over a cow, killing several workmen and maiming others.

An incendiary fire at Hartford on the 27th destroyed a good part of the machine shop of the Hartford Foundry. Loss, about $25,000; insurance, $10,000.

James Ord, son of General Ord, was arrested on the 27th at San Antonio, charged with complicity in the crime of murder, but was subsequently released.

The English bark Becherlass Ambarless, of Liverpool, proves to have been the vessel wrecked at Barclay Sound, British Columbia, and saved and have arrived at Victoria.

A railroad collision occurred on the northern branch of the Reading Railroad on the 27th in Pennsylvania, completely wrecking both trains and injuring several passengers.

There are about 15,000,000 grain sacks pooled in San Francisco. The manipulators expect to make an advance of 50 cents, which will give a profit of $600,000 to the farmers.

A farmer named Kraus drove into a lake in Wisconsin on the 28th to water his horses. The latter became frightened, got into deep water, and the farmer and five children were drowned.

The salvage of stranded dollars will fall $500,000 below the minimum fixed by law this month, owing to the fact that there was no silver bullion at San Francisco or Carson on the 1st of July.

Another treasurer, Geo. B. Durfee, of the Merchants' Mills, Fall River, has lost about $139,000 in speculations in cotton, though he put up but $35,000 as margins. His relatives will settle the matter.

A contract has been signed with the Delaware shipbuilding works for another steamer for the Oregon company. It will be the largest in the company's fleet—322 feet long, 38 feet beam, and 3,000 tons register.

Pennsylvania was visited by a storm on the 28th, which destroyed many houses and damaged railroad property. There is but one death reported as caused by the storm, Mrs. Dailey, Growing crops were greatly damaged.

Professor Chantler, of the New York Health Board, says that recent fever caused more deaths in New York State last year than yellow fever did in the South, and yet failed to excite public apprehension or to make people ordinarily careful to prevent infection.

A ship canal, 11,000 feet long, is proposed between Newark and New York bays. It will enable vessels to load at Newark for foreign ports, and would create a great shipping and warehousing business. General Newton, the United States engineer who blew up Hell Gate, says the plan is feasible, and the route is to be surveyed at once.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

The newspapers comment very severely on the action of the rabble of Jacksonville who could find no other way of answering Mrs. Duniway's charges than the cowardly attempt at mob violence. We give a few extracts to show the sentiment of the people at the cowardly outrage. The following is from the Astorian:

The Jacksonville Dispatch severely censures their vulgar treatment of Mrs. Duniway at that place lately. But she is able to handle them as they deserve to be handled, "without gloves." Let her do it.

The Hillsboro Independent condemns the proceeding in these words:

SOUTHERN OREGON CHIVALRY.—A crowd of brave Jacksonvilleians banded Mrs. A. J. Duniway in safety, and subsequently, when she appeared on the street, threw eggs at her, one or two of which hit her person. The offense given the people of Jacksonville by Mrs. Duniway was a letter to the New Northwest, in which she spoke very severely of some of its editors, but the means of retaliation used was both cowardly and brutal, and will be an enduring stigma upon the character of the people of the place, and their unmanly action deserves a righteous rebuke at the hands of the entire Southern people.

This is the Walla Walla Statesman's opinion:

"THINK WERE GRANTS IN THOSE DAYS"—A shrewdly judged informant, says Mrs. Duniway, of the Portland New Northwest, was burned in effigy at Jacksonville. The dispatch was signed "Committee," and from this it is evident that there are yet in Jacksonville a class of men who are not only devoid of honor, decency, and courage, as an opportunity to glory in a deed that a bigger Jordan would seem even to contemplate. They may have been aggrieved at Mrs. Duniway's attack on their recent action, but they should not have resorted to such a course. The action will never be a blot upon the history of the city of Jacksonville. There was a time in early days when even to look sharply at a woman would have been avenged by a hundred honest men; but, "there was quite in those days?"

The crying outrage will redound to the benefit of the cause for which Mrs. Duniway is struggling. The few extracts given show that a majority of the citizens of the State are possessed of sufficient intelligence to understand right from wrong, and sufficient manhood to acknowledge it.

From an exchange we learn that the Jews are being excluded from the Coney Island hotels this year, as well as from those at Saratoga. This is following the precedent set by Judge Hilton. A nice specimen of freedom in the boasted land of Republican America! "Evidently civilization is by no means universal yet!"

General Grant, it is said, recently gave a confidential friend a most positive declaration that he would not permit his name to be used for the Presidential election. It is thought he would like the English mission.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Cholera is abating at Cabul. Yellow fever is raging in Havana. Sir Garnet Wolseley thinks the Zulu war is over.

The Colorado beetle has appeared in County Cork, Ireland. Three hundred English striking engineers are coming to America.

Coteaway has sent the Prince Imperial's sword to the British by a messenger.

The British defeated the Canadians in the match for the Kalapere challenge cup.

The Archbishop of Paris protests against educational bills, in the name of liberty.

Sitting Bull and his band are on friendly terms with the Canadian government.

The British mission was received at Cabul on the 24th with military honors and salutes.

The harvest in France is better in quality than last year, but hardly average in quantity.

The Russian Government has stopped the publication of the Gressedofian, a Moscow journal.

Latest advices say the Chilean army on the Peruvian frontier has been largely reinforced.

A woman named Kate Webster was hanged in London on the 20th, for murdering a Mrs. Thomas.

A waterspout in Switzerland has stopped trains, whirled masses of earth about, and injured persons.

Theresa, a girl of Quebec, succeeded Letellier as Lieutenant-Governor of the province of Quebec.

The Russian Minister of the Interior reports 3,501 fires during June, over one-seventh of which were incendiary.

Russia has given assurance that the last Russian soldier will have quitted Turkish territory by the 4th proximo.

Russia proposes establishing and fortifying on the Siberian coast a maritime station for a fleet in the Pacific Ocean.

Farrow, the American, was loudly cheered when the Duke of Connaught presented him with the Wimbledon prize.

There was a violent hurricane last Sunday on the Adriatic near Trieste. Twenty vessels were damaged and one sunk.

Shorter time and no further reduction of wages is the remedy suggested for the present depression in the Oldham cotton trade.

The French Chamber of Deputies has voted to demolish the ruins of the Tuilleries and transform the site into a garden.

Lord Derby, as arbitrator, has reduced the wages of 57,000 persons in the Durham collieries, in addition to a former reduction.

The unfavorable opinion of the British Columbia grain crops expressed two weeks ago is not realized. The yield bids fair to be abundant.

Heavy rains and inundations are reported from various parts of France. The Scheidt, Mense and other rivers in Flanders are overflowed.

Complete extinction of slavery in Cuba is not expected until 1914, unless laborers arrive in sufficient numbers from China to care for the plantations.

The International Bank of Hamburg has gone into voluntary liquidation. It has had nothing but misfortune since the financial crash following the Franco-Prussian war.

An Aglers dispatch says the Governor-General has issued a decree sequestrating the territory of the cities which recently revolted, and imposing the extraordinary contribution of 200,000 francs upon them.

NEWS ITEMS.

WEATHER AND TERRITORIAL.

Sheridan is in need of dwellings. An iron foundry is in operation at Roseburg.

A glove factory has been started at Corvallis.

The harvest in Washington county will be large. East has appeared in grain fields near Oakland, Oregon.

A new saw-mill is being erected two miles south of Hillsboro.

A new bridge has been built across Palmer Creek at Dayton.

A good wagon road is being made from Port Orford to Coos Bay.

The thermometer reached 91° in the shade at the Dalles last week.

The Old Followers of Ashland have decided to build a new brick hall. Dilley, in Washington county, has been established as a post office.

The Constable House at Albany will probably be rebuilt in sixty days.

A petition is in circulation for a daily mail between Corvallis and Newport.

The black spots on the Walla Walla peaches make them bitter to the taste. A lodge of the Ancient Order United Workmen has been instituted at Corvallis.

Three men at Spokan Falls have been imprisoned for selling whisky to Indians.

Harvesting has commenced in Southern Oregon. The yield will fall below average.

John Perry, a plowman, was killed near Canyon City on the 22d by a cow-tongue hawk.

Douglas county has 3,720 school children; Jackson, 2,005; Josephine, 745; Lake, 601.

The Methodist Church at Jacksonville has been thoroughly overhauled and repaired.

There has been an unusually large amount of rust in the wheat fields of the California Valley.

The house of William H. Davenport, near Colfax, W. T., was blown down by a recent storm.

The Walla Walla says the crops in all the country around there are heavy beyond precedent.

Farmers say there will be 300,000 bushels of wheat threshed in Jackson county this year.

Coquille, in Coos county, has been demarcated as a post office, also, Wingville, Baker county.

Richard Gough, the header who accidentally shot himself last week, died on the 25th at Pendleton.

Crops on Applegate Creek never looked better. The minus are about eleven days in the Stinking Water.

A fire and at Lewiston, Idaho, last Friday, shook off vast quantities of apples and prostrated many trees.

A special agent of the Government seized 1,400,000 feet of saw-logs at Pafloose City, W. T., last week, for violation of U. S. laws.

Profr, the heady-house keeper at Seattle, arrested for kidnapping a little girl from the Opium House in Portland, jumped his bail.

Over $2,000 worth of opium is annually smuggled in the Chinese domain of Rolo City, and white men and boys are the principal consumers.

J. H. Foster and Montell & Son, of Albany, offer to pay a premium of four cents a bushel in mill feed for all grain sold in or stored within them.

A Walla Walla dispatch to the Oregonian says the Oro Fino express was robbed on the 20th by three men, who got about $1,200 in gold dust.

Hendley & Simons are rebuilding the Tamatis House at the Dalles, to be the third building on the site. Thomas Smith is also building a hotel there.

The youngest son of Mr. L. L. James, aged sixteen years, living near Champanee, was drowned in the Willamette last Monday afternoon while bathing.

The fire in Kalama last Friday destroyed about $400 worth of property, on which there was $5,000 insurance. The fire started in a building used as a hotel and saloon.

A fire broke out next door to the International Hotel at Walla Walla yesterday evening, about 8:00 o'clock, property on which there was $2,000 insurance. The fire started in a building used as a hotel and saloon.

The Colfax, W. T., Council is composed of the following gentlemen: E. N. Sweet, D. Wolford, G. Cooper, H. S. Hollingsworth, J. W. Lippitt, E. N. Booth and W. W. Booth.

Another wife-beater comes to the front this week. His name is Michael Mosney. He is said to be the champion. We suggest that, in view of the extreme natality he has evinced, that there is no need of other aspirants trying to outdo him. If they succeed any better than he has, they may have to answer for the crime of murder. The Oregonian names the proper punishment for some of his stripes when it says, "Bring forth the cat-of-nine tails and lash the rascal naked through the world!"

Nearly a dollar recently spent an expensive outfit for a new suit by substituting the cheap Russian fabric, which is not so beneficial and healthy as the real one. The Russian fabric is not so beneficial and healthy as the real one. The Russian fabric is not so beneficial and healthy as the real one.

Russia proposes establishing and fortifying on the Siberian coast a maritime station for a fleet in the Pacific Ocean.

Farrow, the American, was loudly cheered when the Duke of Connaught presented him with the Wimbledon prize.

There was a violent hurricane last Sunday on the Adriatic near Trieste. Twenty vessels were damaged and one sunk.

Shorter time and no further reduction of wages is the remedy suggested for the present depression in the Oldham cotton trade.

The French Chamber of Deputies has voted to demolish the ruins of the Tuilleries and transform the site into a garden.

Lord Derby, as arbitrator, has reduced the wages of 57,000 persons in the Durham collieries, in addition to a former reduction.

The unfavorable opinion of the British Columbia grain crops expressed two weeks ago is not realized. The yield bids fair to be abundant.

Heavy rains and inundations are reported from various parts of France. The Scheidt, Mense and other rivers in Flanders are overflowed.

Complete extinction of slavery in Cuba is not expected until 1914, unless laborers arrive in sufficient numbers from China to care for the plantations.

The International Bank of Hamburg has gone into voluntary liquidation. It has had nothing but misfortune since the financial crash following the Franco-Prussian war.

An Aglers dispatch says the Governor-General has issued a decree sequestrating the territory of the cities which recently revolted, and imposing the extraordinary contribution of 200,000 francs upon them.