Others hands to darse to grapple
With the giants that uprise.
With bold front and cond-like sinews.
Refore the timid, dreamy eyes.
Hers it was to watch the wreatter's
White arms grow more firm each day;
Corded thro' with stronger sinews
Were the hands that soon should slay
"Glante's at the very sill—
Shadowy outlined ones that fill,

With a wague terror, timid souls
Or the well defined that stand,
With a vieage grim and frowning,
And with sinewed, tifted hand,
Many fight these silent battles;
They could tell you, if they would,
"Iwas a woman who inspired
Hearts that dauntlessiy withstood,
With the shield of foresti prayer,
Many forms of grim despair.

A RAINY DAY.

BY ELLA WHEREARD. How tired one grows of a rainy day,
For a rainy day brings back so such;
Old drams revies that are buried away,
And the past somes back to the eight no

When the night is short and the day is long, And the rain falls down with censeless beat, We tire of our thoughts, as we tire of a song That over and over is played in the street. When I woke this morning, and heard the of the rain-drops over the tall slime leaves, was carried back, in a lightning floats. To the dear old home, with the sleping exyst.

And you and I, in the garret high,
Were playing sgain at hide-and-sock;
And bright was the light of your laughing eye,
And relet the glow of your rounded cheek,

Love, my lover, with eyes of truth— O beautiful love of the vanished years— There is no other love like the love of youth— I say it over and over with lears.

Wealth and honor and fame may come— They cannot replace what is taken away; There is no other home like the childhoo No other love like the love of May.

Though the sun is bright in the midday skies.
There cometh an hour when the sau heart grieves.
With a lonely wait, like a lost child's cry.
For the trundle-sed and the sloping caves.

with a lonely will, like a lost child's cry. For the trundic-ned and the sloping caves.
When, with vagor unreat and mucless paint. We honger and them for a wice and donn't him we never on early shall her should be an every on early shall her should be an asked on the light of the world. The foundation of every good government is the family. The best and the most prosperute country is that which has the greatest number of happy firesides. The holiest institution among men is marriage. It has taken the race of countless ages to come up to the condition of marriage. Without live on rate than dwell in an abode of inxury here with your family."

A FEW OLD SAYINGS—Impetitive country, is more agent of the properties country is the wind has not secured the love and adoration of some grand and magnificant man. Life is a meckery to any man, no matter whether he be mendicant or monarch, who has not won the heart of some worthy woman. Without love and arriage, all the priceless loys of yours, than to be the king of the world. The beart, and she the empers of one loving and tender beart, and she the empers of one loving and tender beart, and she the empers of one loving and tender beart, and she the empers of one loving and tender beart, and she the empers of one loving and tender beart, and she the empers of one loving and tender beart, and she the empers of one loving and tender beart, and she the empers of one loving and tender beart, and she the empers of one loving and tender beart, and she the empers of one loving and tender beart, and she the empers of one loving and tender beart, and she the empers of one loving and tender beart, and she the empress of yours, than to be the king of the world. The good woman in this world, it matters not though he lie in the ditch a beggar, his life has been a success." There is a heathen book which says: "Man is strength, woman is beauty; man is courage, woman is love. When the one man loves the one woman, and the one woman loves the one man, the very angels leave heaven and come down and sit in that house and sing for iny."

rulned by the opening of Sucz Causi. The overland trade, both Oriental and Earopean, by caracan with Bagdad and Possian Gulf has been diverted to the water way. The composition of India and China in sitk and seasame seed through the causal has sensibly affected the value of these products; the late discovery of alazarine has tendered valueless the cultivation of madder for export; and the diverson of large numbers of Moslem pilgrims from all parts of the East, who had hitherto made Damascus their point of arrival and departure, with much profit to the city, to the sea route by the causa), has contributed in no small degree to its downward progroute by the canal, has contributed in no small degree to its downward progress. House rent has declined thirty and fifty per cent, and large numbers of empty houses in every part of the city indicate the general decline. The streets are filled with beggars, both Moslem and Christian, and that, too, in a city where eighties months ago a beggar was a rarity. The more elevated districts of Lebanon, which formerly contributed the principal portion of mendicants during Winter menths, have this year sent double the number to swell the amount of local indigence. A PREHISTORIC WELL IN MAINE -John Upham, of Camden, Me., had occasion to dig a ditch on his farm, sinking it between one and two feet deep. After proceeding some distance be encountered a rock maple tree, over a foot countered a rock maple tree, over a foot in diameter, lying between one and two feet below the surface. Following this up he found it separating in two branches, one of which he cut off with an axe, and, removing the branch thus severed, discovered under it a well as to live for? stoned up, about three feet deep and in China, about the same diameter. Contained within this inclosure was a boiling spring of excellent cool water, which bas supplied the family since, never be coming dry in Summer, nor freezing in Winter. The wooder is, when and by whom are this wall dug, and how long has the carth which was allowe it been swimming? It would seen the been system of the well dug, and how long has the carth which was allowe it been swimming? It would seen the been system of the beat seen city. swimming? It would seem to be for limited an estimate to calculate by a few hundreds of years, and too too great a stretch of credulity to look back some thousands of years for its origin.

With all of Ingersoll's glowing ac gount about the Union being saved, he is mistaken there. The Union is no saved. There is no union between th North and South; nothing but a force submission. The fires are smouldering and ready to burst forth the moment that the South think they are strong men and their liberty, there will be a more bloody war than the last.—Hacker.
