

The New Northwest.

PORTLAND, OREGON, THURSDAY, JUNE 2, 1881.

LOCAL EPITOME.

Mr. Geo. F. Tribou returned by the Columbia from his visit to the East.

The Grand Lodge of Masons of Washington Territory is in session at Olympia.

A new stand for the judges will be erected at the race course on the State Fair grounds.

The Executive Committee is perfecting arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration.

Mrs. C. A. Coburn is building a residence on the corner of Tenth and F streets, East Portland.

Ex-Attorney-General Williams left Washington City on the 28th ultimo for his home in this city.

Owing to the superior finish and excellence of work, Abell stands preëminent as a photographer. Give him a call.

There will be five graduates from the Territorial University of Washington this year, four of whom are young ladies.

Tu Fan, a wealthy Chinese merchant, died on Saturday last. The remains were buried on Monday with celestial pomp.

Mr. John A. Beck and wife returned from San Francisco on the last steamer, whither they had been for a five weeks' sojourn.

The Portland police made 155 arrests during May. Of the number, 111 are classed under the head of "drunk and disorderly."

A young man named Holman has been arrested in this city and taken to Goldendale, W. T., to answer a charge of horse-stealing.

Mr. Voos has opened a new coffee-house and restaurant at No. 86 First street. Everything about the establishment is first-class.

The trial of Thomas Doig, the pilot who is charged with wrecking the Great Republic, is in progress in the United States Circuit Court.

Women and girls for chamberwork in hotels and general housework in families are wanted at the Women's Employment Agency. See advt.

"A perfect fit guaranteed or no sale," is the motto of Shipper & Rybke, proprietors of the Bon Ton Tailoring Establishment, Nos. 11 and 13 Oak street.

The new propeller Fleetwood made a successful trial trip on Saturday. In conjunction with the Gold Dust, she will run between this city and The Dalles.

Some 50,000 Norwegian immigrants will reach America this year, and many of them will settle in the West. Oregon will receive a good portion of them.

There are now open for inspection $10,000 worth of foreign and domestic suitings at the Bon Ton Tailoring Establishment, and new goods arrive by every steamer.

Colonel Mosby, the Confederate guerrilla chief, will visit Oregon on his trip from China to Georgia, he having been appointed United States Marshal of that State.

The Oregon Railway and Navigation Company has bought the Starr line of steamers on Puget Sound. The vessels were transferred to the purchasers on Tuesday.

It is growing fashionable for individuals who can't get out of town to be "induced to remain" on some pretext or other, just as it is common for removed people to "resign."

A large assortment in the latest Summer styles in hats and bonnets was received on the steamer Columbia by P. Van Fridagh, No. 111 First street. Ladies should examine the stock.

A reader of the Oregonian's account of the recent British banquet will conclude that San Francisco's reputation for "producing the biggest sycophants, and most in a bill," is in danger.

The Democratic City Committee has held a meeting and determined to issue no call for a convention at present, the members preferring to wait until the Republicans make nominations.

A very large audience listened to the special services at the First Congregational Church on last Sunday evening, in memory of fallen soldiers. Rev. J. A. Cruzan delivered an eloquent sermon.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union of South Portland has petitioned the Common Council to make provision for confining arrested boys and girls in separate apartments from adult criminals.

If any druggist will prove by analysis that any patent medicine on his shelves is a better remedy than the Oregon Blood Purifier, his fortune is made if he will send the formula to Wm. Pfunder & Co., of this city.

Wm. Gray & Sons, boot and shoe dealers at No. 149 Front street, have something of interest to the public in our advertising columns this week. Their stock is all Eastern made and of the best quality. Call and examine it.

Work on the tunnels between Cascades and The Dalles is progressing finely. It is prosecuted night and day—the men working in eight-hour shifts. It is believed the tunnels will be through by the first of August, or sooner.

Mrs. A. C. La Roque, whose death was mentioned last week, died intestate, and Mr. J. S. Raleigh has been appointed administrator. The estate does not exceed in value $17,500, and consists of household effects, real estate, money and notes.

Mrs. Myers, a lady eighty years of age, residing on the corner of Seventh and F streets, has for some time suffered from a cancer in her right hand, and on Saturday afternoon the affected member was amputated. The lady is getting along well.

Alma H., third daughter of John L. and C. A. Smith, died in this city on Sunday last, from typhoid fever, in the seventeenth year of her age. The parents and sisters of the bright young girl have the sincere sympathy of relatives and friends in their trying hour.

The Bon Ton Tailoring Establishment, of which Shipper & Rybke are the proprietors, has a splendid stock of foreign and domestic fabrics, which they will make up in the latest styles at very reasonable prices. They offer a choice of selection from some 2000 different suitings, which they have imported direct from European and Eastern manufacturers. Every one who desires a neat-fitting, stylish suit should read their advertisement, note their low prices, and call and inspect their stock.

Halberstadt & Kann, of the New York Novelty Company, received by the last steamer a large addition to their fine stock of novelties. They desire to call attention to a very useful and unique article that they have just introduced, viz: the celluloid pen-holder, of which they have a large invoice.

The O. R. & N. Co. now sells excursion tickets to the Cascades for $2 50 for the round trip. They are good only till the down-bound boat is met, which is usually at Warrendale. Excursionists may thus view Cape Horn, Rooster Rock, Bridal Veil Falls, Castle Rock, and return in time to transact half a day's business.

As will be seen by reference to our advertising columns, Messrs. A. L. Salinger & Co. are closing out their business in this city. The stock will be sold at any sacrifice, as Mr. Salinger does not wish to take any of it with him to Oakland, whither he goes to assume charge of the firm's establishment in that city.

The Farmers' and Mechanics' Store is again to the front with a large advertisement. This announcement is in reference to the dry goods department only, and should be carefully read by every woman in the State. The square-dealing and one-price system is meeting with general favor, and business is constantly increasing.

The Oregonian's Jenkins has set himself about establishing a "code of manners" for the guidance of the society people of America. It is strange that such a profound professor of etiquette was allowed to drift to this remote section of the country to commence his work. A chapter on "fresh" reporters and their privileges at the theaters is in order.

S. Lipman & Co. have received two cases of lace buntings, which were seventy-five days on the way from New York, and they offer them at thirty cents per yard, the regular price being fifty. They are enabled to make this reduction in consequence of having received indemnification from the railroad company for the delay of the goods. Read the advertisement.

Cardwell & Bennett, two young gentlemen well known in this city, have opened the Palace Boot and Shoe House at the corner of Third and Morrison streets. They are importing a fine line of Eastern-made goods, and will carry a superior stock. They will doubtless receive much encouragement in their new-undertaking, as their circle of friends in Portland is very large.

Mr. J. W. Bailey has removed from No. 47 to Nos. 83 and 85 Yamhill street, between Fourth and Fifth, or two blocks west of his old location. No finer staple and fancy groceries can be found in the city than at his new, neat and commodious establishment. His prices are the very lowest, as he sells for cash. All orders promptly attended to, and goods delivered to all parts of the city.

A Dundee cablegram from the Directors of the Oregonian Railway Company, Limited, announces that the lines of the company have been practically leased to Henry Villard. Work on the division from the junction of east and west side sections opposite Ray's Landing to this city is ordered discontinued, and all available hands are to be transferred to the southern lines. Whether suspension of work on the Portland division is temporary or permanent is not known.

Last Monday, Decoration Day, was quite generally observed in this city as a holiday. The procession of military and civic societies formed at 2 o'clock P. M. on Third and Alder streets and marched to Lone Fir Cemetery, where the programme of exercises as announced last week was impressively carried out. The band played a dirge, Chaplain Cruzan offered a brief prayer, Major A. F. Sears delivered an address, and Commodore Waters, Harrington, Neer, Sears and Palmer responded to "memorial sentiments," after which considerable time was spent in decorating graves. In the evening, New Market Theater was literally packed, and many people were unable to gain admission. Rev. W. G. Simpson offered a prayer; a double quartette rendered the "Battle Hymn of the Republic;" Post Commanders N. S. Pierce of this city, J. W. Cochran of Vancouver, and T. C. Bell of Oregon City, each made a short address; R. C. White read a short original poem; Mrs. D. F. Smith read the "Soldier's Message," and Miss Augusta Allen "Searching for the Slain;" Hon. M. C. Gerge delivered an eloquent and impressive oration; Lolla O'Connor recited "The Star Spangled Banner;" and the "Responsive Closing Service" by the Post ended the ceremonies of the day.
