He reported that the people of his section are much interested in getting more direct communication with this county than the old circuitous route up the coast, via Bandon, thus shortening the distance nearly one-half. They are now at work opening the way up Rogue river to Rube post office, thence up Grove creek to Leland. They have petitioned the Postmaster General to establish a mail route over this way, which they anticipate will be done as early as July next. SOLDIERS' HOME AFFAIRS.

Vice President James Byron Denies the Allegation.
OLALLA, Or., March 1, 1895.
Ed PLAINEALER: The onslaught made by the legislative committee sent from Salem "cocked and primed" for the Soldiers' Home at Roseburg is denounced by every one connected with the facts in the case as one of the most scurrilous, low-down and villainous attacks ever publicly made in the State of Oregon. In order to make a point against me, they declined, as the law requires, to serve legal notice on me stating time and place of investigation of my official acts. They preferred, guerrilla like, to shoot from an ambush, or stab in the back, which they fully, foully and completely did.

In their secret conclave they have figured me travelling by railroad from Olalla to Roseburg, a distance of twelve miles. That any railroad exists between Olalla and Roseburg is false, and that Olalla is but twelve miles from the Soldiers' Home is also false. That I have charged five dollars per diem is also false. The receipt of the Home shows that I have been called to Roseburg twenty-five times in two years on matters in connection therewith. Several of those meetings were caused by an injunction suit brought on by Salem parties, the history of which is well known in the courts of Oregon.

Now, the only public carriers between Olalla and Roseburg is the Coos Bay Stage Co. The distance between these points is about seventeen miles, the fare is one dollar and fifty cents each way. Nearly all the board meetings were held on Tuesdays, and in order to be present I had to either take the Monday stage which arrives daily at Roseburg, about five o'clock p. m., or a private conveyance. Returning, could not leave Roseburg before Wednesday morning about six o'clock a. m. The public will therefore see that travelling by stage it would take three days; travelling by private conveyance would be still more expensive. That committee says I drew two hundred and ten dollars in two years, or the enormous sum of one hundred and fifty dollars per year. Now, if Ormsby, clerk of said committee, will pay seventy-five dollars for twenty-five trips on stage to Roseburg, and divide the balance left by number of days required in attendance and travelling to and from, he will have about one dollar and eighty cents per day, to pay hotel bills and other expenses. During my two years on the board of trustees I have never travelled on a free pass and charged mileage to the state, nor have I had the state of Oregon to buy my postage stamps or pocket knives, as the people who nutturally investigated the Soldiers' Home have done.

The animus originated in the fact that they were themselves candidates for the offices of commandant, secretary and trustee, with one honorable exception. Senator Smith of Clatsop. Two of them have already received their reward from Salem, two others will get them in time. JAMES BYRON.

"At Coffey Creek near Roseburg" wouldn't that jar you! It is curious that anything in Douglas county can't be located without bringing in Roseburg. What do you think about it, neighbor Canyonville?

The many placer miners of South Douglas, who are only enabled to work their mines during the rainy winter months, have experienced a very unfavorable season thus far, on account of the light rainfall. However, many hundreds of dollars are being taken out of these mines notwithstanding the unfavorable conditions. Mr. Wollenberg, one of the leading merchants of Canyonville, informs us that for the month of February he alone has purchased gold dust to the amount of $575.

Trustees Meeting.
The board of trustees of the city of Roseburg met at a called meeting Thursday evening, February 28, 1895, and transacted the following business: At roll call the following members were present: Trustees Shupe, Wright and Rapp and Recorder Zigler. The object of the meeting being to act upon the bond of J. F. Farquar to sell malt liquors in the city limits in less quantities than one gallon for the period of four months. The bond was read and accepted and the recorder ordered to issue a license.

The company acquitted itself very creditably, and were highly complimented by the inspecting officer: Roseburg feels proud of our prospective heroes in arms and feel secure against all of every foe that shall dare to assail Old Glory and the institutions it symbolizes.

Rev. Mr. Stein preached to a large and very attentive congregation at the Christian church Sunday evening. Mr. Stein is a ready speaker, has a good voice and distinct enunciation. THEATRICAL.

The Nihilists at the Opera House tonight.

Theo. Kremer, the "romantic young author and actor," as he is called on the bills, appeared at the opera house Saturday evening in his great production, "The Nihilists," a comedy-drama that furnishes ample scope for his abilities. Unfortunately for the company, their advent here was unheralded by "paper" of any description, owing to the illness of their advance agent, yet a fair sized audience was present to greet them, and thoroughly enjoyed the performance. Many pronouncing the play and the company the best that has been in Roseburg for months. In the earlier scenes of the play, the young Russian student, Mr. Kremer was as lively and graceful as the proverbial French dancing master, while later on as the suspected nihilist and condemned criminal he exhibited great dramatic force. He is ably supported by the company. Tonight the "Nihilists" will be repeated. Popular prices. No extra charge for reserved seats. Go and see the "Nihilists."

"Wednesday evening will be produced 'Home to Home' and on Thursday evening 'Shadows of Death.'"

Cleveland's Policy.
The democratic claim that through the policy of the Wilson-Gorman bill, we should find open to us the markets of the world, has proven a deception—by giving away our own markets and losing those we had. There is a remedy for this, but it will never be applied by the present democratic administration. It is to be hoped that the republican house lately chosen, and a republican senate in the near future, with a republican President to be chosen in 1896, may once more see the gold reserve intact, when questions about currency and revenue will cease to agitate the public mind, and bond issues will be a thing of the past; we shall take up the march of prosperity by redeeming lost ground; our people will once more be profitably employed, and there will be fulfilled every promise made by the leaders, of the republican party, of better times through better legislation; we will rebuild the waste places, having re-established confidence in our restored credit and our ability to meet our obligations. Our people remember the promises of the democratic party that we should have a better currency, a better market and better times. Yet inside of two years it has changed our currency and thereby destroyed its value. Times are worse now than they have been for thirty-five years. The friends of President Cleveland have had much to say about his wise financial measures, but the truth is the only thing he has done has been to degrade our financial system by his unwise and un-American policy. He has changed this country into a bond-issuing one. The reinstatement of the republican party in power, will be hailed with joy by the American press and the American people.

Passing Away.
Two more old pioneers have passed on to the great beyond. Mrs. Ruth Pugh, who crossed the plains in 1845, and settled in Washington county, Oregon, has rendered up her final earthly account. In crossing the plains her family was robbed by Indians of all they had. Mrs. Pugh died on February 25th. Her husband now 79 years of age survives her.

Alexander Spang, who came to Oregon in 1851, has recently deceased, at the age of 77 years. We have often crossed the Willamette river at Spang's ferry, between Marion and Polk counties, and well remember the deceased as a high-minded and respected man.

Thus the old pioneers are passing away rapidly, and time in its ceaseless flight is tearing them to the ocean of eternity. And now, as we pen these lines, the thought occurs to us that on the 15th of next June the pioneers of Douglas county are to meet here in Roseburg to renew their acquaintanceship and enjoy social intercourse one with another. Let pioneers bear in mind the 15th of June and come in all their strength, determined to have an enjoyable and happy reunion. Let the thought that reunion of old pioneers must soon cease, as the lapse of a few more years will find them numbered with the silent majority, and come to once more grasp the hands of fellow pioneers in happy greeting.

W. C. T. U.
The regular meeting of the local W. C. T. U., February 28, was addressed by Mrs. Ada Urnab of McMinnville, state organizer of the Local Temperance Legion. She gave them a valuable talk on the L. T. L. work in the state and said that the members of the Union should attend all the meetings of the Legion and keep themselves informed of its workings; that the W. C. T. U. was the Legion's mother and should care for her young. She praised the Union for perseverance and steadfastness. She will be in Roseburg again in the near future. Two new names were added to the membership roll.

Improve the Streets.
The time is at hand to improve the roads. The matter of good streets should engage the attention of all enterprising citizens. The streets of Roseburg should be properly graded, and especially the streets which are most used for public travel. Good, clean, solid and well-graded streets are an advertisement for a town. By a little expense and labor Roseburg can make a good showing in this line. The time to improve is now, and the way to improve is to improve. All good citizens should take a pride in our having clean, handsome streets.
