OUR WINES AGAINST THE WORLD.

California Will Have a Full Exhibit at the Bordeaux Exposition.

The viticultural commissioners have decided to make an exhibit of California wines and brandies at the exposition which is to be held at Bordeaux from the 1st of May next until the 1st of November.

Secretary Scott received a cable dispatch last week from Bordeaux to the effect that the Societe Philomathique has accepted the terms offered by the viticultural commission, and that California wines and brandies will be accorded a full and complete representation at the forthcoming exhibition.

This is the first opportunity which has ever been accorded local wine growers and distillers to display their products in Bordeaux. During the last two years substantial recognition has been accorded California wines and brandies in various European centers. Gold medals have been awarded at the expositions in Genoa in 1892, in Dublin in 1892, in Antwerp in 1893 and in Lyons in 1894, but the California wine and brandy makers have never before had an opportunity of showing their best products to the winemakers of the world in the center of the greatest claret market in the world—Bordeaux.

Secretary Scott of the viticultural commission said:

"California wines have already received splendid recognition from foreign experts. We intend to carry the battle right into the heart of the finest producing district of clarets in the world. Five years ago an effort to convince the bottlers of French wine that we had wines worthy of their recognition might have been hopeless. There are, however, in this state 100 or more men who have in view the production of the very highest types of wine, whether these types be of claret, Burgundy, Rhine wines or any other kind. These people know that we have an area of country suitable for winemaking as large and as varied as all of the countries of Europe outside of Russia.

"We want to put samples of all of our wines before the countries of the world, and we have never before had such an opportunity as is now presented in the Bordeaux exposition. We do not claim that we have the very best of everything, but we do want to show to all comers that we have at least as good wine as can be shown by any country. All that we ask is an equal and fair chance with any country, and I think it is fortunate for the state that the means exist for inviting such a comparison without any undue expense to the individual winemakers. The commission intends to collect all of the samples. The samples will be sent on, and due care will be taken that fair play is done to all concerned. All that we are waiting for is for complete particulars as to the expense."—San Francisco Chronicle.

BY RAIL TO THE YOSEMITE.

Five Hours by Electric Road In Place of Four Days by Stage.

Chicago capitalists, in conjunction with others in New York and California, may undertake an improvement in the Golden State in the shape of an electric road which will involve an expenditure of $2,500,000. The projected road is to run from Merced, in the San Joaquin valley. As planned it is to continue from that town into the heart of the Yosemite valley, a distance of 100 miles. A. F. Hatch, one of the Chicago men interested, said recently that few things in connection with the project were definitely settled except the plan in a general way.

"The purpose," he said, "is to furnish modern transportation facilities into the Yosemite. At present visitors leave the railroad either at Merced or Raymond and travel by stage into the valley. It is a four days' journey for the round trip and a laborious mountain climb for animals, although the same distance could be traversed under some conditions in a few hours. Despite the discomforts of the trip, many people visit the region. By an electric road the journey will be reduced to a five hours' ride in a comfortable car. It is proposed to equip the road for freight traffic in connection with passenger business. I know the carrying of freight by an electric road is an experiment, but it has been done, and we think it can be accomplished regularly, successfully and profitably."—Chicago Tribune.

Their Credentials.

The principal of a certain ladies' college in Cambridge advertised for a porter, asking the candidates to apply by letter. One correspondent began with "My dear sir," and ended with "Love to all the family."

Another, after stating his many qualifications, made the following admission: "I am a married man, but a Christian," and at the foot of his letter put, "P. S.—Strick T. T."

A third, a woman, wrote in favor of her husband, saying he was specially well qualified to be a janitor in a school "because he had a sister who was married to a gentleman whose father had been a teacher."—London Tit-Bits.

An Eighteen Ton Bell.

One result of the French-Russian fetes was the movement at St. Petersburg to provide Notre Dame, Paris, with a big bell made in Russia. The architects have discovered that the edifice cannot support the weight of the proposed bell, and an arrangement has been made between the Russian committee and Cardinal Richard that the bell shall be placed in the Church of the Sacred Heart. The gift, which is nearly finished, weighs 18 tons. It will be called "La Cloche de la Paix." In a few weeks it will be transported from St. Petersburg to Odessa in a Russian vessel and taken to Marseilles, thence overland to Paris.—Paris Letter.

Peter's Pence Dwindling.

A few years ago the Peter's pence from France averaged 3,000,000 francs. In 1893 the sum was 1,800,000 francs, and last year it fell below 1,000,000.

For Over Fifty Years.

An Old and Well-Tried Remedy.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhœa. Is pleasant to the taste. Sold by Druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind.

If you are in need of any thing in the hat line it will pay you to examine the new stock at Osburn's new store.

THE NEW VANDERBILT HOUSE.

An American Mansion Inspected and Approved by New York Society.

Society has examined the new Cornelius Vanderbilt house and pronounced it "magnificent," "superb," "royal"—any adjective, in fact, that describes great size combined with good taste.

The reception the other afternoon was perhaps the largest and most representative ever given in New York, at least 1,500 people making it a point to be there.

It differed, too, from other receptions in that the visitors, instead of standing about in two or three rooms, as is usual, wandered off after paying their compliments to Mrs. Vanderbilt and spent the rest of the afternoon in sightseeing through the long suits of apartments.

"I do believe I have walked a mile!" exclaimed one woman, who was evidently determined that nothing of value should escape her close scrutiny.

The house is indeed an education in itself, with its different styles of decorations, according to different periods, but all blending together in a harmonious whole.

Some of the critics got their Louises pretty well mixed, pronouncing a Henri II room a Louis XV, and a Louis XVI a colonial room, but it didn't make any difference.

The Louises committed and can cover a multitude of sins, and Peter Marie and a few other experts on interior decorations had a splendid time setting some of the women straight on their dates.

The house will of course look even finer when lighted for a ball, with the company in evening dress, but even as it was it truly merited all the praise given and denotes a new era in the splendor of American living.—Cholly Knickerbocker in New York Recorder.

ASHES TO CURE CUTS.

Russian Physicians Revive an Old Cossack Method of Treating Wounds.

Some of the best known physicians in Russia are strongly advocating the adoption in the government hospitals of an old Cossack custom of treating cuts and wounds with ashes. The Cossack peasantry have treated cases in this fashion from time immemorial, and Dr. Pashkoff, a Russian physician who has been studying the treatment, recently said in an interview in a Russian medical journal:

"I strongly recommend the treating of severe cuts and wounds with ashes. Experiment has convinced me of the thorough efficacy of the treatment, and in addition it is cheap, takes little time to arrange and does away with bulky bandages, which have always been the bane of nurses and physicians. The best ashes are those resulting from the burning of some cotton stuff or linen, and only a very thin layer should be applied. If the wound has been made by some dirty instrument and there is danger of blood poisoning, it should be first washed thoroughly with a lotion. The ashes with the blood form a hard substance, under which the most severe cuts heal with remarkable rapidity."

Dr. Pashkoff has experimented with ashes on 28 cases of cuts, and only two of the entire number failed to result successfully. These cases would have been cured, too, had not the nurses failed to apply prescribed lotions to the wounds before the physicians took them in charge. It is extremely probable that the ashes treatment will be adopted in the St. Petersburg hospitals before long.

To Define a Church.

A strange question is being raised in the court here by two saloon keepers who are being prosecuted for running saloons within 300 feet of a church, which is forbidden by the mulct law. They admit that they are within the prescribed distance of the building in question, but deny that it is a church. So the question arises, What is a church? The one complaining is the German Methodist, and it is located on Locust street, one of the principal business streets, and in a good business locality. The church owned this property and concluded to make the most of it. So a substantial three story business block was built there, with stores on the first floor, offices in front on the second floor, and the hall, used as a church, on the second floor, back. The third floor is used by tenants. The jury in one case found that the building was not a church and that it could not keep saloons 300 feet away. The case will undoubtedly be carried to the supreme court to get a definition of what a church is.—Des Moines Dispatch.

The Phonograph In a New Role.

Having possession of a seditious phonograph is the latest instance of disloyalty punished by a jealous continental monarch. The authorities at Triest arrested an Italian guilty of having exhibited a phonograph which played the Italian royal march. The terrible instrument was accused of having disturbed public order because it also registered sundry demonstrations of applause and enthusiastic cries which accompanied the hymn when it was performed. The musical patriot has been obliged to leave the town and take with him the subversive instrument.—Triest Correspondent.

The Trilby Craze.

The Trilby enthusiasm in New York city has had some amusing results. The "Trilby waltz" is affected by certain young people who read not wisely, but too much; the "Trilby collar" is a novelty in certain stores; the "Trilby lisp," whatever that may be, is a subject of gossip in up town boarding schools. Du Maurier's pebble made a great many circles when it splashed into the mill pond of modern life.—New York World.

Fate's Freakishness.

The new road completed a few weeks ago, leading to the Winnegance cemetery, was built through the efforts of Mr. Reuben S. Hunt, and his dead body was the first to be taken over it.—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

THE SACRED CODFISH.

The Proposal to Take It Out of the Statehouse In Boston Creates a Sensation.

The Worcester Gazette says:

Charles Francis Adams recounts "The Story of the Cod" in the Springfield Republican. In 1782 John Adams secured from Great Britain an eminent diplomatic victory after a wearisome contest—the right of fishery—and on March 17, 1784, John Rowe, a Boston member, asked and received permission to hang the historic codfish on the wall of the chamber of representatives in the statehouse. Thirty years later another war with Great Britain occurred. John Quincy Adams was called on this time as a diplomat, and he, too, saved the codfish once more from British encroachments. The statehouse cod, which the sacrilegious are now threatening to store in the garret, is emblematic of commerce, war and diplomacy and tells of Massachusetts victories in all three fields. After the peace of 1783 John Adams quartered the codfish in his coat of arms, and it is there now. This must have been the origin of the phrase "codfish aristocracy," once in common use. It was commonly spoken in derision, but the pride of the Adamses in the codfish would seem entirely worthy.

On this subject the New York Sun remarks:

There is a proud and beautiful building in Boston. Bulfinch did it. It is a Parthenon surmounted by a gilded gashouse, and to those who love it it is the supreme architectural achievement of the world. Even the limited or prejudiced persons who deny its charm cannot forget the joy of its associations. To go to Boston, to view that dome with an eager eye and to perspire with the pulchritude of it and the deeper thought that one doesn't have to live in Boston is not the least of pleasures in a world that persons of fair digestion regard with a certain amount of attachment. As a matter of fact, the dome is a hollow fraud. Mr. Bulfinch, who has had the distinction of having an eminently parochial street named after him, was not lucky enough to have his designs carried out, and the statehouse, with its feeling Dutch name, is not all that it might have been. But it has merits. There is or was in it the sacred codfish, a palladium that fell from heaven plash into the Frog pond in the days when Boston was an eminent seaport. This codfish was almost human and quite superhuman. It could wink. It had learned to say cultyur and literature and leftenant, besides the other things that are said in Boston. There was a silver bathtub in which it used to tipple when the Boston nine got a game. It used to leap into the air whenever Governor Greenhalge appeared with blue knit thinking cap on. It was sprinkled with champagne whenever the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company had a feast. All the thinkers in the legislature revered it. It would wag its tail at a good thing and drop dead whenever a bore was up.

They have been "fixing up" the statehouse. Evidently some idiot is in charge. The sacred codfish is not to be included among the treasures of the restored statehouse. The Law and Order people say it drinks too much. The A. P. A. says it has a Hibernian countenance. All the same, it was the best in the state. It was the most venerable institution there, except Harvard college and George Marden of Lowell. It is gone. It has been torn down. It is nil. So falls the codfish aristocracy. So fades a glory unmistakable.

NO FEED, NO TOOT.

Why the Marine Band Did Not Play at a Certain Holiday Reception.

Mrs. Calvin Brice has, vulgarly speaking, "put her foot in it," and not the dazzling Trilby foot, which subjugated all who saw it, but the foot which rich people are popularly supposed to reserve for the necks of their inferiors. Mrs. Brice, like Mrs. Tymmyns, of humorous memory, sent out cards for a New Year's reception to be held at her Washington residence. Her "social secretary" was sent to secure the Marine band for the occasion. But the Marine band had played at Mrs. Brice's last year, and after its hard work and enchanting strains was not even asked if it would have a glass of punch or a cup of tea. The Marine band has a tenacious memory.

Professor Fanciulli bowed to the social envoy of Mrs. Brice and asked if 'after five hours of music will the musicians have some supper?"

The social envoy replied, "I would as soon ask the cook eat to supper as the band." So Professor Fanciulli said the members of the Marine band were not cooks, but musicians of the nation. The commandant waved his baton, and the social secretary retired in confusion!—Washington Gossip in New York Advertiser.

An Oral Will Probated.

A nuncupative will, the first filed in Pittsburg in 12 years, was accepted on Wednesday by the register. James Bresnan was injured on the railroad on Dec. 18 last and died a short time after on the operating table at the West Penn hospital. Before he died he stated to those around him that he wished his property to go to his younger children—John, James and Mary—excluding his oldest child because the latter was old enough to take care of himself. He also left $200 to the Rev. Thomas Bailey for masses.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A New Thing In Books.

It has been suggested that the contrast between the black and white of a printed page would be less trying to the eye if the latter could simultaneously rest on a bit of color. Accordingly a Boston publisher is getting out books that have margins of azure, yellow or green.—Boston Letter.

Borden Jurors' Reunion.

Ten of the 12 jurors who acquitted Lizzie Borden of the murder of her father and stepmother in June, 1893, held their second annual dinner and social reunion in Fall River on Wednesday.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.
