Railroad That Cannot Compete With Mexican Burros. The recent report of the Sonora branch of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe system, a line extending from Beuson, A. T., to Guaymas, Mexico, is not encouraging. The road runs along, at the foot of immense mountains, through a waste of sandy deserts and uncultivated prairies. There are few towns or villages of any importance situated near this road. It was constructed at an enormous cost, and it was the dream of the projectors to make Guaymas a dangerous rival of San Francisco. The ocean route to Australia and the Central and South American ports is hundreds of miles nearer Guaymas than San Francisco, and the former port was intended as a depot and entrepot for all imports and exports from those countries. But the scheme met with a monstrons failure. The traffic between this Mexican port and the United States scarcely brings in sufficient revenue to pay the actual expenses of its train serv-

Indeed there has been some talk of abandoning that part of the road running between Nogales and Guaymas, a distance of nearly 300 miles. A peculiarity of this road is the fact that no freight agent has ever yet been able to make a tariff that would compete with the burros that have a line of commercial travel running parallel with the Sonora railroad from Hermosillo to Nogales, Benson and Tucson. Two dozen burros are capable of carrying about as much freight as a box car. This mode is cheaper even if it is longer, but who in that country reckons time? Moreover, custom duties are regularly saved by the burro route in both directions. - Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE WEDDING FEE.

The Groom and the Justice Got Mixed Over It, but Both Are Now Wiser Men. A few days since a couple from Burlington, Vt., visited Plattaburg in search of a magistrate who would tie the nuptial knot. When the marriage ceremony was over, the groom wanted the justice to kiss the bride, saying, "Squire, you kiss her first." The squire did as he was requested. The groom asked him how much his bill was. The squire, highly elated, said, "Well, young man, seeing as it is you, I will call it $5." "All will make it square. The justice hesitated a moment and "Well," said the groom, "you have married us, haven't you, and you have "Very well," said the squire, was that the groom was arrested, and when arraigned pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs. The maids of honor are of the number of the graces and were also elected."

A Dream Pointed the Way.

The Psychical society will investigate a remarkable incident that occurred in the Scottish mining district of Ben Har on New Year's day. A miner, Donald McFarlane, disappeared on Sunday. There was no trace of him after a two days' search. On Tuesday Robert Halbert, an old man who has the reputation of possessing second sight, and who is a brother-in-law of McFarlane, fell asleep and dreamed that he saw the missing man in a particular part of Almond water, which is some miles distant. Mentioning this to the neighbors, they went to the place, saw the footprints of the missing man in the snow, and eventually found the man himself standing in the water, which is three feet deep, with ice frozen around him. He was dead. - London Standard.

More Curious Than Dangerous, A few days ago Mrs. John Harriott went out on the prairie to look after some young stock, and on her return home was followed by seven wolves-When she saw them coming, she ran with all her might. Suddenly she stopped to see what they would do. She started on again, and they again followed. The wolves followed at just a certain distance behind until she reached home. -- Inkster (N. D.)
